

WHO'S WHO?

By C. L. B. JAMES J. McQUILLAN.

He is our postmaster. Any time you have a grouch on, just go to the postoffice and tell Mr. McQuillan that you should have a letter in the office that was sent from some distant point. He is always accommodating and will take it upon himself to look for the letter in question, and after making the search will return to the window and with a sober face tell you that the letter is not there.

He has good taste of beauty, as he shows excellent judgment in selecting good-looking clerks of the same gender. They say Jim was a regular heart-breaker in his younger days.

He is characteristically inclined, but it is possible to secure credit at an establishment when you ask for a monthly account he politely informs you that for some time past he has been on a strictly cash basis and can make no exceptions in the rule.

McQuillan arrived in Tonopah during the period when stages were being used between Sodaville and the camp. He heard of the wonderful possibilities that were to be had and lost no time in getting in. He said that he figured on a stage route power being in effect during the year 1918 and knew that he would receive some sort of an appointment to a governmental position. His dream came true and he is whispered about that he has secured the ideal postmaster.

The reason he wears the heavy round eyeglasses is that during the year of 1905 diamonds were discovered just north of the Halifax mine and Jim was one of the first to locate. He staked a claim near the original diamond mine and spent wearing glasses at that time to protect his eyes. He still has the habit and refuses to part with the antique shells.

TWENTY BALL GAMES PLAYED ON COAST

Associated Press. OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 25—Twenty-two baseball exhibition contests, including Chicago Cubs and the San Francisco Oakland and Sacramento clubs of the Pacific Coast league, have been scheduled by the Phoenix baseball club of St. Mary's college here.

Water Malls, Cleveland's world-famous pitcher, is head baseball coach at St. Mary's. Louis Gustus, former league player, who is assistant coach, says this year's Phoenix team will be better than the one of 1911 which boasted of several players who later went to the major leagues.

MARY GARDEN TALKS OF OPERA ENTERPRISES

Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 25—The first woman to have complete business and artistic charge of one of the big American grand opera companies is about to be the director of the enterprise, Mary Garden has announced what she thought for 20 years would mean roughing and roughing stages. Miss Garden, known in Chicago and in numerous other American cities as "our Mary," was appointed to the joint role of a star, artistic director and business manager of the Chicago Opera association early this month.

Mary Garden's ambition is to make herself and herself as well loved by the people of the United States as she is to the people of Chicago.

Enthusiasm, fervor, hard work, constant supervision, strict economy and modern opera rather than the old are only a few things that Miss Garden promises to show the people of America that she has in her and is capable of producing.
