EXPORT POLICY OF U.S. EXPLAINED BY HARDING AT WHITE HOUSE DINNER

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.—The administration's policy of promoting exportation as a means toward restoration of normal business conditions was discussed at the White House dinner last night, attended by Secretaries Mellon, Hoover, J. P. Morgan, Paul Warburg and a number of other prominent financiers. President Harding is said to have talked over the whole subject with his guests.

It was understood that while no hard and fast program was decided upon, the discussion served to cement the belief of the administration officials that one of the best remedial measures available would be active co-operation between the government and business men for a revival of foreign trade.

It was also indicated that the administration policy would turn toward some sort of aid to the financial situation in Europe as part of the effort for general world stability.

It is understood that one of the president's chief purposes in calling the financiers into conference was to discuss the contemplated loan by American private capital to foreign governments and the effect that such a loan would have on the resumption of normal industrial conditions at home and on export trade.

BISHOP STAGE LINE TO BRING IN VEGETABLES

L. L. Mushett, representing the Nevada-California Auto Stage company, spent the greater part of last week in the Owens Valley country investigating the produce situation, with the result that the stage company has made arrangements with a representative of some of the largest growers whereby a saving of at least 50 per cent can be made in the cost of green groceries in Tonopah. Inasmuch as the stage company has gone to considerable expense to bring about this condition, Mr. Mushett states that he believes that the company should receive the support of the public in the way of patronage. The stage company will rely strictly on the revenue derived from its transportation charges and will charge absolutely nothing in the way of commission for bringing the consumer in direct touch with the producer. With this information at hand it seems that at least one substantial step has been taken to bring the cost of living even lower than a year ago.

Mr. Mushett further states that no effort will be spared to make the Bishop stage what it was inaugurated to be a public convenience in every sense of the word. Next pamphlets showing the fares, time cards, express rates, train and stage connections and other information have just been received from the printer and will be distributed at once.

TWO PRINCES FIGHT TO GET A FAMOUS CASTLE

(By Associated Press) PARIS, May 26.—Efforts by two princes of the house of Bourbon-Parma to recover possession of the celebrated Chateau de Chambord, which was sequestered by the French government during the war, is one of the most interesting affairs of the great conflict. The building is about 200 feet square with famous circular towers at the corners and a double spiral staircase leading to the double lantern, which dominates the center tower. It was built about 1528 and for two centuries was a royal residence. Louis XV gave it to Marshal Saxe and Napoleon presented it to Marshal Berthier. Eventually it fell into the possession of the duke of Parma. 12 PERSONS ARE KILLED DURING THE BURNING OF DUBLIN CUSTOM HOUSE

(By Associated Press) DUBLIN, Ireland, May 26.—At noon today the Dublin custom house, which was set afire Wednesday afternoon by a rabid party of civilians who are officially declared to have been Sinn Feiners, was still burning. All the interior had been destroyed at that hour but the main walls still are standing, as is the dome, its chief architectural feature of the building. The clock was keeping time.

A high official stated that the most important documents of the local government had been saved. Fifty men were taken by the crown forces to and about the old building, which was completed in 1791, and spent the night in various prisons. The bodies of upwards of a dozen persons who were killed during the struggle are reported missing in inquiries.

Three bodies of civilians were found in the ruined structure. Each had a bullet wound in the forehead. They apparently had been reached and cornered in the manner the police authorities who were then declared, and the men evidently killed themselves.

OIL PERMITS TO BE GRANTED BY NEW RULING

The new ruling by Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, made public by Harold H. Blakely of the oil lease and office, applications for permits to prospect for oil and gas under the old and new leasing acts of February 25, 1920, which were filed prior to the discovery of oil and gas structures, will be held valid applications filed after the discovery of oil or gas structures, however, will be invalid, according to the ruling.

The ruling of Secretary Fall means, briefly, that the striking of oil in a field or structure which has not yet been defined by the federal government as being within a geological structure containing oil or gas, will not invalidate applications filed for oil prospecting permits prior to the striking of oil or the designation by the government as oil bearing, in that the ruling will affect approximately 3500 applications it is said, covering more than 2,000,000 acres of land. The ruling is a reversal of a decision made by John Barton Payne, former secretary of the interior, which provides that applications for permits for oil or gas prospecting would be denied in cases where oil or gas was discovered before the permit was actually granted.

Secretary Fall declares that the ruling of Mr. Payne was not issued under a mandatory provision of the act of February 25, 1920, and that the fact that rulings of the interior department involving a like situation are to the contrary.

"Applying the principle so announced," says the secretary's ruling, "it is clear that not only equitably but legally, qualified persons who filed prospecting applications for oil and gas prospecting permits under the act of February 25, 1920, and standing not be deprived of their rights, inasmuch as delay in action upon the applications so filed thereupon, a designation by this department of the lands being within the geological structure of a producing oil or gas field, subsequent to the filing of the application in the local land office. Accordingly said regulation is hereby revoked and in future applications will be adjudged in accordance with the views herein expressed."

The foregoing is good news to a number of persons who have made applications for drilling permits in different sections and were afraid that wells now being sunk would get into the oil and shut out their applications before the department reached them and issued their permits.
