MUCH ACTIVITY IN EVIDENCE IN ALL LOCALITIES

Conditions in the Tonopah and surrounding districts continue to improve and the revival that is taking place in mining is gaining momentum daily. More people are seen on the streets of Tonopah at present than at any time since the Divide excitement, and new arrivals are noticed daily. This is largely due to the numerous finds that have been made lately in the new camp known as Roysion, but other sections are not idle by any means. On the other hand, they are showing considerable activity and a feeling of optimism is prevailing in all quarters.

In Tonopah proper all the big mines are working at top speed, and the production is being gradually augmented. The mills are operating to capacity as will be seen from noting the production that is being made from month to month.

Roysion is at present the main center of attraction, and it begins to look as though a mining camp of permanency was in the building. There are over 50 tents dotting the hills, while buildings are in course of construction. At present over 100 people are quartered in the district, with about 40 leasers at work, some of which are employing three and four men. Ore is reported as being found in all sections of the camp, and an optimistic feeling is prevailing. Mining men from almost every section of the state have been looking over the district during the past couple of weeks, and several deals in the sale of leases have been made. The entrance of the Den Har Divide Mining company into the district gave additional encouragement, and already a well-defined campaign of development has been started.

Hornsilver in Esmeralda county seems destined for a real old-fashioned mining boom, and the camp has a population of nearly 200 people. The discovery of ore on the 700 level of the Orlean mine, bigger and richer than that found on the 600 level, has stimulated matters in general, and Goldfield people are flocking into the district in numbers. Several Divide companies have secured property and are making ready to inaugurate active campaigns of development. The Rosetta, Goldsmith and Lucky Boy companies have secured holdings and will at once start operations.

Argentina is forging steadily to the front and the Sanger and Ecklund properties are giving good accounts of themselves. On the latter property a hoist was installed during the present week and announcement has been made that the shaft will be sunk to 200 feet.

Work is in progress on the property recently taken over by Mark Bradshaw near the north end of Kawich mountain on Eden creek, and as a result there promises to be much activity following in that locality in the near future. This will prove of material benefit to Silver How, Belleholen and Clifford, all of which are recognized as districts of great merit.

COATS LOOK THE PART OF COMFORT AND STYLE

FASHION made up her mind at the beginning of the season to be tolerant in the matter of coat styles and to include in them several types. Starting out by approving the same fabrics that have been used for several seasons, designers also approved ample lines, large sleeves and collars and much fur. Retaining embroidery, they added fringes to available trimmings. They have made coats for utility and for dressier wear that look the part of comfort and are unusually stylish. One may pick out a model that hangs in straight lines, or flares or ripples. It may have huge bell sleeves or sleeves that stimulate a cape, or occasionally those that recall the doorman variety. Coats that reach to the shoe tops, those that end at the knees and shorter box coats are all equally good style and coats may be belted or not, as you choose. Under such easy-going dictatorship every one ought to be suited.

The two coats shown in the picture are made for general wear and achieve a degree of elegance which ought to make them a continual joy to their owners. The model at the right is made of suede cloth in a light tan color and handsomely embellished with panel embroidery in brown silk. Natural opusium tones in with these colors perfectly and bands of it finish the full flaring sleeves. The same fur provides a collar, with which one may defy the coldest day when it is rolled up about the face.

Woolen cloth is the foundation of the distinctive coat at the left. It is in dark blue and has a wide, rippling skirt portion, with an indicated waistline, where embroidery, in self color, becomes important. It is one of the models with sleeves ending in deep cuffs and its special pride and glory is its large collar of beaver fur.

TONOPAH DIVIDE MAKING RECORD IN SHAFT WORK

Development at the Tonopah Divide is going forward most energetically and excellent progress is being made in every working, and especially in sinking the main shaft. During the week ending Wednesday night, November 9, the shaft was lowered for 215 feet, which means that the 1200 level will shortly be reached.

The usual daily production of about 50 tons of ore is still being maintained with values of from $25 to $30 a ton, which means that a substantial earning is being made for the treasury of the company. Sinking of the main shaft will be continued without interruption until the water level is reached, as it is the desire of the company to plan for the erection of a large and modern milling plant to treat the ore, not only of the Tonopah Divide mine, but of other properties in the district.

The official report of development for the week ending November 9 follows:
 "Drift 201 advanced 194 feet; 207 1/2 drift advanced 113 feet; 1001 drift advanced 14 feet; 111 raise carried 19.5 feet; 113 raise carried 23 feet; 207 raise carried 9.5 feet; 315 raise carried 17 feet; 825 north crosscut driven 8.8 feet; shaft sunk 215 feet. This makes a total footage of 144 feet."

WORK ON BUCKEYE WILL START SOON

Letaon Ballet, who has been in Tonopah for the last three weeks putting things in shape for renewing operations at the Buckeye mine, has gone down to San Francisco to purchase a new belt for the compressor, three new transformers, a number of rock drills, hose and other supplies for the mine.
 The first work to be done on the Buckeye will be to sink the shaft to a depth of 1500 feet from its present depth of 1234 feet. Crosscutting on the upper levels will be prosecuted at the same time. He expects to return in about a week or 10 days.
 Mr. Ballet had a slight accident to his right foot, which appears to have become infected, and he will have medical attention given to that while away.

Darkness is their stock in trade. They work by stealth—unheard and unseen—their movements cloaked in secrecy. It's honest folks that see the light. They are the only ones who can risk it.

It's the same way in business. The merchant who is not sure of his goods does not dare to advertise. Advertising would hasten the end of his business career—put him to a test he could not meet.

The merchant who advertises, deliberately invites your inspection. He tells you about his product and then lets it stand on its own merits. You can depend on him. He knows his product is good.

That's one reason why it pays you to read the advertisements in THE BONANZA. It is through advertising that you are able to keep in touch with the good things that progressive business houses are spending their money to introduce and keep before you.
