CUBA IN BAD WAY, STATES MR. HACKLEY

Frank C. Hackley, who left here with M. H. "Mickey" Clifford about three months ago for Havana, Cuba, has returned home, satisfied that Tonopah is about the most inviting place after all. He says that Cuba is in a bad way financially and that all the big banking institutions of that country have closed their doors. The only banks remaining in Havana are conducted by Americans outside of the bank of Montreal. "The country is broke and that is all there is to it," remarked Mr. Hackley, "and if it were not for the Americans who took there to grow apples, conditions would be far worse than they now are. The prospects with Cuba is the people were given their independence when they were not ready to take it. They are not yet ready to take it. They are not yet ready to take it. They are not yet ready to take it."

DAMAGE ACTION IS TAKEN TO U. S. COURT

The damage suit instituted in the district court of Esmeralda county by John Shirley against W. A. Sanger and Frank Taylor to recover $23,800 for injuries received as a result of being struck on the head by a bucket at the Sanger mine at Argonite, has been transferred to the United States district court at Carson City. The removal of the case to the federal court was based on the ground that W. A. Sanger is a resident of California and that Taylor is a British subject.

AMUSEMENTS

KATHERINE McDONALD AT BUTLER THEATRE TODAY
Katherine McDonald, who portrays the part of Margot Hastings in the photoplay, "Trust Your Wife," adapted from Harry S. Sheldon's stage success, "Conscience," hands out a real jolt to unduly jealous husbands. As Margot Hastings, she leaves the middle west with a brand new husband to conquer New York. Dick is an architect, and has a scheme which he believes will make him rich, but he needs financial backing. After putting on a bold front and taking an expensive apartment, Dick seeks to interest Slater T. Holcomb, financier, who promises to advance Dick some money. Learning of their true financial condition, he insists that Dick put a large sum as good faith. It being impossible for Dick to do this, Margot arranges a secret meeting with Holcomb and goes to his private yacht. Here she finds the millionaire has laid a trap for her. How Margot awakens Holcomb's conscience constitutes one of the most fascinating situations in the play. Dick reaches the pier just in time to see the yacht pull out. He is mad with jealousy. The developments which follow Margot's return home forms a most dramatic and happy climax. Also on today's program, "Pathe Review" will be shown.

(Authority: Slattery & Co., New York)

Practically all standard successful automobiles of today had their inception on the race track.

Take advantage NOW of the opportunity to become a stockholder in the Duesenberg Automobile & Motors Co., Inc., which has a world-wide reputation behind it.

The demand for Duesenberg cars is such that the production of the present plant is sold for years ahead and the company is selling more capital stock to build additional factories. We are offering our preferred stock at $100 a share, which is par value. This stock pays 8 per cent dividends, is cumulative, and there are no bonds or liabilities which might take preference over the preferred stock either in assets or dividends. All the profits go to our preferred and common stockholders.

With each share of Preferred Stock we give a BONUS OF COMMON STOCK on the basis of one-half share of common with each share of preferred. Payments may, if desired, be made one-fourth down and the balance in six equal monthly payments. (No interest charged.)
