BULGARIA NOT REACHING OUT AFTER THRACE

(By Associated Press.) SOFIA, Feb. 1.—Premier Stamبولisky denies the reports that Bulgaria awaits the favorable moment to snatch Thrace from Greece. "First of all," he continued, "let me say that we have nothing to do with Greece on the question of Thrace. Under the treaty we ceded Thrace to the great powers, and they promised to give us an economic outlet through Thrace on the Aegean sea. Secondly, we are utterly disarmed and helpless and are in no position to take warlike measures against any of our neighbors. Our 300,000 rifles and all our artillery and machine guns are at the bottom of the Black sea, and our men are tilling the soil."

MUCH ACTIVITY MANIFESTED IN MANY SECTIONS

The outstanding feature of the past week in a mining way, so far as matters apply to outside districts, was the settlement effected on a little over 50 tons of ore from the Botis lease on the Golden Eagle claim of the Hudson Mining company at Royston. This shipment of ore brought a check from the United States Smelting & Refining company at Salt Lake for $13,400 after deducting smelting and transportation charges. The settlement shows values of 297 ounces silver, $8.60 in gold and 29 per cent lead, or a total value of $114,200.

When the final settlement has been effected with the lessees, which means a deduction of 10 per cent royalty and hauling charges from the mine to the railroad siding at Midlers, the men holding the privilege will have in round numbers about $11,500 to divide among themselves, or approximately $250 each. This realization is the result of about six weeks' work, but it must be remembered that there is now about ready for shipment another carload of splendid grade ore, worth in the three drifts from the 33-foot level large veins of ore are showing which are reported as having widths of up to 5 feet.

The best that is to be installed at the incline shaft of the Hudson Mining company was delivered on the ground Tuesday, and it is hoped to start shaft sinking within the next 10 days. The outcome of this development will be watched with a great deal of interest by mining men in general as the proving of the consistency of the ore shows in the Royston district will be demonstrated very quickly.

In the meantime there is a great deal of activity throughout the district, and lessees continue to explore the network of veins that traverse that mineral region with quite pleasing results. While no great depth has been assured on any property other than through the Hudson shaft workings, there seems to be a difference of opinion among geologists and mining men as to whether the sheets will be found extending to any great depth. Suffice to say that any extent Royston should surrender quite liberally of potential grade ore from what may be termed surface workings.

Pending the proving up of the Royston district, much interest is now being centered around Harnall, where rich silver and gold finds have been made lately. The fact that the ore veins have been found to be intact at a depth of more than 700 feet in the Orlan workings has had a tendency for investors and operators to look with favor upon that section. Early spring promises to witness a real old-fashioned mining boom in the making, and as a matter of fact there is unusual activity in evidence at the present time.

GREAT LUMBER MILL DESIGNED FOR NORTHWEST

(By Associated Press.) KENNESAW, Wash., Feb. 1.—One of the world's largest lumber mills will be built on the Columbia river, near here, according to an announcement by H. A. Long, of Kinross City, chairman of the board of directors of the Long-Bell Lumber company. Mr. Long, with other company officials, has been recently to inspect the 20,000-acre holdings in southwest Washington.
The mill, however, will not be constructed until the cost of building is further reduced. Mr. Long stated meanwhile, engineers are preparing for logging operations on a 40,000-acre tract north of here, purchased by the Long-Bell interests last year.

ALICE CALHOUN AT THE BUTLER TODAY
"The Matrimonial Web" is a dramatic story of the adventures of a young girl who seeks to capture a band of smugglers and save her father his position as chief revenue officer. The girl runs into many strange adventures, and the role required of Miss Calhoun great ability and strength. As Helen Anderson she has the opportunity to interpret a greater dramatic role than heretofore. Revenue Officer Anderson fails in his task, but his daughter, in order to save the position for her man, attempts to round up the group of opium smugglers. She poses as a member of a band of tools and succeeds in hoodwinking the partners of an underworld dive and allows herself to become compromised to save the reputation of a prominent man. She finds herself involved in a matrimonial web. The drama is intensely dramatic and it builds the keenest suspense. The first success where her father fails and in addition captures a husband. "Say It With Flowers" a two-reel Sunday comedy, completes today's program.

1ST PRESIDENT OF POLAND TO BE SELECTED

(By Associated Press.) WARSAW, Feb. 1.—Poland, politically, is eagerly looking forward to the summer elections when the first president of the new republic will be chosen by a national assembly composed of representatives of both chambers of the diet.
Joseph Pilsudski, who was appointed chief of state just after Poland was declared a republic late in 1918 and has held office ever since under a provisional constitution, is understood among politicians to be one of the presidential candidates. Several other names have been mentioned, but the newspaper editorial writers appear reasonably confident that the chief contenders will be Pilsudski, Vincent Witos, former premier and present leader of the Peasant party in the diet, and Wojciech Trampczyński, speaker of the diet.
There has also been much speculation among politicians as to whether Ignace Jan Paderewski, pianist and former premier, would enter the presidential race, but no definite announcement has ever been made one way or the other. For nearly a year Paderewski has been in America, spending most of his time in Paso Robles, California.

Choice Cuts —and Others
A few weeks ago a newspaper man visited one of the wholesale markets of Swift & Company. He wanted to see a retailer buy a loin of beef and then watch the retailer sell the porterhouse and sirloin steaks from it over his counter. He thought this would make a good story.
The head of the market took the reporter into the "cooler" where he showed him a high class side of beef. With a wooden skewer he marked off the loin and said, "That would cost a retailer just 40 cents a pound, but it's only 8 per cent of the weight of the whole side."
"This piece, (and he marked off about one-fourth of the carcass) is the chuck and I'll sell it at wholesale for 7 cents a pound. Please remember, this is one of our best sides of beef. We also have beef which sells for half as much."

This wide variation in the price of various cuts from the same side of beef is caused largely by demand for the tender cuts. The others are, of course, just as wholesome.
It seems as though more people than ever are demanding choicer cuts, and their demand sets the price. If few people ask for the forequarter cuts, the price of forequarters will automatically drop to a figure low enough to induce people to buy because of cheapness.
Even though certain cuts sell for relatively high prices, other cuts, due to lack of demand, sell so low that our profit from all sources over a period of five years averaged only a fraction of a cent a pound.
It is competition between consumers for the choice cuts that keeps prices for those cuts relatively high; an equalizing demand for all parts of the carcass would benefit producer, packer, retailer and consumer.
Our average wholesale selling price of all products has fallen about 40 per cent since September 1920.
Swift & Company, U. S. A.
