Billy Sunday still a la Fairbanks

CO-OPERATIVE GLOVE FACTORY MAKING RECORD

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Mar. 21.—The Co-operative Glove Workers' Association here has built up a patronage extending from coast to coast without employing a professional salesman and without making a sale through a jobber. It has been in operation, according to Manager William Nelson, every day with its full force since it was opened in November, 1920, though a number of privately operated glove factories here have been closed for months. A monthly output of 3,000 gloves is reported. The association has more than doubled its original capital of $2,500. The gloves were introduced largely by railroad employees, who sold them on a commission basis while on their regular runs, to co-operative stores, and to individual consumers. The association was organized by striking members of Locals 18 and 1, International Glove Workers' Organizations, and incorporated under the Rochdale plan. The stockholders at their last meeting decided to pay 6 per cent interest on shares; the maximum rate provided under the by-laws, but to devote 5 per cent of the remainder of the profits to education of workers, holding the rest as a reserve fund. It is proposed to conduct a course of lectures for all workers. There are 11 employees. Everybody in the shop does something with his hands, including the foreman. Union wages are paid to all, the manager drawing $25 a week. Everybody except the manager, who admits that he works day and night sometimes, keeps union hours. Real job printing at the Bonanza. YELLOW FEVER IS CONQUERED SOUTH AMERICA

(By Associated Press)
LIMA, Peru, Mar. 21.—The Pacific coast of South America is free from yellow fever for the first time in history and a little fish locally known as "life" has been the most efficient agent in the battle to rid Peru of the dreaded disease. The fish, which will have to be scientifically identified in Washington, was found to be the most active destroyer of mosquito larvae. More than 700,000 of them have been distributed by ones, twos and threes in all the water containers in the houses in the departments of Lambayeque and Libertad. For an ordinary water container of 10 or 15 gallons, two or three fish were sufficient. No food was provided so that the hungry fish would live on the organic matter in the water. Every eight or ten days inspectors visited the houses to make sure the fish were still living and doing their work. The final chapter of yellow fever campaign is being written by Dr. Henry Hanson of the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, which is spending large sums to help the government of Peru rid her territory of the dreaded pest. There have been no cases since July, 1921, but the work is still going on as a matter of insurance. Dr. Hanson has about 125 men working in the coastal region in the south and will continue until about May. They do not intend to leave the faintest doubt when they have finished that there is any danger of yellow fever lurking in Peru. This is expected to be the last yellow fever campaign on the Pacific Coast of South America.

ANIMAL LIFE SUFFERS FROM HEAVY STORMS

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Mich., Mar. 21.—The humanitarian impulses of the peoples of Michigan have never been better exemplified than during the recent storm, when the wild animal life of the entire state was threatened with extinction by the sleet and ice that covered the ground for days. Despite the heroic measures taken by the people of the northern part of the state, the storm was so severe that it is feared that on the western side years will be required to replace the birds and beasts lost and starved. Talk is already being heard of asking the next legislature to tighten the game laws for a long number of years to avert the passing of the birds altogether.

LONE MATCH SAVED LIVES OF SAILORS

(By Associated Press)
HONOLULU, T. H., Feb. 23.—(By Mail.)—A lone match, saved carefully in a tin can to prevent it from becoming wet, was the instrument that resulted in the rescue of four of the five members of the Japanese fishing vessel Ebisu Maru No. 1, after they had been marooned fifteen days on a wind and storm-swept coral reef in the South Seas, with no shelter, few clothes and little food or water, according to the story they told when they were brought back to Honolulu aboard the Ebisu Maru No. 2, which had been sent to rescue them. The fifth member of the crew, H. Miyasaki, the engineer, was washed away and drowned. His body was not recovered. The fishing craft left here last year for Necker island, considerably south of Honolulu, and after unsuccessful casts sailed farther south on January 18. Ten days later in a heavy storm, she struck a coral reef off Sand Island, near French Frigate shoals. Under the battering of the heavy seas, the sampan broke up almost immediately.

HUDSON SHAFT SCENE GREAT MINERAL FIND

Rich Body of Ore Encountered in Stope Being Carried On 300-Foot Level.

News of a most important mineral find on the Hudson property at Royston reached Tonopah yesterday. The discovery was made by Tolo & Tabarico, who are operating under lease on the 300 level of the incline shaft workings, and the ore vein is reported as having a width of 18 inches. A small streak that is showing on the foot-wall carries high silver values, and it is estimated that the value of 18 sacks that have been placed in the ore house is in the neighborhood of $2,000. In fact, Joe Tolo, one of the lucky leasers, remarked yesterday that this amount of money would not buy the ore.

The ore is showing in a stope that is being carried from the 300 level, at a distance of 150 feet south of the shaft. It has been exposed for a length of about 20 feet, and the entire ore vein is expected to mill better than $100 a ton, after sorting out the high grade product.

Shaft sinking by Barber & Uhlman, the contractors, is progressing satisfactory, and since work was started from the 320-foot point of the incline shaft a total of 80 feet of ground has been broken. A. H. Jones, of Salt Lake City, former milling superintendent for the Tonopah Belmont Development company, was a visitor to Royston on Saturday and expressed himself as being well pleased with developments that have taken place of late. Mr. Jones intimated that the shaft on the Hudson would be lowered to the water level, and that means a depth of at least 700 feet, and possibly more.
