Man-O'-War a Proud Daddy

Here is shown a bit of horseflesh which will be watched with a great deal of interest for the next two or three years. It is the first colt from the fastest horse ever bred, Man-o'-War, now retired. The newcomer was born last week in Lexington, Ky. The colt should show just what may be expected of it at two or three years of age. Man-o'-War first showed his wonderful speed as a two-year-old. The colt's mother is Masquerade, herself of very fast blood.

LUCKY BOY IS SHOWING FREE GOLD VALUES

Hornsilver continues to gain in prominence as a coming big mining center. Numerous properties are showing considerable class, and the latest find of merit is reported from the Lucky Boy Divide property where ore is showing that carries free gold values. Samples of the ore were brought to Tonopah yesterday by Harry MacNamara, and have created no little interest among mining men in general.

It is stated that the Red Top property, owned by L. L. Patrick and associates, will be entered among the list of shippers at an early date. Ore is being saved and a carload shipment will be made shortly.

MULI IS RULED BY POWERFULLY BUILT WARRIOR

(By Associated Press)
RANGOON, Feb. 12.—(By Mail).—P. Kingdom Ward, explorer and author, has arrived in Rangoon from a 3-months' trip into China, five months of which were spent in the independent kingdom of Muli, in Chinese Tibet.

Mr. Ward spent most of his time on this trip in collecting plants for Edinburgh University, bringing back with him about 1000 varieties of rare plants, some of which are new and unclassified. He also found four new species of the blue poppy.

After traveling through northern Burma and a part of China, he entered Chinese Tibet and headed for Muli, a small kingdom, covering about 15,000 square miles, with many high mountain peaks, some of which are over 20,000 feet above the sea. Mr. Ward said that was ruled by a powerfully built man, a lama, who lived in a enormous monastery surrounded by a guard of 6,000 warriors.

Mr. Ward found on arriving there that the lama was suffering from disease, but he soon recovered under the explorer's treatment and thereafter Mr. Ward was given quarters in the monastery for himself and a companion and his servants were well looked after.

In Muli and the adjoining kingdoms the party found that the villages, though few and sparsely set-

HOLY LAND IS BIG SURPRISE TO JOURNALIST

(By Associated Press)
JERUSALEM, Mar. 1.—(By Mail).—Lord Northcliffe, British newspaper publisher, expressed surprise on his visit here, that it was deemed necessary to meet him and escort him through the streets with armored cars. He said it was a source of wonder to him how little the people in England and America knew about the conditions existing in the Holy Land.

Voicing regret that he found Palestine so unhappy, he asserted that the British public "was imperfectly informed regarding the feeling in Palestine," and he added that he hoped Palestine would not move too quickly and make Palestine "another Ireland."

Lord Northcliffe was given an opportunity to hear two sides of the Zionist question. A delegation of Orthodox Jews which waited on him, protested against Zionism. Later a deputation of Zionists called and requested an expression from him on the Balfour declaration of Great Britain's intention to make this a Jewish homeland. To this latter delegation the British publisher said:

"No one wishes the Jews to return to the Holy Land more than I do, but I have the greatest regret of the need of armored cars. You exaggerate the idea that the only topic we have in England is Zion. Every one does not agree as yet on the interpretation of the Balfour declaration."

He reminded the Zionists that Orthodox Jewry did not concur in the political aims of Zionism as indicated by the delegation from that faction which had previously called upon him.

Concluding, Lord Northcliffe expressed the hope that Arabs and Jews would be more reasonable in their demands upon England and work together for the good of Palestine.

EGYPT DEMANDS RECOGNITION INDEPENDENCE

(By Associated Press)
ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Feb. 10.—(By Mail).—The demands of Egyptian leaders for a new government in Egypt based on abolition of the protectorate martial law and recognition by Egypt's independence, have been made public here. They were drafted by Sarvat Pasha (since appointed premier) and submitted by him to Lord Athlery, the British high commissioner, who carried them to London to lay them before the British cabinet. (These three main points of the Egyptian demands have since been granted.)

In addition Sarvat Pasha demanded the following: Acknowledgment of the right of Egypt to appoint ambassadors and consuls abroad.

A parliament composed of a senate and a chamber of representatives to have full authority over the government, the cabinet to be responsible to it.

The cabinet ministers to have a free hand in all the affairs of the government, but to be responsible to parliament. Advisors in the ministries to have advisory voices only.

The right of the financial advisor to attend the sittings of the council of ministries to be abolished.

That the posts of advisors be abolished in the near future except those of the ministries of finance and justice who were to remain at their posts until the result of new negotiations between Egypt and Great Britain were known.

Foreign officials to be replaced by Egyptians at once.

Great Britain to withdraw all the measures taken under martial law and the release of all political prisoners.

It was stipulated that these negotiations should not be restricted by any of the conditions or limitations contained in the proposals of Lord Curzon (which insisted that Britain's rights in Egypt must be preserved.)

The new Egyptian parliament to have the last word in approval of these negotiations.
