ENTERTAINMENT BY RADIO HERE IS NOT A MYTH

One of the Most Elaborate Equipments in West at Home of A. G. Raycraft.

It will no longer be necessary to live in a big city to enjoy the blessings that follow in the line of entertainment. That is, it will not be necessary to live in a big city, providing you become a radio bug—and that is not going to be a hard proposition.

There are two people prominent in Tonopah social life, as well as business life, that are enjoying city life in the real sense. There people are Arthur G. Raycraft, cashier of the Nevada First National Bank of Tonopah, and his estimable wife, and they are enjoying the choicest of concerts and public speaking that are delivered on the coast. They are also in direct communication with the outside world by reason of the fact that Mr. Raycraft, an expert telegrapher, picks up wireless messages from time to time that keeps he and his wife advised of outside world happenings.

Did you ever hear a radio concert? Did you ever hear a radio public speaking, bordering on oratory? This is a secret, but do not tell Arthur G. Raycraft. He does not like the "butinsky" orator at San Jose, who harps nightly on the great merits of radio, and as soon as he gets his paraphernalia connected up so that he can dispatch radios, instead of receiving, he is going to tell that fellow a few things that will be worth hearing.

But Arthur Raycraft has a method of "cheating" this "spouter" just a little bit. This is another secret, so never breathe a word about it. He has a powerful magnet that he manipulates in front of the variometer that fools the other fellow, and instead of listening to a lot of oratory, he enjoys the latest musical selections from the Herrold laboratory at San Joas, or from classical entertainment either at Berkeley or San Francisco.

The writer of this article had the pleasure last night of visiting the sanctum of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Raycraft, where they have installed one of the most complete and up-to-date radio and wireless equipments in the west. We had the pleasure of hearing "Home, Sweet Home" sung by the sweetest singer we ever heard; we had the privilege of listening to a saxophone solo that would do anyone's heart good; we heard some fellow talk to an evidently appreciative audience touching upon the merits of the radio, and we heard a lot of things through the air, as well as from Arthur Raycraft that proved highly entertaining.

Arthur Raycraft is the dean of wireless telegraphy in southern Nevada, but he has not got anything on his wife when it comes to manipulating the wireless and delicate instruments. Both can talk you to death about radio, and if we do say it, they are both radio bugs, and happy are they in that thought. "Why should we wander around the town in the evenings?" remarked Mr. Raycraft, "when we can mix with the outside world with such perfect ease. While the equipment may appear costly you must remember that I have been working at this game for the last ten years, and instead of spending my money playing whist, my wife and I enjoy all the pleasures of a big city."

Mr. Raycraft has been a busy man at odd times during the last two years. He has repaired a stone building back of his home near University street and Brougher avenue, and has the place chock full of wireless and radio equipment. He had erected two high masts for the receiving and sending of messages, as well as entertainments, and while he has not connected up for dispatching messages, he expects to be in a position to tell the outside world his feelings and sentiments, within the next few days.

And if you do not believe this story is true, just have an interview with either Arthur Raycraft or his wife and they will enlighten you further concerning this radio business. They expect to put on a real entertainment in a few weeks and those who have the pleasure of hearing the select entertainments that are to be recorded will be surprised and entertained. You will also be dumfounded when you look over the wireless and radio equipment that Mr. Raycraft has installed, much of which was made with his own hands.

Bishop Stage leaves Tonopah tomorrow morning on first trip of season. Hereafter leaves Tonopah Mondays and Thursdays. A12-4f.

AMUSEMENTS

EARLE WILLIAMS IN A "THRILLER" AT BUTLER.

"Lucky Carson" is the title of the Earle Williams picture which will be shown at the Butler today—taken from the widely read novel—"Salvage," by Aquila Kempster, and furnishes the star, Mr. Williams, with a role in which he rises to new heights of dramatic ability. It is a role of contrasts. He is first shown as a down and outer, ready to end his life in the cold and black waters of the river Thames. Then a happy accident for him changes his whole career and he sails for America, where he corners cotton and becomes a millionaire after making several hundred thousand dollars on the race track. A man whom he had wronged while down and out follows him to America to secure revenge after the hero to made attempts to recompense the man for the wrongs he had done him. There is some unusual night photography and London fog effects. Booby Ross (Clarke) plays opposite Mr. Williams. Adapt to the program, a two-act sunshine comedy, "The Singer Midge Side Show" the first appearance of these diminutive stars on the screen.

Tomorrow, Eugene O'Brien in his latest picture, "Profit's Paradise," in exciting Turkish adventure, in which the Swedish Mary Pickford plays the leading feminine role. Coming—"The Silent Call."

PRINCE OF WALES PAYING A VISIT TO JAPANESE CITIES

follow one another through the spring are excellent opportunities for the British prince to see the Japanese at play.

The imperial garden party or cherry party is one of the most interesting of these spring festivals and one of the two outstanding social functions of the year in Japan. Government officials, prominent businessmen, merchants, social workers and distinguished foreign visitors are guests of the emperor and empress on this occasion and it is expected that the Prince of Wales will attend the function this year.

The party is held when the cherry blossom is at its best in the imperial garden at Shinjuku, a suburb of Tokio where the spacious lawns decked out with buds of spring flowers and blossoming trees and shrubs provide ample accommodation for a big assemblage.

A welcome innovation of recent years has been the removal of all restrictions on women's dress. Herebefore a regulation that women could appear only in European costume or in ancient court dress prevented many from accepting the imperial invitation.

Old Nevada Prospector Answers Last Summons

With his dream for founding a home for the aged in Nevada never realized, Peter Lynch, prospector and miner, known in nearly every mining camp in the state and familiar with the hills and deserts in all parts of Nevada, died last night in a Reno hospital, aged 75 years.

Mr. Lynch came to Nevada in the early '70s and spent the greater part of his life tramping through the hills in search of the claim from which he expected to realize the millions which he always said would be used to found a home for the aged. It is understood that he did accumulate a small fortune which he left to the "Little Sisters of the Poor" in Oakland.

May be Necessary to Consult Specialists

James Byrne was removed today to his home from the Mine Operators hospital where he had been receiving treatment for an injured eye. The optic is still in a serious condition, and the surgeon fears it may be necessary to send the youth to San Francisco to receive treatment from specialists. This should be a warning for young boys to desist in throwing rocks at one another.

Doing your own work? Many women are finding this just the extra help they need

Many women who are now doing their own work, find an occasional lift from our laundry just the extra help they need.

When pillows, wash rugs, blankets, comforts, spreads, or curtains need washing, they simply bundle them up and phone for our representative.

They know that their work will be done promptly and well—much better than they could do it at home, because we are especially prepared for it.

They know, too, that our charges will be reasonable, and that they can rely upon us to do just as we say.

Are you taking advantage of this opportunity to lighten your household tasks? Call us up today, and let us tell you more about it.
