CHURCH NOTICES.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—Rev. Josiah McClain, Pastor.—The usual service in the morning at 11 o'clock. In the evening Rev. Mr. Shearer, of San Francisco, will preach in the interest of the American Tract Society. ST. PETER'S CHURCH (EPISCOPAL). Services in this church at 11 o'clock in the morning and 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Sunday school immediately after morning service. H. L. FOOT, Rector. M. E. CHURCH.—Rev. J. D. Hammond, Pastor. Services to-day at 11 A. M. and 7 P. M. Sabbath School at 2 P. M. Seats free and all are welcome. Subjects of discourse: morning, "Development;" evening, "Thaws."

THE WEATHER.—Probably in no other place in the United States, outside of the Pacific Coast, is such beautiful weather predominating at present as here in Carson. While February has not yet passed, while we should expect bustling winds and driving snow storms, yet the sun is shining brightly every day, and out door life is enjoyed by all. Over at the Capitol and upon the streets the boys have actively opened the Spring campaign, and on all sides jumping matches and games of marbles are seen. Then too croquet progresses upon certain grounds in the town, while signs of base ball are looming up in the distance. All in all it is one of the most pleasant times of the year, and now that Hayes is elected we may rest assured of the continuance of this weather for a long time in the future.

ANOTHER BLOW AT THE CHINESE.—Another very ridiculous bill was introduced in the Assembly yesterday relative to the practices of the Chinese. By the provisions of the bill it will be unlawful for the heathen to transport the bones of their friends to China, and when a Celestial dies here he must rest until the final judgment day of us all. It is but very natural that a Chinaman or any other foreigner should prefer to have his body rest in his own native land, and why any such thing should be prohibited by law is a matter for wise men alone to understand. This bill is now in the hands of the Committee on Military and Indian Affairs, and if it is reported back at all, it is to be hoped that the only action that will be taken will be to strike out the enacting clause.

The Compromise Bill in the Senate

It was made the special order for 12 o'clock, but by the agreement of the opposing parties the time was extended for one hour in order that the Senators might have an opportunity to get lunch before the debate would begin. Before the time had arrived both the gallery and lobby were crowded with spectators, while there was not a vacant chair even on the floor itself. No bill of the session had attracted such a crowd before; no measure had been introduced in which so much interest was taken by the people at large. According to the stipulations agreed upon in the morning, the friends of the measure were allowed the opening remarks, and when the time came General Edwards spoke at length in its favor. Then Cresswell and others replied in opposition, and afterwards Cassidy concluded the debate, and advocated the passage of the bill. While these speeches continued the very closest attention was paid to the speakers, and the different arguments both pro and con were received with favor which their merits demanded. At length the time came for the calling of the roll. While there had been several votes before, which might in a measure have been called test votes, yet now was the time for every Senator on the floor to put himself on record for the future. If the bill was a good one, then its friends were the benefactors of the State; if the contrary were true, then the opposition would be entitled to the respect and support of the people. There were conscientious men on both sides in the discussion, and while the debate had waxed warm, yet the greatest respect to the opinions of an opponent had everywhere prevailed. Judge McClinton at last began the roll, and as the name of Parker was called the word "no" was distinctly heard in every part of the hall. Blair answered "aye," Boardman "no" and Cassidy "aye." Thus far it was nip and tuck, but Chubbuck and Comins gave the lead to the affirmative, and then the start was regained by Cresswell and Dickinson in the opposition. Edwards and Farrell voted next for the bill, and Garrard and Grimes on the opposite side. It was now six to six, and the roll already half called. The greatest interest prevailed. Every member, lady and lobbyist on the floor had a separate roll and thus the tally was kept by fifty or more while the count proceeded. After Grimes had recorded his vote in the negative, King and Martin voted in support of the bill, and with the vote of the latter a start was gained which was continued to the end. McConnell followed with a "no" and Piper and Ricey increased the column on the other side. Then came Ross and Shepherd in opposition and Shultz and S. S. in favor. Neither party had yet a majority, and as Stewart answered "no," still some hope was left for the opposition. But Stone came next, and with his vote the battle was won. It was the thirteenth on the list, and when it was announced the most intense interest prevailed. It decided the question so far as the Senate was concerned, and the recording of Westcott in the negative and Westfield in the affirmative were only the after parts after the drama had been concluded. Thus the bill had three majorities, and as no notice of a reconsideration by any one of the majority was given the bill now passes by the House where its final fate will be a matter for future consideration.

STOREY COUNTY DEMOCRACY.—According to Senator Stewart's statement made yesterday in the Senate, the Storey County Democratic Central Committee have adopted resolutions in which they free their representatives in the Legislature from their pledges in relation to the bullion tax modification. The resolutions are as follows: Resolved, That we, the Democratic County Central Committee of Storey county, Nevada, understanding that our representatives in the Legislature are restrained in their action in the consideration of the justice or policy of the proposed amendments to the law taxing the proceeds of the mines, by the declaration of our platform in relation to that subject, and considering that circumstances have since arisen not known or contemplated at the time of the adoption of such platform; and reposing, as we do, entire confidence in our representatives, we do hereby release them from any pledge, condition or promise on this subject, and leave them to act as they may conceive to be for the best interest of the community that they represent.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolution be forwarded to each of our representatives in the Senate and Assembly.

THE MATINEE.—The Theater would have contained a great many more people than were present at the matinee yesterday afternoon, yet the singing and acting was good just the same. The opera performed was the Grand Duchess of Offenbach, and the different parts were, as usual, admirably sustained. In their departure from Carson, this English Opera Troupe carries the best wishes of those who heard them when here, and wherever they go it is to be hoped that they meet with the reception which their merits demand. Now that the initiatory steps have been taken in the production of really meritorious music in the State, it is to be hoped that similar entertainments will often be given in the future, and that a high musical taste will be everywhere engendered.

PRESBYTERIAN SOCIAL.—The Ladies of the Presbyterian Church will give a Fair and Festival on Monday and Tuesday evenings at the Arlington House. The proceeds will be devoted to the interests of the Church. The admittance fee will be fifty cents. The ladies have been actively at work, and extensive preparations have been made for the event. We hope the Festival will meet with all the success it merits.

As a sequel to the Chinese queue bill, Mr. Parker yesterday introduced a bill in the Assembly that every petty larceny convict should have his hair clipped within the sixteenth of an inch of the scalp. Mr. Bally moved, as an amendment, that every such convict should be scalped, but the House refused to concur.

An assessment of $1 per share is levied on Belcher, delinquent March 29.

There is no earthly cause for the ruling low prices of stocks. They are not warranted in view of any conditions of the mines. The opinion is general among those best posted in the present developments of the lower levels and the prospects which attend them, that dividend-paying ledges will be uncovered before long both north and south and independent of the big bonanza. The speculating portion of the community are, however, of an impatient and excitable order and ignorant, many of them, of the vast amount of work necessary to open up an ore-body after it has been discovered. The Comstock-to-day promises as well as it did before the big bonanza was opened up, and some fine morning the world will again be astonished at the developments made and the public will be assured anew that there are millions still in the mountains surrounding us. If those who have stocks will but hold them and wait a little, till the mines have a chance to show their worth, they will have no cause to regret their course.—Enterprise.

Yesterday a Jew and the son of a rabbi denounced from the platform a Jewish ceremonial which, during the entire history of this ancient race, has been considered one of its most sacred and necessary observances. Nor is his condemnation in any degree modified in its phraseology. He characterizes this well known practice as "barbarous in itself and barbarous in its origin," in being derived from the gloomy and bloody religious rites of races but just emerging from animism, and the sentiment which impelled it originating from the idea of physical dismemberment as a sacrifice to propitiate heathen deities jealous of human happiness. And a large audience, composed mainly of Jews, heartily applauded Dr. Adler's denunciation of the distinctive rite of that race.—N. Y. Graphic.

PERSONAL.—Among the visitors over at the Capitol yesterday we noticed Rev. Mr. Shearer of San Francisco. The gentleman is the Secretary of the American Tract Society for the Pacific Coast, and, as is elsewhere announced, will preach this evening in the Presbyterian Church. Rev. Mr. Shearer is a graduate of one of the first colleges in the East, and a man in every way capable for the work he is called upon to perform. We hope his sermon this evening will be delivered to a crowded house.

EXPUNGED.—Senator Garrard's protest to the bullion tax compromise, was yesterday expunged from the journal of the Senate. The vote on this action was a test one preparatory to the passage of the bill.

The bill authorizing a State loan has passed the Assembly. It authorizes a loan of $200,000 for two years at interest not to exceed ten per cent. per annum.
