EXTRA SESSION OF SENATE TO BE CALLED OCTOBER 18

CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD CHARGED RICKEY, HUMPHREY, MOFFAT

Mrs Olney, Sister Of Rickey In San Francisco Suit Claims She Is Being Deprived Of Income From $2,000,000 Corporation. She Claims Conspiracy

(Special to the Appeal)
Charles W. Rickey, H. G. Humphrey and W. H. Moffat, said to be the largest and wealthiest cattle men in the west are accused of conspiracy to defraud in a sensational suit filed in the superior court this afternoon by Mrs. Caroline R. Olney of Oakland, a widowed sister of the defendant, Rickey.
Mrs. Olney accuses her brother of resorting to fraud to deprive her of one-third the income of a $2,000,000 corporation and charges that Humphrey and Moffat conspired with Rickey to defraud her.
The Union Land and Cattle company, organized January 1, 1914, also is made a defendant in the suit, and Mrs. Olney asks that a full accounting of the transfer of stocks into this corporation be made.
Mrs. Olney and Rickey are children of T. B. Rickey, wealthy cattleman.
In her complaint Mrs. Olney declares that her father transferred to his son, Charles W. Rickey, all the stock in the Granite Mountain Investment company, a corporation embracing the elder Rickey's property holdings, estimated at $2,000,000.

The understanding according to Mrs. Olney, was that her brother was to clear a $50,000 indebtedness against the corporation, pay his father $200,000, and for life give Mrs. Olney one-third the income of the corporation, estimated at about $200,000 a year.
Rickey called in Humphrey and Moffat to help him, it is said. After paying off the indebtedness, the three formed the Antelope Valley Land and Cattle company. Mrs. Olney says, Rickey transferring all of his stock to that corporation. Later the Union corporation was formed and the stock of the latter organization was transferred to it, says Mrs. Olney.
Mrs. Olney claims she knew nothing of the formation of the last two companies, and declares a conspiracy existed to defraud her.

(By Wilbur S. Forrest, United Press Correspondent.)
LONDON, Sept. 10 (By mail)—The mother's record in this war is held by Mrs. Mary Fury, of Loughrea, county Galway, Ireland.

She has given ten sons to the British army. Five are dead in France. One lies in a hospital recovering from wounds. One is a prisoner in Germany. One remains fighting and another is nursing a right arm shattered by a bullet.
This is not all of Mrs. Fury's fighting family. She has a daughter, Mrs. Mary Cosy, Rumford, England. Mrs. Cosy's husband is one of Rumford's 2000 fighting men at the front. Several weeks ago, Mrs. Cosy supported her large family of small children with the aid of two brother-in-laws. Now they have gone to war and she is struggling on alone.
What Mrs. Mary Fussy and Mrs. Mary Cosy have suffered in England's greatest crisis is the story of hundreds of homes of the working classes in the British Isles. A similar story can be told in a smaller way from the mansions of British aristocracy and from the "castles" of the middle classes. It does not leave the string of poverty that confronts Mrs. Mary Fury of county Galway and her sisters of the lower classes. She will suffer until her body is planted in Irish soil and with her, thousands of other women whose husbands have left the spade and shovel.
If conscription comes in Great Britain it will not find the husbands brothers and sons of the Mary Furies and Mary Cosys among the "slackers."

The laboring element is becoming gradually the scarcest element in Britain. Cities, towns and villages alike have emptied their houses and streets. These men are today in the majority in Northern France, The Dardanelles and other theaters of war. The upper and middle classes are in the hopeless numerical minority.
There is one obscure little street in Walworth, a suburb of South London, that tells the tale. This street is in the heart of the "working" local-

Our Very Own Explanation

Did you notice the moon last night? It was an unusual and most beautiful sight. The beginning of the equinoxial stage, the moment when the sun crosses the plane of the earth's equator, making the day and night everywhere of equal length. There are two periods of the year when this occurs, one on the 21st of March, which is called the Vernal, the other on the 22d of September, which is called the Autumnal. We may now look for what we call our equinoctial storms.
