One Thousand.

This is the name of a new compound made for beautifying the skin, probably called so because one thousand women out of every one thousand and one use it.

Livery and Feed Stable.

D. Circe has now a fine stock of fast and safe horses and new carriages and is prepared to furnish teams or single rigs at cheaper prices than any stable in the city.

Benton's Stage Line.

For quick trips to the Lake our new canopied, open-sided stage, is unrivaled. It will carry twelve passengers, and is taken at lightning speed over the grade with six spirited horses.

E. B. Rail has just received a large lot of goods from the East, consisting of fence wire, rope, hardware, crockery and glassware, also a large stock of fancy fishing tackle, lines, hooks, poles, etc.

Oleovich Brothers have special facilities for buying in the best markets and from manufacturers direct, for cash, are enabled to sell goods at lower prices than any of their competitors.

Prime groceries, teas, sugars, coffees, wines, hardware, Swiss cheese, Connecticut cider, at Muller & Schmitt's.

Ice.

Ice delivered to any part of the city. Leave orders at Benton's Livery Stable.

For the best hand-sewed boots and shoes for men, women and children, in the greatest variety, go to Oleovich Bros.

Agricultural implements, garden hose, crockery, glassware, paints, oils and tinware at Rail's.

Bargains in seersuckers and chevot at M. Cohn's.

Bargains in grenadine at M. Cohn's.

Bargains in Summer wraps at M. Cohn's.

Bargains in children's white dresses at M. Cohn's.

Bargains in straw hats at M. Cohn's.

The Hot Springs Hotel.

All the leading resorts of the Lake are crammed to overflowing at present. The only place left where anything like good accommodations can be had is the Cornelian Hot Springs. This is an out of the way place, very little known, but for all that one of the cozier resorts on the Lake.

Whisky and Mattresses.

These are the melancholy mid-summer days, when the rattlesnake of the hills roves about seeking whom he may devour. At any moment the head of a happy house hold may be taken unawares and cut off in his prime and glorious manhood.

"The World."

The History of the World is none of your cheap, hastily gotten up dubs, but an elaborate work, which engaged the labors of the historian 10 years. He had access to all the records and old archives of all the Oriental countries.

A New Discovery.

A man named Humeston has made, or claims to have made, a wonderful discovery in the art of preserving men and game. It is called "Rex Magnus." Humeston claims it will enable packers, dealers and consumers of fresh meat, to entirely do away with ice and cumbersome coolers and refrigerators.

Boruck, Masonic Journalist.

Circulars have reached us to the effect that Mark Boruck has been selected as the Grand Past Middle Journalist of the Triennial Conclave of Knights Templars, and a good many San Francisco newspaper men wonder how he got in on such a distinguished lay-out.

St. Mary's Academy.

St. Mary's Academy, at Reno, conducted by the Sisters of St. Dominic, will reopen on September 1st. The Academy is one of the permanent institutions of the State, and several young ladies of this city who have received their education there bear ample testimony to the ability and care of those having it in charge.

IN BRIEF.

Stocks were strong yesterday.

Bargains in parasols at M. Cohn's.

Mrs. C. E. Hayward is still in San Francisco in poor health.

A fine top buggy for sale. Apply at M. Cohn's.

Major H. C. Dane lectures at the Opera House to-morrow night.

Reserve seats for "Vim," one of the best plays of the season.

Mint Director Euehard has returned to San Francisco.

H. H. Bancroft, the historian, is again at Hot Springs, Lake Tahoe.

Mrs. D. A. Bender and daughter have returned from the Lake.

Mrs. J. B. Haggin and a party of San Francisco friends are at Tallac.

One hundred and twenty guests were daily fed at Tallac last week.

Captain Matt Canavan is again on the Comstock.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Thomas are spending the Summer on Dal's ranch near Franktown.

The box-sheet for "Vim" will be open in the Opera House saloon this morning.

Gus Lewis is very poorly indeed. There appears to be nothing that can be done for him.

There will be more quail in this vicinity this season than have been seen here before.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Bryson will spend their honeymoon camping out at Hope Valley.

The youngest son of John Vierra is dangerously ill with inflammation of the bowels.

The case of E. D. Sweeney will come up before the Board of Pardons to-day.

Col. P. C. Hyman, formerly Warden of the State Prison, came up from San Francisco yesterday.

The managers of the North-end have now concluded to drift both ways, north and south.

Stewart, the plasterer, is back again, and all those wanting work done in his line will do well to secure his services.

During this hot weather a shady covering over the Warm Springs wagon would be appreciated by the patrons of that institution.

H. H. Pennoyer and J. B. Malin passed through here last evening on their annual visit to the Lake.

C. J. Lansing, the Eureka lawyer, well known here, was married last Sunday to a French lady named Miss V. Grosjean.

For the first time in ten years the dockets of the District Courts of Ormsby and Douglas counties have been cleaned up.

F. D. Stadtmuller, formerly a prosperous merchant of Ormsby county, passed through to Dayton yesterday.

A great many of the leading military men of California will visit Carson during the inter-State rifle match.

Impecunious Carsonites, when taking their girls walking in the Summer time, put binders on them so they can't see the ice cream saloons.

The New York Spirit of the Times says that the Carson Guard have the rifle team west of the Rocky Mountains. Very few east of the Rockies can beat them.

Minister Daggatt wears nothing but snowy white linen in Honolulu, and he changes his attire twice a day. Getting quite fastidious in his old age.

Many of the young lady pupils of our public schools who are now being examined for teachers' certificates reflect much credit upon their teachers here.

Dan and Donald Cameron and Hank Chase, all formerly of this city, are now in Oregon extensively engaged in cutting railroad ties and other lumber. They are said to be doing very well.

Chinese servants here are growing very insolent, and in many instances are demanding an increase of wages. It would not be at all surprising should they organize throughout the Pacific States and go on a strike. The fact that their number cannot be augmented in this country is lending them that air of independence.

A Ghastly Discovery.

Justice Phlegar has in his office the skull, a few other bones, a switch of blonde hair, and a portion of the dress of a female, which were found by a man named John Hand, who has been hauling wood from the neighborhood of Rough Creek. Hand found the skull on the banks of Rough Creek a few days ago and brought it in to Boone's corral. Subsequently he brought in the other bones and portion of the dress. Three of the teeth in the lower jaw are filled with gold, and another with silver or platinum. Rusty hair pins are still clinging to the hair. The remains are supposed to be those of a courtesan known as "French Joe," but whose real name no one seems to know, who wandered off in a fit of insanity in 1881. She was last seen on the Geiger grade by a Chinaman shortly after she left town. She was frequently drunk on the streets and very noisy. Two or three parties identified the dress as that of the unfortunate woman. It is probable from the fact that the bones were found scattered about after death—possibly before—she was dragged about and torn to pieces by coyotes. The remains present a decidedly disagreeable appearance. Coroner Warren took a look at them but did not consider it necessary to hold an inquest. [Bodie Free Press.]

A San Jose woman, writes the Mercury, commenting on the fact that, while the cell of Jewell, the murderer, is carpeted with Brussels and furnished with pink-pillow-shams and Louis Quatorze table covers, Mrs. Jones, of San Francisco, who driven by sorrow to attempt suicide, was taken, half-clad, by rough men to the police station, thrust into a cell and there left to remain, unvisited by women, "though many were sent for." The lady then goes on to say that it is only the dudes of her sex who lavish attentions on criminals, and hits the horrid men a terrible blow by remarking that brainless and frivolous creatures abound in the female sex almost to as great extent as in the male.

Removal.

Mrs. Siddons, the dressmaker, announces in another column that she has removed to second door east of Sam Wright's undertaking establishment. Mrs. Siddons is now prepared to do all kinds of dressmaking in a style unsurpassed anywhere in the State, and at prices which will be perfectly satisfactory to customers. You are always sure of a perfect fit at her establishment.

George Bryson Married.

Last evening George Bryson was married to Miss Lucy McManus, at the residence of Mrs. Glick. Father Torney performed the ceremony. A large number of friends were present and spent an unusually jolly evening. The enraptured couple will spend their honeymoon in Hope Valley.

D. E. Callahan, formerly landlord of the Golden Eagle Hotel in Sacramento, and late County Treasurer of that county, a man well known here, blew his brains out on Monday last. Shortage in his official accounts.

Fine Photographs at Peterson's Art Gallery. Views of private residences and public buildings a specialty.
