BEECHER AND HIS CONTEMPORARIES.

The best memorial of Henry Ward Beecher is what he did and said in the interests of humanity. In the language of Mr. Pierpont, he was the purest type of the robust, free American. For full fifty years he talked to the public, and no man ever said so much and repeated himself so little, and it is not likely that the age which heard and appreciated Mr. Beecher will ever permit the future ages to forget him. The best memorial is what he himself hath said. After that the most appropriate memorial is what his contemporaries said of him, and Mr. Edward W. Bok has done the public great service in calling out and in publishing contemporary tributes to the memory of Mr. Beecher.

Mr. Doek's book, "The Beecher Memorial," consists of contributions from over a hundred prominent men and women who knew Mr. Beecher, and have written freely of their estimates and impressions. The plan was to call out expressions of opinion from all professions and from men and women of all denominations. For this reason the collection is peculiarly interesting as well as curious and valuable. Nearly every one who has heard Mr. Beecher or who read what he wrote formed an opinion and held to it tenaciously. All people who have formed opinions will read with curious feelings these expressions of opinion coming from a hundred famous men and women of the time. Speaking for himself Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes said of Mr. Beecher: "He did more than any other preacher has ever done to exorcise the demon of dullness who had brooded over the day ever since my childhood. * * *

Mr. Beecher was as genuine an American as ever walked through a field of Indian corn. He had the hearty manhood which we knew in Lincoln, the accumulated vitality which reveals itself from time to time in mighty natures never more fully perhaps than in that of Webster."

In line with this stands the opinion of Gen. W. T. Sherman: "Henry Ward Beecher was essentially a national man, grasping all the thoughts and feelings of a continent. His mind and imagination could not be tied down to the narrow dogmas which shackled smaller men, and I am not surprised but rejoiced to know that he occasionally kicked over the traces."

Not Allowed.

Tommy—Does your mother allow you to kiss the nurse girl? Johnny—O, I guess she don't care. Does yours? Tommy—I don't think she does. I never asked her, but you'd a-died to hear her lay it down to pa when she saw him do it one day, and she lets him do lots o' things she wouldn't let me.—Ex.

—Several members of an American opera company have returned from Mexico with a complaint that they were thrown into jail and kept there without trial for many days. Before any excitement is created over the affair it should be known whether the plaintiffs' appeal as opera singers or as American citizens.

—Cyrus W. Field's attempt to corner elevated railroad stock was as dismal a failure as was that of the Cincinnati crowd in the Chicago wheat market. At one time he held on margins $10,000,000 worth of Manhattan stock. Now he holds none. Br'er Gould took the stuff off his hands at considerably less than was paid for it.

—On what meat does Jay Gould feed his brats? Here is his youngest, Eddie by name, an unlicked cub just loose from school, raiding Wall street, lately depleted by his pa, and raking a cool $100,000 from the ruins. The family secret for money making should be made public.

AN OPEN LETTER.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., June 3, 1887.
Dr. Prentice, 626 Sutter street, San Francisco—My Dear Doctor: Please allow me to congratulate you (as well as myself) on the success of your treatment in my case. As I told you when we first met, two months ago, I had suffered untold agony for 21 years with the piles, often being unable to perform any manual labor for weeks at a time, being compelled to resort to morphine to deaden the pain. Life seemed a burden and hardly worth living, the constant pain and irritation driving me nearly crazy, after trying many remedies without any permanent relief. I happened to see one of your advertisements and concluded to try once more, and thank the good Lord and Dr. Prentice, I am now a well man and again life seems worth living. I should be glad if some of my suffering friends of Norwalk, Florida, and Seowhegan Maine, could be treated by you. Yours with gratitude, ROBERT WILLIAMS.
P. S.—At present I can be found at Spaulding's Saw Works, 17 and 19 Fremont street, San Francisco.

DEAFNESS.

To those suffering with Deafness; 165 liberated souls have been able to hear the voices of their fellow men.
