Old Santa Claus.

In the Senatorial campaign the Mugwumps unable to bring anything against Stewart that would stick had to fall back on a nick-name, and because of his long white beard and venerable appearance they called him "Old Santa Claus."

The name stuck and as he has given the City of Carson a big public building for a Christmas present the name will stick to him now harder than ever. It was singularly appropriate from the start.

A large force of men will be working on the building next Summer and most of them will be the same parties who a little over a year ago were denouncing Stewart as the "enemy of white labor."

Christmas at St. Peter's.

The Episcopal Church is being beautifully decorated for Christmas. On Sunday the full morning service will be read at 11 o'clock, and after the service the Holy Communion will be administered. The choir, under the direction of Mr. Dorsey, will discourse Christmas music. In the evening the children will celebrate the Day by singing Christmas carols. Public invited.

Geo. R. Davis, Rector.

Maud Granger.

Seats for the opening night of Maud Granger are going rapidly. This is an actress who ought to pack the Theater, as she is the most famous artist that has visited Carson this year.

Full morning service at the Episcopal Church at 11 A. M. Sunday School at 12:30 P. M., and Prison service at 2 P. M. Rev. G. R. Davis, Rector.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

—Physicians prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla in cases of scrofula, and in every form of chronic disease, because this medicine is safer to take, and is more highly concentrated, than any other preparation. It can always be depended upon as an effective blood purifier.

—An American named Erasmus Mason, from Hartford, is pressing upon the attention of the Metropolitan Board of Works a proposition which began autes will preserve the stone of the Parliament buildings from decay. They have been yielding to the atmosphere of London for many years, and much of the delicate ornamentation is virtually destroyed. Mason's preparation has been put to several severe private tests, and has stood them well. The e is, however, a certain prejudice against the use of an American invention for the purpose above stated. If Mason knows the ropes, however, he can find means of overcoming the patriotic prejudices of the Board, as a certain Jacob Sharp overcame some prejudices a Board of Aldermen once had. Mason's material is likely to be applied to Cleopatra's Needle in New York.

JOY IN ENGLAND.

Opinions of the English Press on Cleveland's Proposal.

CLEVELAND'S UNDISGUISED FREE-TRADE POSITION.

President Cleveland declines cautiously to dub himself a Free Trader; but he takes up a free-trade position without disguise. He and the leaders of the Democratic party have taken up again the old Free-Trade policy of the South Carolina politicians.—London Saturday Review.

HUSH! BRITISH FREE TRADERS, HUSH!

English Free Traders would be well advised if they moderated the ecstasy of their jubilation over President Cleveland's Message. Every word which they say in its favor will be used as a powerful argument against the adoption of its recommendations. Mr. Blaine is already harping on that string, and so unscrupulous or so ignorant are American Protectionists that they are quite capable of manufacturing an awe-inspiring bogie out of the Cobden Club, which is, of all existing institutions—not even excepting the National Liberal Club—the most lethargic, paralytic, and impotent.—London Pall Mall Gazette.

WILL STRENGTHEN THE FREE TRADERS.

The Message will produce a profound sensation in Europe as well as America, and will strengthen the Free Traders' case throughout the world.—London Morning Post.

"FEARS" FOR "THE CLEVELAND PROGRAMME."

It has now become possible to gauge in some measure the effect of the President's Message on parties and politics. With a very few exceptions the Democratic papers are for Clevelandism, and enthusiastically applaud its founder as the long-looked-for Mohammed of their party. On the other hand, the Republican press affect intense gleefulness at the Quixotry of the President in assailing the Giants of Protection. Mr. Cleveland seems likely to find his gains and losses through adopting Free Trade about equally balanced. The counter programme put forward by Mr. Blaine appeals to the most selfish instincts of the working classes of the States. He proposes to be rid of the white elephant, the surplus, by abolishing the internal tobacco tax and by spending the rest in fortifying the defenceless cities of the coast. This latter enterprise, he says, would both provide work for many thousands and at the same time obliterate an embarrassing revenue to any extent desired. A more flagitious scheme was never put forward to serve party ends. On any other ground it is simply indefensible. But its having this character does not detract from its potency as an electoral weapon. The American are, for the most part, disbelievers in Free Trade, and when they are offered cheaper tobacco and more employment to maintain the present system the prompting of self-interest will, it is to be feared, dispose them to accept the immoral bribe. Mr. Cleveland will find it difficult to make the working classes understand that the millions spent on the fortifications come out of their own pockets or that the freeing of tobacco from an infinitesimal duty can have little or no effect on the retail price.—London Globe.

THE COBDEN CLUB WORSHIPS CLEVELAND.

To convert the United States is indeed a triumph. The Cobden Club will henceforth set up a special shrine for the worship of President Cleveland and send him all its publications gratis. Cobden founded Free-Trade; Cleveland saved it. Such is the burden of the song all through England today.—A Member of Parliament.

THE LONDON "TIMES" DENOUNCING MR. BLAINE.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The English papers continue to devote much space to what they call "Mr. Cleveland's declaration in favor of Free Trade." From the average English comment the public here has been led to believe that Free Trade is now as good as adopted in the United States. It is considered here [in England] that Free Trade with us [in America] is just what is needed to revive drooping English industries. The Times this morning devotes a column to the American situation, denouncing Blaine for holding on to what it calls "the absurd principle of Protection." It calls attention to our tremendous surplus, and satirically suggests lending it to China or England if Protection is to be kept up.—Special dispatch to New York World.

CLEVELAND'S SOUND VIEWS.

The Message to Congress is based on financial principles, the soundness of which it is impossible successfully to dispute. It marks a revolutionary starting point in the fiscal controversies of the United States.—London Standard.

CLEVELAND CONCEDES THE WHOLE CASE FOR FREE TRADE.

Mr. Cleveland particularly refers to the wool Tariff, which he thinks should be reduced, and observes with much point that even the farmers lose more by the dearth of clothes than they gain by dearth of wool. He must know perfectly well that in thus arguing he concedes the whole case for Free Trade.—London Daily News.

THE PUBLIC BUILDING.

Evidence that Stewart is Working in Washington.

The despatch of the Supervising Architect at Washington to Superintendent Ryland relative to the Public Building which was published in yesterday's APPEAL proved very interesting reading matter to the people of Carson.

Senator Stewart promised the people of this city that he would move at once in the matter of Carson's Public Building and he has kept his word.

While opening the fight for silver he has also found time to attend to the little side issue of having the building go up in this city. The APPEAL learns that the work will in all probability be commenced in the Spring.

One of the peculiar things about this affair, is, that the force of men who will find employment on this building will almost entirely consist of those, who, last year in the Fall election, fought tooth and nail to defeat Stewart.

Had they succeeded in defeating him it would have been some time before work would have commenced on the building. Stewart, however, is not a man to stop to consider who his work will financially benefit. He proposes to show these men, more than anybody else, that he meant what he said when he made campaign promises in this city. He is a broad man who had rather convince his enemies that he was a man of his word, than any body else. He had rather see every man who voted against him getting $4 a day for the whole term of his office than to see work suspended on the building. He is too big a man to harbor petty spite and mows his swath broad regardless of friend or foe.

These were the sort of comments heard on the street yesterday.

"By jove old Santa Claus is getting in his work."

"Santa Claus is giving Carson a Christmas present this year, sure."

"I didn't vote for him but had I known his speed I would have."

"No use talking boys, he's there for business and does his work."

"They told me in the campaign that he would be in 'Frisco all the time, but begorra he's a foim man and sthanding in wid the laborin' class."

"They told ye a pack 'er lies, Tim."

"They filled up a good many of us but it don't go no more."

Stewart is making a good working Senator and has given his own town a lift. Whose turn is it to laugh now?

McAuliffe Whips Ryan.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 24.—The fight between Paddy Ryan and Joseph McAuliffe for $5,000 at the rooms of the California Athletic Club last night was decided in favor of McAuliffe, Ryan having thrown up the sponge at the end of the third round after being knocked down twice.
