

FOR PRESIDENT,

BENJAMIN HARRISON

OF INDIANA.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

LEVI P. MORTON

OF NEW YORK.

COWARDLY SAILORS.

The terrible accident whereby the City of Chester was sunk near San Francisco brings once more to light the utter cowardice of the sailor when brought face to face with gale danger.

Much has been written relative to the heroic sailor who is supposed to be about the bravest sort of a man in existence.

The sailor will strike the city front in San Francisco, go into a rough and tumble fight and face a dozen men.

This is when he is primed with whisky.

After the City of Chester received its death stroke from the bow of the Oceanic the sailors left the ship like rats and took to the boats, leaving women and children to perish.

Sailors almost invariably do this and there is hardly an instance known that they did not, except where a cool headed captain stood on the quarter deck and shot them down as fast as they came within reach of the coveted boats.

In the instance under consideration they displayed no more courage than the Chinaman who composed the crew of the Oceanic.

Over two years ago an invention was patented by which enormous flukes like the side fins of a fish could be suddenly liberated from a ship's side so as to act as brakes in the water and stop her under a full head of speed inside her own length.

These flukes were tried with great success in New York and had the Oceanic been properly equipped with them she could have stopped before reaching the City of Chester or at least have so lessened the force of the terrible blow as to have done comparatively little damage.

The steamers seldom use them as they would rather economize.

THE "PULL" WINS.

The Coast papers generally predicted that the infamous woman Kellogg, who enticed a minor into her den in San Francisco and drugged her would have a big "pull" behind her.

The "pull" has carried the day, and Mrs. Kellogg has been allowed to go free with a fine of $500, instead of serving ten years in San Quentin.

The wealthy patrons of the establishment were behind the prosecutors, and will set her up in business in a new place.

Praise to the lads of San Francisco who are beating John Chinaman out of the orchards and vineyards by doing better work at no greater cost to the employers. When white boys are willing to work for fair wages and employers prefer them to the Chinese, it begins to look as though John would have to go.

Blaine may now rest content. Fred Emerson Brooks a local gusher has written a poem to President Cleveland's wife, fully as slushy as a mess of doggerel as the poem of welcome that hit him when he landed in New York.

During the month of July 6, 830 people were passengers for the East by the Southern Pacific system, and 10,208 people took Horace Greely's advice and came out West.

If the Democrats want free salt let them wait until after November and gather it at the headwaters of the Salt River.

Stewart's amendment to the U. S. Mining Law passed the Senate yesterday.
