A. O. U. W. INSTALLATION.

The popularity of Ormsby Lodge No. 4, A. O. U. W., was fully shown by the multitude of people (ladies and gentlemen) who attended the public installation of the lodge on Tuesday. The installation was presided by a literary and musical entertainment of a choice character, being opened by Master Workman Taylor with a few remarks in which he congratulated the Lodge on the progress made during the past year. Past Grand Master Workman J. C. Harlow made a happy talk on the history of the Order, and Bro. Bartine made a short and pithy address from a local standpoint. Maudie Dume gave an amusing recitation. Solos were sung by Mrs. H. H. Howe, Mrs. J. Wall, Mrs. Geo. W. Cagwin, Miss Lily Schneider and Miss Mamie Ballard. While all did excellently, Miss Ballard carried off the honors of the evening, her effort being so vigorously applauded that she was compelled to sing again. Miss Ballard has a very superior voice, full of melody and of great compass, while her pronunciation is clear and distinct. Another pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment was the guitar playing of Mr. Frank Mayer of Virginia City. The male quartette, Dow, Torreyson, Mackey and Ardery, also sang. The officers elect were then installed by Past Grand Master Workman Harlow, and then the guests were conducted to the banquet hall, where a splendid collation was served. It was a happy affair throughout, and will long be pleasantly remembered by the invited guests.—Tribune.

Advice to Mothers.

Mrs. Winslow's soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays the pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty five cents a bottle.

Jewelry Displays

There is a glittering display of jewelry, diamonds and ladies' watches in the show window of the Nickel building. The designs are of the latest, and will be sold during holidays, at prices which can not be duplicated in the State.

The assortment embraces all kinds of the most fashionable jewelry and tableware. Call and inspect goods and prices.

*d15t CHAMBERLAIN & GOLDEN.

—The immense sale of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been produced to a great extent, by people who have been cured by it telling their friends and neighbors of its good qualities and urging them to try it. The most severe cold will soon yield to its soothing effects. For Sale by G. C. Thaxter.

ALL SORTS.

—Free lunch at the Magnolia.
—The weather sharps predict a snow storm.

—The session gives promise of being a trifle dull.

—The flag of the Capitol was half-masted yesterday.

—Remember the Wheelmen's dance tomorrow night.

—Brannan has already gone into training for his glove match.

—Geo. M. Stewart, traveling for Cheroke & Co., is in the city.

—Mr. W. M. Carv relieved a communication yesterday announcing the death of that old pioneer, Jim Gatewood, who departed this life in San Francisco on November 14th. Jim was one of the earliest settlers in Nevada and was a veteran soldier.

—If James Draks Bolton, last heard of in 1874 as residing at Austin, Nev., (in the employ of M. M. Egan, Esq.) or his representative, apply to the undersigned he will hear of something to his advantage. TENCH & REYNOLDS, Solicitors, 16 L. Dominick street, Dublin, Ireland.

A Great Event.

During the stay of the Legislators in Carson, they will not have a better chance to enjoy themselves than at the Wheelmen's ball on the 11th. Carson's fairest daughters will be present, and also the middling fair. There will also be an exhibition of fancy bicycle riding.

Wants to Meet Jackson.

George Peters of Detroit, who calls himself the colored champion of the West, and who says he has never yet been defeated, is anxious to meet Jackson, who defeated Joe McAuliffe at San Francisco. A friend of his has written to a sporting paper to that effect, and suggests that the fight should take place at Duluth, Minn.

THE LABOR PROBLEM.

Views of C. P. Huntington and Senators Stewart and Stanford.

Washington, Jan. 7.—The agitation of the question of the admission of Chinese labor at San Francisco by the Democratic organ of that city prompted an interview with Senators Stewart and Stanford. Senator Stewart says: Very likely there is some temporary inconvenience occasioned by the exclusion of the Chinese. It breaks up a labor system long established, and of course, is temporarily embarrassing to fruit growers, railroad builders and others who have relied on Chinese labor. Such difficulties however will soon pass away.

There will soon be an abundant supply of white labor to take the place of the Chinese when they are gone. White men are willing to emigrate to California to labor in competition with the Chinese; but when the field of labor is opened by the removal of the latter, there will be an increased immigration of white men, who will build up the country, establish homes and maintain American civilization. If no Chinese had ever come to the Pacific Coast the white population would have been more than double what it is to-day. To again open the gates to Chinese immigration would be most disastrous. It would be a permanent dedication of the fairest section of the United States to a race that would necessarily exclude the Anglo-Saxon civilization and maintain the semi-barbarous institutions of China.

Senator Stanford says: "The Chinaman is a disturbing element in our civilization. He cannot be assimilated with our population, cannot be a steady sojourner nor a colonist. We will be in the whole better off without him, no matter if his absence works us temporary hardships."

New York, Jan. 7.—C. P. Huntington says of the Chinese labor problem: "Trade with China has been killed by the Exclusion Act. A prominent American merchant, just from there, says he was treated politely, but could not sell any goods. In a few years Americans will be ordered to leave China. My honest opinion is that if the people of the Pacific Coast were to vote without fear three-quarters of them would be in favor of nullifying the Exclusion Act. No matter how much money the Chinaman takes to his home, we will get it all back in trade. We need more laborers, and in the absence of white men and black, why not let us have the Mongolians?"

Carson Opera House.

A highly interested audience was present last evening to witness the first presentation by the Grismer company of Clay Green's last and most successful dramatic work "Forgiveness." The play is written in Mr. Green's best vein and has received most flattering testimonials from critics wherever it has been given. The story is simple and easily followed. Mr. Grismer was most happy in his delineation of Jack Diamond. He was earnest, strong and manly throughout. There was more of real downright sympathy in his rendering of the emotional scenes than he is wont to display. In the role of Annie Diamond Phoebe Davies did a most effective piece of emotional work. She grasped the role in its every detail and in the pleasing little scene in the first act wherein she betrays her true love for Jack, as well as in the heavier and more trying scenes of the battle acts she was natural and eminently forcible. Her pathos was genuine and she looked the miserable woman her sad fate made of her. The balance of the cast was very good. They play to-night for the last time in Carson. Frank Harvey's powerful melo-drama "The World Against Her."

Like the Reno Man.

APPEAL: There is a lady in Carson who has the Reno man's peculiarity. She has a white spot on each side of her head and is obliged to dye the white hair. She has lived in Carson for twenty years and not more than two persons know of her peculiarity.

READER.

Services at the M. E. Church.

The following is the programme of the subjects which will be presented from the Methodist Pulpit during the coming winter.

Everlasting Punishment, in a series of three sermons. The first of the series will be a general discussion of this awful theme with an explanation of the terms, Sheol, Hades and Gehenna, the second will be the Parable of the Rich Man and Lazarus, and the third, the Application of the Cities of the Plain, the Deluge, and the Fallen Angels to this subject.

The second series will be, The Hell of Neglect, in three sermons.

The third series will be on, The Intermediate State and Heaven.

Then will follow a sermon on the General Resurrection, and one on the General Judgement, and finally a sermon on that word found but once in the Bible, Eternity.

There will be a living connection between all these sermons, and though each will be complete in itself, yet one cannot be perfectly understood without the other.

Let me say that these subjects are not dead yet as many suppose and will not be until this probationary state ends. We will not, in the discussion of these momentous themes, trust to our own opinions, but will present them in the light of the best scholarship of the age.

A most cordial invitation is extended to all who are not already worshipping elsewhere to come to these services.

If any one wishes to ask an honest question upon any of these themes, let him write it out, sign his name, and hand it in when the collectors are passing through the congregation. Due attention will be given to the question asked, and if possible will be answered.

Burial of Mrs. Tuffy.

The flag at the Capitol was at half mast yesterday and both Houses of the Legislature adjourned out of the respect for the obseques of Mrs. George Tuffy wife of the State Treasurer.

The street in front of the St. Charles Hotel was crowded with people long before the advertised hour.

The services at the St. Charles were conducted by Father Lynch of Virginia City, where the usual Catholic ritual was performed.

A choir consisting of Messrs. Torreyson, Edson and Dow, and Mrs. Bender, Miss French and Miss Duff, sang "Beloved it is Well," and at the grave, "Sleep Thou and Rest." The coffin was draped in black crape throughout, while a plain plate of silver bore the name of the deceased.

The floral contributions which had been sent in were too numerous to be supported by the coffin, so that a separate conveyance was required to convey them to the cemetery.

They consisted of wreaths, crosses, pillars and gateways of flowers and were probably the most elaborate ever used in the city.

The officers of the State and members of both branches of the Legislature preceded the remains, the members of the Legislature walking.

The pall-bearers were Judge Hawley, of the Supreme Bench, Governor Stevenson, Controller Holleck, Trenmor Coffin, Speaker of the House, John Wagner, Alfred Helm, Frank McCollough and D. Kaiser. The procession of carriages was a mile long and numbered nearly one hundred. At the grave the remains of the much-beloved woman were committed to the dust. The funeral was the largest witnessed in the city for many years.

Custer Post.

Last evening the Odd Fellows' Hall was packed to its fullest capacity to witness the Installation of Custer Post No. 15.

The exercises consisted of instrumental and vocal solos, recitations and speeches and the installation ceremonies which were conducted by Mrs. Bicknell, and very interesting to the audience. After the programme was finished the audience partook of liberal refreshments.
