

LET IT COME.

We would much prefer an invasion of English capital to an invasion of foreign workmen. For some hidden reason many newspapers affect to see danger in the threatened investment of large sums of English gold in American industries. Unless this money is put into land we can see no harm that can come to us for its use. As soon as it is paid out in America it is our gold, with which we can inaugurate new enterprises. If the Englishmen think they can make larger interest on their capital by placing it in American machinery or trade, we should be glad to give them a chance. It would be a good thing for the State if our coins across the Atlantic would place a few millions in manufacturing establishments along the Truckee, and until some better reasons are advanced than any that have been given, against receiving the wealth of Europe, we are disposed to say "Let it come."—Enterprise.

The imposition to which this country is subjected through immigration is vividly illustrated by a Hungarian, who on Saturday, with a railroad ticket good for the distance from New York to Scranton, was discovered walking on the track between the two places, under the impression that the piece of paper gave him the privilege only of pedestrianizing over the roadbed. This valuable acquisition to American society and probably, citizenship had actually tramped seventy-four miles as a proof of his intelligence and qualifications for naturalization. Then think that hundreds of just such creatures are weekly pouring into Castle Garden, to fill our work centers with social and moral malaria and take the bread out of the mouths of deserving working men and working women of this country. To withhold much longer from the statute book an effective immigration law will be tantamount to a crime against the republic.

The Commissioner of the General Land office has made a very important decision affecting those foreign mining companies which acquired title through their managers. In the case referred to the manager of a foreign corporation applied for and secured a United States patent for a mine. The mine was jumped and the title was contested on the ground that he had obtained the patent for the company, and a foreign corporation cannot enter land. This view is upheld by the Commissioner notwithstanding the patent had been issued for years.

The New York Herald points a long special from Washington to the effect that the Samoan treaty may be rejected by the Senate on the ground that Phelps and Kesson sacrificed their country's interests, to their personal interests, both wishing to get a foreign mission and desiring to accomplish something definite. The Herald declares the United States Commissioners were outwitted by Bismark, but does not point out any specific instances.

The W. C. T. U. Interstate Conference has closed its five days' session. The resolutions declare for abstinence and prohibition denounce all license as criminal, demand one standard of morals for men and women, declare it worse than treason to withhold the power of the ballot from the virtuous, intelligent women of the home, and lodge it with the vice and ignorance of the saloon for the home's destruction.

An important mining suit will soon be tried in Eureka. It is that of the Klempfer Brothers vs. the Eureka Consolidated Mining Company. The Klempfer Brothers sue for $360,000, the amount of bullion which they allege was extracted from the Eureka slag dump after the (the Klempfers) had purchased the slag.

Sidney Drew, the comedian, was married Sunday at St. Francis Xavier Church in Miss Gladys Rankin, daughter of McKee Rankin.

Strict constructionists will read with amazement that the Navy Department at Washington is about to publish a compilation by Professor Sousa of the National airs of all nations. It is pretty hard to find any proper connection between the duties of the Navy Department and the publication of music, but the Department has a band of music, and, under cover of providing it with scores, can publish what will no doubt be a very interesting book, for the benefit of contributors to the surplus.

A San Francisco spiritulist thinks the Chicago police need a "medium" to help them untangle the Cronin case. Opinions may differ in regard to the efficiency of a medium, but there is no question that the police of the Lake City need help sadly. Judging from the way they have bungled the case they have had recourse to spirituous rather than spiritual assistance.
