

It seems a pity that the gates of the Tahoe dam cannot be kept closed, and that all the water that is falling during this storm is allowed to run to waste doing no one any good. Messages were sent today to Mr. Huntington at New York, Governor Stanford at Washington, Col. Crocker, Mr. Mills and Mr. Brown of San Francisco, urging upon them the necessity of closing the gates and placing an agent in charge, and if Governor Stanford and his associates do not heed the request, we shall come to the conclusion that his philanthropy is not of the kind calculated to benefit communities.—Gazette.

The Omaha Bee says that Emin Pasha, the contemporary of Stanley, successfully overcame the savage hordes of the jungle, smote the dwarfs and giants with equal vigor, cut his way through open and secret foes, braved the pangs of hunger and misery with admirable heroism. Had yet he had hardly touched the suburbs of civilization after three years of mental and physical travail when a champagne supper laid him out. The banquet proved more deadly than poisoned bars of enemies or the treachery of friends.

The Carson APPEAL does not endorse an article which recently appeared in the Times-Review. That is unkind of Sam Davis. We would endorse almost anything of his—except his note.—Times-Review.

The last time we asked the bank if Dennis' endorsement would do, the cashier shook his head and asked if we couldn't just as well get some one else.

Snow-balls have caused many a hair pulling fight among school boys, but last Saturday evening a couple of Christmas balls was the germ that shot forth a free fight, in which half dozen of our townsmen participated. The affair occurred near the Johnson water tank and was largely attended.—Courier.

Paris is just now suffering from an epidemic of influenza. Last Spring the same disease was epidemic in Carson and was probably carried to Paris by some of our citizens who visited the exposition last Summer. Where is Dr. La Biter?

John Forbes, President of the Pamlico Mining Co. of Hawthorne denies Garrison's affidavit and says that the final settlement will be on December 23d.

A Nevada Lady's Debut.
Says the Washington (D. C.) Star of the 7th instant: Miss Letitia Aldrich, who is well known in this city, having spent much of her time within the last two years here with her uncle and aunt, Senator and Mrs. Stewart, will soon make debut as a star in this city under the management of Mr. Gustave Froham. The date fixed for the event was January 9th. The play chosen for this occasion is a dramatization by the author of Miss Sewall's story, "Maid Marian," which was very successful in Lippincott's Magazine a year or two ago.

Fears of Pogonip.
Yesterday it stopped snowing, and all day the city was enveloped in a dense fog. The moisture clung to the trees and froze, glazing everything. In the afternoon it was warmer. The weather was unlike anything ever seen in the county, and the "old inhabitant" expressed fears of pogonip, which is fog congealed at a certain temperature and filling the air with fine particles of frost, which play the mischief with people's lungs.

Dropped His Derringer.
A Burney Valley, Shasta county, Cal., paper says in its Thanksgiving ball report: While our respected minister, Rev. Billy Allen, was crossing the hall, one of his derringers dropped to the floor and exploded, shooting him in the leg. Members of the congregation will be glad to hear that it was only a flesh wound.
