The manner in which the State has attempted to wreck the Reno Reduction works should be made a matter of legislative inquiry next winter. The facts would make one of the most shameless chapters in the history of jobbery in Nevada.

THE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.

Some Words From a Taxpayer who Does Like It.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE APPEAL.—Your columns being kindly opened for any discussion as to the new school house bonds a few words in reply to Taxpayer's communication of yesterday would seem pertinent.

Taxpayer has not evidently posted himself. The call for a special election by the Board of School Trustees reads that they want authority to issue appropriating $40,000 bonds less the sum of $7,500, special tax and sale of School Property, which means that the maximum of bonds really issued would be about $25,000.

Taxpayer also makes some figures as to the debt which Carson would stagger under, but fails to say anything about a few thousand Indian School Bonds, which did not create any stagger, or of $10,000 bonds to build a race track and still no stagger, but when it is proposed to provide decently for our own children, our own flesh and blood, then we are unable to stagger under such a load.

PROGRESS.

Wants the School House.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE APPEAL.—I noticed in yesterday's issue a letter from a taxpayer about the school house. He seems afraid that the county will spend a few dollars in public improvements. It's high time that we had a new school house and one that would be a credit to Carson.

If Reno had such a proposition to deal with they would vote the bonds almost unanimously. I am heart and soul for the new school house.

ANOTHER TAXPAYER.

Thinks there's a Job in It.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE APPEAL.—I would like to say a word about the school house job, for it is a job and nothing more. The plan is for a few people to make some money out of the building, and they will make a pretty slick thing too, if the job is allowed to go on.

It will give a certain building superintendent a chance to draw about $8 a day sitting round and looking at the work, and allow another smoothie a chance to unload some real estate at about two prices. In my opinion the thing begins to smell rank already.

ONE WHO IS DEAD ON.

The Haverly-Cleveland Minstrels attracted a large audience. The program was of a high order. A great attraction of the evening's entertainment was the Imperial Japanese troupe, chief among the performers being five diminutive Japanese, whose marvelous feats of dexterity on ladders and poles made the female portion of the audience hold its breath in expectancy of a catastrophe.—N. Y. Telegram.

EFFECT OF A GENTLE VICTORY.—It is said that Salt Lake City will this summer show more life and activity in building and substantial progress than any other city in the United States. The transactions in real estate amount to about $1,000,000 a week. The people who are investing are wide awake and energetic, and the new buildings will be of the most substantial character.

Letters pour in daily regarding Sweeny & Co's. great horse sale. Horsemen all over the country are getting greatly interested, and there promises to be a large attendance.

Chinese Obsequies.

Mr. Lee You forgot to breathe night before last, and in consequence there was a first-class Chinese funeral in Carson yesterday.

Mr. You was "look-out" for one of the tan games, and held a high position in the Chinese Mystic Lodge.

The ceremony took place on Fourth street under a canopy erected for the purpose. Pork and mutton were the meats served besides the corpse.

They were not short on rice, tea, gin and firecrackers.

Mr. Num, of Police Court fame, acted in place of the regular choir, and rendered some choice selections in a very delightful manner. Mr. Chung Wah officiated, assisted by Chew Kee and Lin Wah.

About ten or fifteen ladies of the 400 attended, and also twenty-five or thirty gentlemen.

Among those noticed in the mourners' circle were T. J. Connelly, Bill Reeker, Joe Kasper, Frank Woodward and an up-town saloon man whose name we could not get.

Jim Townsend had been sent for to explain the whys and wherefores of the ceremony, but failed to respond when his name was called.

The funeral passed off very pleasantly, until just at the close, when two of the cousins of the deceased got into a fight and repaired to Chinatown to settle it. Up to the time of writing no one has been badly hurt.

THOSE WOOD CUTS.—The San Francisco Chronicle printed a wood-cut of J. S. Kennedy, Jr., the defaulting Postoffice clerk of San Francisco.

Believing that the accused was the same who was formally local secretary of the Justice, this reporter showed the cuts to a number of Kennedy's most intimate friends. "No that is not the man," they all agreed; "we thought it was the same man from the dispatch in the Enterprise, but if that is a picture of the defaulter he is not our Kennedy."

The defaulter is our Kennedy, just the same.

Mr. Kennedy will be remembered as a very good looking man, who was very tasty of dress and exceedingly fond of fine clothes.—Enterprise.

TIMBER SUITS DISMISSED.—The Sentinel says: "The Government timber suits in the Circuit Court at Carson against all but the Eureka and Palisade Railroad Company and the Eureka Con. and Richmond Con. Mining Companies have been dismissed and the wood released."

The Eureka Sentinel says that a man in that county died of intussusception of the bowels. The person who was guilty of introducing the above disease in Eureka should be hung at once.
