

The United States Official Investigation of baking powder, made under authority of Congress by the Chemical Division of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., recently completed, shows the Royal Baking Powder to be a cream of tarter powder of the highest quality, pure and wholesome, and superior to all others in strength, leavening power, and general usefulness. a29.

NEVADA WON IT.—Several months ago an Eastern paper offered to present to one public school in each state and territory in the federal Union an American flag nine feet in breadth by fifteen in length for the most meritorious essay written by pupils and open to all public schools. Miss Lillian White of the class of '90, Virginia City High School, captured the prize, and the flag now floats triumphantly in the Silver State.

PAID UNDER PROTEST.—The Central Pacific Railroad Company paid to District Attorney Allen Friday, $1,306 85 under protest, the amount being the tax on the unsurveyed and unpatented lands in Washoe county, with the penalty thereon. The amount was paid under protest because the company has a suit pending involving the validity of the tax on these lands.

FREE COINAGE RESOLUTION.—The citizens of Salt Lake on Tuesday held a meeting in favor of free coinage of silver. One of the resolutions adopted says: "As silver was beaten down, not by the law of supply and demand, but by cruel legislation, we demand that the fetters placed upon it by that legislation shall be broken."

M. E. CHURCH.—Services at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. tomorrow by the Pastor, Rev. C. L. Logan. Morning theme: "Well Doing and its Reward." Evening theme: "Christianity's Triumph." Sunday-school at 12 m. All are cordially invited.

A member of the English Gold and Silver Commission is very anxious for the free coinage of silver in the United States, holding that it will restore the ratio between the metals. If he and his fellow-statesmen would show their faith by their works by adopting the double standard in England, the experiment would be less risky.

MANDAMUS DENIED.—Some time since W. C. Love, District Attorney and ex-officio Superintendent of Schools in Elko County, applied to the Supreme Court of the State for a writ of mandamus to compel the Board of County Commissioners of Elko County to pay him $50 a month for his services as County Superintendent of Schools. On Tuesday, the 13th instant, the Supreme Court rendered a decision denying the petition of Mr. Love, thus giving judgment in favor of the county. This decision sets at rest the matter of salary as ex-officio Superintendent of Schools, so far as Elko county is concerned.

RENO CORRESPONDENCE.

Johnson Sides After Bill Nye—General Riverside Society Notes

To the Editor of the APPEAL.—I hope that the Editor will have patience with Truckee, I am slow, but sure to come.

There is a mad Indian here now and there is almost a declaration of war by one of the Muckemucks of the Piute tribe. It is Johnson Sides who has found out that Bill Nye interviewed him, and has printed the interview in a Chicago and California paper.

When Johnson gets that paper, and reads the interview, he will decide whether he will lift Bill Nye's back hair or not. Johnson says "bad white man" from way back east. "He lie bad as Washoe Injun. Washoe heap savee lie. Bill Nye he heap savee lie too."

Our town is dull of the dullest, some move out, and some move in, and so it goes.

The Truckee river has been on a high old bender, for some time, and on falling began to give up the dead men. One poor fellow without a mark of identity was taken out of the water the other day. He had been seen by reliable parties here, to whom he said that he was one of the gang of moulders picked up in the east to go to San Francisco to work in place of strikers there. He said that the man who induced them to undertake the venture, began to drop them off in squads at towns this side of the Missouri river on various pretexts; that he was with others dropped off here in Reno, and told that if he crossed the mountains, he would be put under arrest.

Yesterday afternoon one more poor unfortunate was found dead east of town about a mile in the sagebrush. Truly, man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn. Our vicinity is now full of tramps, and it looks as though we might have some trouble with them.

Mrs. Col. Bob Lindsey returned with her children to her Reno home this morning after a year's stay in the damp climate of San Francisco.

Mrs. Robert Fulton has opened the season of teas. On Tuesday last, she entertained quite a number of ladies at her very pleasant home. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent and the tea was enjoyed.

Miss Babcock entertained the Old Guild of the Episcopal Church at her home on Saturday, and gave an afternoon tea in their honor. The old ladies upon going home, declared they never had spent a more pleasant afternoon, and in fact had never been entertained so royally since their society was organized, as they had been by the genial Miss Babcock.

School matters here have been somewhat stirred up by convulsions more or less. The University will loose the man who discovered that the austere soil of Nevada will actually produce black beans with white eyes, and great big heads of lettuce. He was hard at work on blue beans and turnips when that awful Board of Regents raised him out of the hard pan he has labored so industriously upon, the year past. Alas! we shall miss seeing him on that usual trot down to the printing offices with a bunch of lettuce in one hand and a wee sack of beans in the other, his countenance beaming with delight over the remarkable discoveries he has made in one short year in Nevada.

Major Ducat will leave us next month for sunnier climes. He and his estimable lady will be sadly missed in social circles here and the University will loose a scholar. They have broken up house-keeping and are boarding at the Riverside.

The theatrical section of the University is having a high old time as usual, but "All's not gold that glitters" and it might well be added in this case, all is not sense that continually smiles and simpers.

So with the theatrical section, from mock love affairs, serious to contemplate by one who treads the common earth, and looks upon the boards from afar off. The theatrical section has gone through the various phases of mimicry and at last has had a real hard rough and tumble fight. Behind the scenes of course, but the injunction "Lay on McDuff and damned be he who first cries hold—enough." Result, a busted up boarding house, bloody noses, barked shins and Oh! what could be worse a parting of the troupe—a parting in which the farewells interspersed with clenched fists and hotly muttered words had best better be imagined than described. Following this episode in the daily life of the theatrical section, comes the announcement, that its leader is to be married! Heaven b—b—protect the unfortunate man.

Miss Devol will soon return to her Buckeye home. The Prof. will continue to tease Nevada soil. Attorneys Baker and Wines have got nice, settled in Reno, and are not only the leading attorneys of Reno, but of the State of Nevada.

Mrs. Senator Stewart with her youngest daughter will leave Washington for their Carson home on June 12th.

Prof. Rankin's time at Bishop Whittaker's School for Girls will be out at the close of the term. He has not decided whether he will remain with us or not.

As to that Government Darkie who came and went away from the State of Nevada, he is not worthy of the notice I gave him, and further mention of him in public makes certain landlords mad.

I wonder how Mr. Darkie would like to have it known as to the number of persons with whom he had business for the Government, and of whom he borrowed money while he was working on their cases. TRUCKEE.

The Debating Society.

On Friday afternoon the Carson High School Debating Society held its 7th regular meeting. The following programme was rendered, which afforded the audience a very pleasant afternoon:

- 1.—A song by the chorus, entitled, "Then We'll sing."
- 2.—Declamation by Emma Brulin, "Mono's Waters," was delivered in a very graceful manner.
- 3.—An essay by Eva McClasky, entitled "Boys."
- 4.—An essay on "Girls," an answer to one on boys, by Birt Ullrick.
- 5.—Instrumental solo by Berta Thaxter.
- 6.—Declamation by Edith Howe; "Little Elsie and King Volmar."

Other declamations by Eva Dangberg, Nellie Fowler, Nevada Olcovich, Rose Bergman and Corrine Prince added much to the charms of the programme. These were followed by a lively debate on the question, "Which had the greater influence; wealth or knowledge?" Those on the side of wealth were Minnie Mills, John Loyd and Sophia Jacobs; on the side of knowledge, Edith Atherton, Sybil Howe and Sam Platt. A committee consisting of Mrs. Hanford, Mrs. Noteware, Miss Wasson and Mrs. Bender decided by a vote of four to one in favor of knowledge. The chorus sang "Queen of the night." It was followed by an oration by George Bourett.

An historical review of principle events during the administrations of the U. S. Presidents was delivered by Miss Lotta Barkley.

The report of the Committee on Criticism was read, and the gold medals awarded to Sybil Howe and George Bourett.

Go to E. B. Rall's and get your screen doors and screen wire, lawn mowers, hose and sprinklers, paints and oils, ready mixed paints and varnish.
