Fond pride of dress is sure a very curse.

Ere fancy you consult, consult your purse.—Franklin.

To appear well is not necessarily to practice extravagance—The ladies of Carson can all acknowledge that the prevailing low prices, of Olcovich Bro's., Summer fabrics, is one reason why they find it to their advantage to buy their dry goods of that well-known firm. For anything in the shoe line call at Olcovich Bros. j3

How CAN PARENTS—Allow their children to cough and calmly say: "Oh! it's only a little cold," and keep giving them cheap medicines, until they are down with lung fever or consumption, when they can be so easily relieved by using BEGG'S CHERRY COUGH SYRUP? It has no superior and few equals. W. H. Chedie, Druggist

THE CENSUS TAKER.

He Starts in on his Regular Rounds.

Mr. Slingerton, the Ormsby county census taker started on his regular governmental rounds on Monday.

Mr. Slingerton takes the outside rural districts in his peripatations and Uncle Sam settles with him by the day.

When he strikes a farm house he has just 126 questions to ask the woman of the house. With some people he has easy sailing and then again with some he doesn't have it quite so easy.

A census taker requires some considerable nerve and Slingerton is supposed to have all it requires.

For instance it takes nerve to ask a string of questions like this:

"Madam, how many eggs did you produce here in 1890?"

"How many gallons of milk?"

"How many children?"

Of course these are all regulation questions and have to be answered. Then come questions which tax a woman's memory some:

"How many calves dropped in this ranch in 1890?"

"How many bulls, how many heifers?"

"How many raddish did you raise?"

"How many onions?"

"Any scale bugs?"

"Any bed bugs?"

"How many red headed children and is red hair hereditary in family?"

"Does your husband drink and how much is necessary to make him lively?"

"Do you drink yourself?"

"If so, how often?"

"Are you a white woman, mulatto or Chinawoman?"

"Ever had the small pox or did your grandmother ever have it?"

B, the time the man has got about this far along, the woman calls for ice to place on her head. After she gets composed, he begins again on her family history:

Was she ever in jail?

Was her husband or father or near relative in jail and if so what penitentiary do they occupy at present?

How many trees has she ever planted, how many lived, how many died and how many were frost bit early in life?"

Are measles hereditary in her family and if so how often?

She must tell all about her ancestors and her relative's ancestors and her future prospects are the only things she isn't asked about.

When the Census taker is through his work, the woman begins to wonder how near the truth she has been and how many mistatements she has made and if the Census taker will arrest her and throw her in the county jail if she has under-valued her age. The Census of 1890 will be a banger and no mistake.

THAT RESOLUTION.

Some Crowding being Indulged In by Washoe.

In the Gazette appears a communication signed "One of Washoe's Nine" in which the following appears:

I find since coming back from the Silver Convention that some people here in Reno, like a few of the members of the convention, are not pleased with the result of the deliberations. Like Mr. Wren and Sam Davis in the convention our fault-finders here at home make two objections to the resolutions as passed: First, that the intention was to reflect on our delegation in Congress, and second, that the instructions to vote for free coinage and no other bill, will hamper our Senators and Representative in securing the best they can, or, in other words, getting a half loaf rather than no bread.

The objections made by the editor of the APPEAL to the resolution was that it did not express what it was meant to express.

It was asked in the convention if the resolution would prevent the Nevada delegation voting for any other good silver bill in case the fight for free coinage was lost, and several voices at once responded.—Among them we think, Geo. Cassidy, W. E. F. Deal, Robt. Keiting—"No certainly not."

We held that if the resolution was intended to convey the meaning claimed for it, that the language should be put in a different form and we still hold that opinion, for it reads that the delegation shall vote for free coinage and no other bill. We did not discuss the question of propriety at all but the proposition of saying one thing and meaning something else. In other words the resolution as it now stands, absolutely precludes the Nevada delegation in Congress from voting for any silver bill short of absolute free coinage.

As far as the writer is concerned he never yet took part in a convention that he did not abide by the conclusions it reached. The convention reached the conclusion that it was for "Free Coinage or nothing" and that will be the motto of this journal from now on.

If the Gazette correspondent will bear in mind that Mr. Wren is interested in at least nine different silver mines in this State he will not attempt to falsely array him against the silver interests of Nevada.

We trust that the Washoe delegation will stop charging us with fault-finding. Get into the Free Coinage traces and help pull the silver wagon through. It is bad taste to begin bucking after a convention. Quit criticising and get to work.

Important Supreme Court Case.

The petition of Josephine Walcott for a writ of prohibition against the District Court of White Pine county and Hon. Thos. Wells as Judge thereof, was argued Monday and Tuesday before the Supreme Court. A. C. I. is represented the petitioner, Josephine Walcott, and Wren & Chas. and Judge Rives respondent, Wells.

The petitioner seeks to prohibit the White Pine District Court and Judge Wells from proceeding any further in the suit of Walcott vs. Watson, pending in said Court, which suit involves the title to one half of the celebrated Joanna and Great Western, and other mines in Ely District.

The proceeding is a rare one in Nevada and the writ is demanded upon three grounds: 1st.—That the action has been dismissed by plaintiff. 2nd.—That the suit has been transferred to the U. S. Circuit Court of Nevada by the plaintiff, the defendant having made a counter claim for $40,000 against plaintiff. 3rd.—That Judge Wells has no authority or jurisdiction to try the case, because it is claimed that the Act of 1889, under which he holds his office and exercises judicial functions, is unconstitutional and void. The case is a very interesting one and the discussion took a wide range. The Court has taken the case under advisement.
