

The United States Official Investigation of baking powders, made under authority of Congress by the Chemical Division of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., recently completed, shows the Royal Baking Powder to be a cream of tarter powder of the highest quality, pure and wholesome, and superior to all others in strength leavening powder, and general usefulness.

"Why do we wonder at crime?" We don't. Francis E. Willard tells about women in Chicago who make twelve shirts for seventy-five cents and furnish their own thread; women who finish off a costly cloak for four cents; children who work twelve hours a day for one dollar a week. And what are you going to do about it?

"I never in my life," says John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, "used such a thing as a dodger, a poster or a handbill. My plan for fifteen years has been to buy so much space in a newspaper and fill it up with what I wanted. I would not give an advertisement in a newspaper of 400 circulation for 5,000 dodgers or posters."

As Barney McCaffery, the stage driver, came into Bodie last week with a detachment of drummers, the steam whistle on the stamp mill began to blow furiously. Barney thought it was a sort of off-hand way to welcome him, but subsequently learned that it was the commencement of a new era in that camp and the first time steam had struck the mill boilers for years.

In the diplomatic duel between Blaine and Salisbury, "Our Jim" proved a complete master of the carte and tierce of international fencing, and he touched his man wherever he pleased. The English papers admit that the Briton was a child in his hands, and that Blaine made the better showing of what the English considered the worse side of the argument. If there is any nation which has a smarter diplomatist than Blaine we have yet to hear of him.

A Queer Find.

Yesterday a young steer that was killed for Gardner's butcher shop was cut open and its stomach found to contain an old tooth brush which had been lost two years ago.

It appears that young Gardner was up in Hope Valley camping out, where he lost the tooth-brush which had his initials on the handle. He hunted high and low for it and as he left remarked: "Oh, I'll find it sometime, I never lose anything."

His words came true, for he was present when the steer was cut open. He is not using the tooth brush any more but he was sort of pleased to run across it again.

La Blanche in Chauncery.

There is not much likelihood that Dempsey will ever get a fight out of La Blanche, the Marine. A few weeks ago he held some race stakes for Furlong and took to the woods.

Furlong swore out a warrant and landed his man in jail. He has had several offers of compromise, but declines, and the chances are that the Marine will be breaking rock in San Quentin before long. Jack has him in chauncery and proposes to keep him there.

A Bad Man Gone.

John D. Fiske, the "tank circuit" manager, was recently shot and killed at Fresno by a man named Stillman, who says that Fiske was trying to blackmail him.

Fiske was noted all over the Coast as the concentrated essence of fraud and selfishness. He seemed to glory in double dealing, and had no friends anywhere.

He came to an end befitting his bad career as a man.

Advertised Letters.

The following letters remain uncalled for at the Carson post office up to July 26th, 1890: Ladies: Josephine DeGrosellier, Mrs. Westfall. Gentlemen: Jerome O'Cross, Giuseppe Moresi, Frank Ferras, James Morton, Charles Gordan, A D Shane, T W Kennedy. R. S. Rodman, P. M.

Close Slave.

A few days ago Jake Thall, who works in Green's butcher shop, found it so warm that he went into the refrigerator to cool off. Sitting down in a chair he went to sleep and did not wake up for some time. When he came to himself he was stiff all over and could not bend his neck for several days. A little longer would have given him a strong dose of pneumonia.

Robbed.

On Sunday night Oscar Hilderbrant, the piano tuner, was stopped on the R. R. bridge at Reno and robbed of his watch, a silk handkerchief and $1.75 in money. The men who stood him up threatened to throw him into the Truckee if he made any noise. He accordingly made no noise.
