

He "Heep Sabee."

The Record tells of a Chinaman at Pioche whose determination outruns his discretion. He is sinking a well near the Raymond and will have to go 1,200 feet in the earth to get water.

Now the chances are that the Chinaman has more sense than the white man.

The Chinese with very primitive implements costing about eight dollars can sink wells through solid rock 2,000 feet, which beats the new fangled well machines hollow.

Nevada lies over an immense body of hot water. There are 36 hot springs in this State and when Comstock shafts reach a certain depth they strike boiling water.

The legislature has frequently been asked to appropriate $5,000 for an experimental well, but invariably declines on the grounds of expense, but gives $10,000 to a military display.

Some day the Chinese will teach Nevada people something of the resources of the State.

The Chinaman in Pioche who is going down 1,200 feet for water ought to be encouraged instead of being ridiculed, and if he get stuck the State should see him through.

Belleville, at one time the liveliest town in Esmeralda county, now contains about twenty inhabitants. The two mills of the famous Northern Belle Mine, now owned by the Holmes Company, are situated at this place.

The report is again circulated that Dr. F. Beiber, who, though a resident of California, was appointed Commissioner from Nevada to the Paris Exposition, has been sentenced to eleven months imprisonment in Switzerland.

Investigation of the records and citizenship of the Italian assassins who were shot at New Orleans finds that all but four of them were citizens of the United States.
