

ANOTHER BIG SCOOP.

The inside managers of the mines have made another big scoop and unloaded on the public for several millions.

The APPEAL has frequently warned the public of these designs, but the suckers who think they know all about it rushed in as usual and have come out beautifully skinned.

For months past the cappers of the mining ring have been industriously at work circulating reports favorably to the mines and advising everybody to buy.

Any fool ought to know that when the insiders strike a big body of ore they don't send out salaried agents to advise parties to buy.

Hardly! If they strike ore they send out men—on regular salaries—to discourage the public and depreciate the stock. The deal has been planned for years, and men who have acquired it have made a fine scoop of several millions.

The Bay papers are always on hand to help the deal along. They print items about prominent men making bets that Con. Virginia will go to $30, inside of a week.

These bets are made but they are merely "wash" bets and only intended to rope in fools who have more money than horse sense.

Instead of a man betting $100, that Con. Virginia would go to $30, in a week, would it not be easier for him to buy the stock at $20? Ten shares would be enough—and if he had such a dead thing he could buy more.

When a prominent man makes a bet of that kind he is selling his stock the same day and you can bet every dollar you have that he is.

After the break the Post and Daily Report explained that the market got away from the insiders and they broke it to load up again.

Who but an escape from a lunatic asylum would invest money on such bosh as that?

The whole business stinks of fraud and the sooner the public learn to keep out of stock gambles the better.

This State has passed laws to protect its citizens against the Louisiana Lottery but it has its Statute books covered with enactments to help along a mode of swindling as much worse as brace fare is worse than playing marbles "for keeps."

The Costly Blunder.

News comes from Washington that when the United States war vessel Omaha arrived at San Diego soon after the Itata had gone to sea, a cipher dispatch was sent from the Navy Department to the commander of the Omaha. The dispatch might as well have been sent in Arabic as no one aboard the ship could translate it as they had no key to the cipher. This doubtless resulted in the escape of the Itata and the dispatch of the Charleston in pursuit of her three days later from San Francisco.

It is very evident that Secretary Tracy was right when he said reforms were necessary in the navy, but it is also apparent that he is in no hurry to make them. It only costs thirty or forty thousand dollars to send the Charleston to Chili, and that is nothing for this great and glorious country of ours to spend in chasing a vessel that might have been captured in a day if the commander of the Omaha could have interpreted his instructions.

Generous.

Theodore Winters has a beautiful little two-year-old filly named after Miss Doly McCone of Virginia City, "Dolly" won her first purse of $400 at the Blood Horse in San Francisco, when Mr. Winters handed it over to Miss McCone, who was an enthusiastic spectator, at the race.
