SUNDAY AT STEAMBOAT.

The Emporium Win the Baseball Game.

The chief attraction at Steamboat Springs on Sunday was the first of a series of five games of baseball between the Comstocks of Virginia and the Emporium of Carson.

The Comstocks were first at the bat, making one run. The Emporium then took a turn and captured two tallies. Virginia got two or the three more in the next, while Carson evened the score up when next they went to the bat.

After this there was a succession of whitewashes and single run innings, until at the beginning of the eighth with the Comstocks at the bat the score stood 10 to 13 in the Emporium's favor.

The game was characterized by careful playing and close work on both sides, and a prettier game one would hardly wish to see.

Joy pitched and O'Rourke acted behind the bat for the Comstocks during the entire game.

Fryer stood off Brannan's pitching for three innings, but owing to Matt having a lame shoulder he put Cowing in the box and Bryant behind the plate.

In the fore part of the game Fryer's work behind the bat was very fine, and he made some difficult stops. Bryant took splendid care of first during three innings, as did also Pierce afterwards.

As usual Nulty played great ball on second and Coleman held down third in a becoming manner.

Wright as short stop was up to his usual high standard. The fielders had very little to do.

All in all the Emporium acquitted themselves in a style that will inspire confidence in their future engagements.

The game was orderly and well conducted throughout, with little or no wrangling, and it was the general verdict that both clubs played gentlemanly ball.

Arthur Donnelly umpired the game according to the latest rules, and gave neither side a chance to kick.

The Comstocks are a lot of jolly good fellows, with no chumps in the lot.

Johnny Murphy gave the boys the freedom of the baths, and after partaking of chicken dinner and enjoying the dancing to the fine music furnished by the Reno orchestra, all the boys were willing to concede that they had been royally treated.

THE RACES.

After the ball game the races were the next in order, and were as follows:

First—Running race, 3/4 of a mile and repeat, for 3-year-olds. Purse $100.

Second—Mixed race for trotters and pacers; 2:40 class; best 3 in 5. Purse $250.

The first was won by Vivian, entered by Theo. Winters.

The second race was won by Hattie S., owned by John Sweeney.

Both races were exciting and well contested.

A Perfect Bed Spring.

Oliver & Davis have opened in Mrs. Wrinkle's building next to Uhl's market, and are making a patent bed spring, which is admirably adapted to the warm weather, and a good idea for people who wish to circumvent the bed bugs.

The old fashion spring bed is very cumbersome, but the springs in the new contrivance are in four sections. Each can easily be taken out and dusted. The springs only cost $5 a set.

Drunk or Crazy.

Just before the local train from Virginia reached Carson Sunday morning, a man jumped off in order to reach a saloon quicker. He didn't hit the ground just right, and got pretty badly scratched. On reaching the saloon he got his drink and then went to sleep.

Lost His Fish.

On Sunday Johnny Vierra went up to the Mexican dam fishing, and after hanging his large feet over the water for four hours he caught a five pound trout.

He was at once the envy of all the fishermen and began showing it around to everybody. All agreed it was the largest trout of the season.

"I'm the boy to catch the big ones," said Johnny, as he ran his finger in the fish's mouth and held it up. Just then the fish gave a flop, and like a flash was in the water.

Johnny plunged in after it, falling on it bodily. But holding a trout under water is no easy job, and after a short wrestle the fish downed the barber and got away. When he got out of the water the rest of the anglers started for home, for Johnny was in a fighting mood and ready to lick the earth.

A Grand Hay Field.

Any one who would go through Carson Valley now, would realize what a magnificent country Nevada is destined to be.

The ranches are masses of grain and alfalfa, and crops of all kinds are in the best possible condition.

The writer stopped a few hours at Henry Springmeyer's and there saw a field of 200 acres of hay that was simply a wonder. It was a level stretch of grain, alfalfa, timothy, red-top and clover, so thick that a field mouse could hardly make his way through it.

The Pratt Fund.

The California papers are beginning to call attention to the APPEAL'S 10-cent fund for Mrs. Pratt. If the coast papers generally take it up as we hope to see them, the little woman would realize something for her self-sacrificing act.

Table listing donations to the Pratt fund: Mint employes 50cts, The Oleovich family 60cts, C E Latta 20cts, Old Comstocker 10cts, A lady 10cts, Four little girls 40cts, Dr McClary and wife 20cts, Previous receipts $1 60.

Total $3 70. Although this amount is rather small to date, it is considerably ahead of that raised by the whole State of California, or any town in Nevada.

Asparagus Salad.

A delicious dainty for hot weather lunches is asparagus salad. After the stalks are boiled they should be plunged at once into iced water, which prevents them from losing their natural color also keeps them straight. Make a dressing of oil, salt and pepper, substituting for vinegar a generous amount of lemon juice.
