ALL SORTS.

Get your seats for the Interviewer. J. M. Short, of Glenbrook, is quite sick. R. S. Fulton, of Reno was in the city yesterday. Horse, cart and harness for sale. Apply to Geo. Hark. The Indian Summer appears to be getting well under way. M. W. Fox, of San Francisco, lost his suit against A. C. Steel. The Sutro tunnel will haul waste rock from the Savage mine. Stricture treated with phenomenal success by a new method. m12 Dr. Fox.

The "Interviewer" tonight promises to draw a big house; everybody is going. The Supreme Court of California decides that a witness cannot attack the validity of the Grand Jury.

There was a mass meeting in Storey last night to provide for delegates to the Irrigation Convention. Baseball scandals are now breaking out. From this on the clergy and the legal profession ain't in it. A number of gentlemen arrived in town yesterday to be in attendance at the Irrigation Convention to day.

Dr. Fox treats private, chronic and nervous diseases of men, nervous debility, impotence, stricture and all other weakness of manhood. A few days ago Dr. Winnie fixed a culvert at the end of his road, and during the building hung out a red lantern as a danger signal at night. Night before last someone stole the lantern. Next time he hangs a lantern out as a danger signal he will put no light in it.

Dr. J. W. Gally, formerly of Hot Creek, Nye county, died at Watsonville, California, last Monday, aged 66 years. He acquired considerable notoriety as a writer under the pen name of "Singleline", and for four years was a regular contributor to the Overland Monthly, and was the author of many instructive as well as humorous articles. He formerly lived in Virginia City and his sketch "Big Jack Small" is as good a thing in its line as was ever penned and will live for ever in the literature of the West. Gally had a keen sense of true humor and a deep insight into the characteristics of his fellow men.

A Mixed Inference. The following dispatch from New York is somewhat puzzling: Lieutenant Governor Jones has issued a card in which he says: "If successful in this election, nothing can defeat Mr. Fowler as Presidential candidate in 1892, which would place the National Government as completely under the control of Tammany Hall as the city of New York now is, and this would make Mr. Sheehan Governor. Those who desire this consummation of affairs should sustain him, right or wrong, and those who do not should at least pause and think."

When Cleveland was called on to address a Democratic club in New York the other night he talked on what was nearest his heart, as follows: "Probably you are of the opinion that I have been more interested the past few days with the non-voter than with actual politics [Laughter and applause.] I regret to say that the non-voter won't be able to help the Democratic party until prohibition against woman suffrage has been repealed." [Renewed laughter and applause.]

Diseases of woman a specialty m12 Dr. Fox. For fine imported cigars go to Geo. Irwin's cigar store opposite the Capitol. Six of the leading brands; also the Conqueror and the finest domestic goods, and the Chesapeake and all standard brands of chewing and smoking tobacco. au301m

THE IRRIGATION MEETING.

Discussing Plans for Today's Convention. Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock there was a meeting of leading citizens at the Governor's office to discuss plans for today's Convention, which meets for the purpose of discussing the irrigation question and selecting delegates to the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress which meets at Omaha Oct 19th to remain in session until the 25th. There were present Governor Colcord, Judges Belknap and Bigelow, Congressman Bartine, Controller Horton, Surveyor General Jones, Francis Newlands, D. A. Bender, General Clarke, Jacob Kline, E. B. Rail, John Wagner, Al. Livingston and others. Mr. Newlands was elected Chairman. He made a short informal talk on the necessity of the West uniting in a course that would be independent in thought and action and no longer cause us to be a mere echo of the East. It was decided that the Governor call the meeting to order at the Opera House at 11 o'clock. The Governor stated that he would be glad to act as temporary Chairman but could not act in any other further capacity, as he was obliged, in accordance with law to sit daily on the State Board of Equalization. He would like to see a farmer act as permanent Chairman. The name of Hon. James Haines of Douglas was suggested, but the gentleman said he would rather see the choice left to the Convention. Several resolutions and orders of business were discussed, but nothing regularly adopted, and it was decided to give them to the various committees merely as suggestions, as the gathering wished it to be understood that they desired to indulge in nothing which would seem like dictating a policy to the Convention. Adjourned.

A Tribute From Harrison. The President could not be present at the unveiling of Grant's statue in Chicago, but he sent the following by letter: "He was a tower of strength and confidence. In the crisis of our civil war he redeemed the failures of others, revived the courage of the faint and disheartened, gave confidence to a matchless army, and received in return its unshaken faith, revealing to his soldiers their invincible power. He more than any other leader of the war realized that when our army paused to recruit and reorganize the opportunity was given to the enemy to do the same. If his battalions were shattered and weary he did not forget that the enemy's were in as bad or worse plight, and followed and struck."

Notwithstanding that the Silver State has been scorched by fire it comes up smiling once more and remarks: With this issue the Silver State enters upon volume XXXIX or the twentieth year of its issue as a daily. We believe that this State and particularly Humboldt county, has a future, and our efforts will always be directed toward its development. Though young in the journalistic field we are not too old and are willing to learn, and will do the best we can. Our new Cambell cylinder press has arrived here and been placed in position and the paper will appear in an entire new dress in a few days.

Elstner's Ambition. The Reno Gazette says: It is reported that Col. M. R. Elstner is about to receive as his share of an English estate the neat little sum of two million dollars. It comes through Roger de Raines, one of the followers of William, Duke of Normandy, when he, the conqueror, invaded England—the Colonel being a lineal descendant of the said Raines. Just as soon as the money comes into Elstner's hands, it is his purpose to invest $50,000 in a simon pure Democratic journal at Carson. Let the "Pubs" stand from under.

CAN WE MAKE IT RAIN?

Experiments So Far Look Encouraging. General R. G. Dyrenforth, a scientist of some note, has been making experiments in the rain producing business under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture. The amount appropriated by Congress for the experiments was $2,000, and this was expended in the arid region of Texas. General Dyrenforth, in an article under the above head in the North American Review, describes the method of procedure of the expedition and the result of three experiments. The first was on the 9th of August at Midland, a small station on the Texas & Pacific Railway, situated on the prairie plains of Texas. The weather was clear, and the barometer stood at its normal height at 7 p. m. on the 9th. At noon on the 10th clouds began to gather directly over the ranch where the experiments were conducted, and during the afternoon and evening a heavy rain fell—nearly two inches—transforming the roadways into rushing torrents, and every hollow of the prairie into a small lake. The next important operation was on August 18. The morning dawned clear and beautiful, and during the afternoon and evening a heavy rain fell—nearly two inches—transforming the roadways into rushing torrents, and every hollow of the prairie into a small lake. The final operation of the experiments was begun at 11 a. m. on the 25th of August. The sky was clear, except for a very few light scattered cumulus clouds, which were estimated by movements of balloons to be at a height of two and a half miles. Seven balloons were sent up and exploded at a height of one thousand feet, but the larger balloons were exploded at altitudes of from one to three miles. At 11 p. m. firing ceased, and at 3 a. m. heavy rolling thunder was heard, and an hour later rain began to fall in torrents, and the country over many hundred square miles received the most thorough watering it had had for three years. In the opinion of General Dyrenforth the experiments clearly demonstrate that concussions from explosions exert a marked effect upon the atmospheric conditions in producing or occasioning rainfall; and that when the atmosphere is in "breathless" condition—which is frequently the case in most arid regions, without any rain resulting—rain can be caused to fall almost immediately by jarring together the particles of moisture which hang in suspension in the air. This result was repeatedly effected during the operations, the drops sometimes commencing to fall within twelve seconds from the moment of the initial explosion. Altogether, considering the great difficulties under which they labored, the results of their first experiments were exceedingly gratifying and encouraging to the advocates of the theory that rain can be produced at will by artificial means.

A Good Company. CARSON, NEV., Oct. 8, 1891. J. D. KERSEY, Agent Northwestern Masonic Aid Association—Dear Sir: It affords me pleasure to acknowledge the promptitude of the Northwestern Masonic Aid Association in paying the sum of $8,500 insurance on the life of my father, T. D. Edwards, late deceased. The Company paid the above loss within thirty days after receiving the proofs of death, and is entitled to a general favorable consideration for its fairness. DWIGHT EDWARDS.

Kersey & Yerington have plenty of this same kind of insurance, and the man who holds a policy never strikes it amiss. o9

There is no Secret About your buying shoes to advantage. You may not know any more about the quality of leather than you do about a lost comet but that is no reason why you should get "stuck." Either you get your money's worth or you don't and if you don't it is your own fault. We are in the shoe business because we happen to know something about shoes and leather. It is "bread and butter" to us, therefore we make it a STUDY. Of the knowledge you get as much benefit as though you possessed it yourself for we place it entirely in your disposal and if you think that other houses can quote lower prices than we do, come and look at the goods and at prices. We will put our time against yours and we feel confident that the result will be a mutual benefit. J. L. Burlingame, OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE, CARSON, NEV.
