

THE LAWYERS' TRADE.

A writer in the Overland monthly puts forth a good idea as to a method of reforming the administration of the law. The delays, vexations and miscarriages of justice could be reduced to a minimum he thinks, if attorneys were paid by the State to assist the courts to get at the truth of things instead of being paid by litigants to pervert the truth, befog the court, hoodwink juries and in general to misdirect the course of justice. He would have neither litigant represented in court by a lawyer.

The above appearing in a first class magazine may be taken as a correct statement regarding the legal fraternity.

It does not follow that all lawyers are like those described by the Overland, but it is an unmistakable fact that such men are allowed to carry on their nefarious trade, and as long as a bar association allows them to retain their membership the class must be judged by the few.

A few months ago the Appeal published a full account of a lawyer in this city who was shown in open court to have threatened a man with social exposures if he did not keep a witness off the stand. He succeeded in accomplishing his object although he earned the contempt of every honest lawyer in this State.

No attempt has ever been made to debar him and he still is a member of the Nevada Bar Association.

How long this State of affairs will last no one can tell. As long probably as bar associations lack the nerve to keep their organizations decent.

The Girl Won.

One seldom sees a young girl going into court and asking damages for slander. No matter how foul may be the slander she generally has friends who advise her to keep out of court.

Recently a young lady in Stockton named Daniels was outrageously slandered by a wealthy man in that city named M. J. Church.

She brought the whelp before a jury; he was unable to substantiate any of his allegations and she got a verdict for $25,000.

A new organization is to be formed in Providence, R. I., at once, the primary object of which is to put a stop to fraudulent and questionable pensions, and to expose those who have already been granted. The promoters of the new organization will style themselves the Old Guard. Eligibility to membership in the Old Guard will consist, first, of membership in good standing in the Grand Army of the Republic, and secondly, of not less than thirty months' actual service either in the army or the navy.

Two hoodlums attempted to ravish an old lady in Virginia on Tuesday evening. The Enterprise withholds the names of the scoundrels out of regard for their family connections. It is a mistaken courtesy to have any regard for the family connections of rape fiends, and any journal that does so places itself in the questionable position of condoning such infamous affairs.

What is the matter with Nevada poultry raisers? A car-load of chickens passed eastward yesterday morning from the East. It seems that we who are situated so near California ought to be able to compete with the Middle States in this industry. The poultry business in America is immense and when well conducted is a profitable one. —Journal.

Mary E. Ballanger, a handsome French-Canadian brunette of attractive of appearance, and a brilliant conversationalist, has shed Robert Crasswell, owner of rich timber lands in the State of Washington, valued at $2,000,000 for attempted seduction at Montreal, and asks for $100,000 damages.
