Len Litchberger, of Gold Hill, a brother of Mrs. Osgood of this city, has lost his reason, his physician says through cigarette smoking, but the boy was bitten three times by a dog recently, and as blood poisoning set in, it was probably partly the cause of his misfortune. Mrs. Osgood went to Virginia yesterday morning. As she was just out of bed from a severe attack of the gripp it was necessary to take her to the depot in a carriage.

Bidding for the foreign vote is still the smooth play of the politicians. But not in some years has there been such a disgusting exhibition of it as when Mayor Grant of New York knelt in public and kissed the hand of Archbishop Carrigan. The Mayor of an American city who makes such an insufferable ass of himself in public should be kicked by every honest American. The Irish whose votes he is fishing for must naturally despise him as much as anybody.

A Cruel Act.

Palefaced Harry, in whose place a dog's tail was cut off a few days ago by Harry Lowden, a drummer, will enter a complaint against Lowden. The tail was cut off close to the body and the dog nearly bled to death.

THE NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.

An Ormsby Taxpayer Expresses His Views.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE APPEAL:—The old scheme of two years ago is being started up again by some of our most enterprising and go-ahead citizens, but neither a producing nor taxpaying element. This question should be settled as soon as fully understood by those most interested. We had an investigation by expert carpenters and builders of the school house over two years ago, and of late a Grand Jury report, but all that report and newspaper comment on the new building is a one-sided opinion. I would like to express an opposite opinion; an opinion based on honest conviction of actual facts, free from any motive of personal interest whatever. The public interest and universal good is my motive. It is as easy to exaggerate as to underestimate, therefore don't take the report of expert builders or the report of the Grand Jury as true when you consider the personal interest at the bottom of it. I ask my readers to give my proposition consideration and understand my opinion is based on prudence and policy, and I am not in favor of neglecting our school house; on the contrary, I say promote every opportunity to educate children. Every other public improvement, theaters, the fair grounds and buildings, even churches should stand back and give the school house the preference when occasion requires it. In the article in your morning contemporary, the writer says there is no other way than forthwith to build a new structure; the cost should not figure in the matter at all, and no matter how high taxes may be, too much money can't be spent on a school house. Such a view, considering the present condition of our city government, is simply wild. It cannot come from any citizen with a view to the future prosperity of our taxpaying population, financially considered, nor have any of the agitators from the start given the least consideration to the present embarrassing condition of our city finances. Our business men can scarcely maintain themselves. Expenses have to be cut down on every hand, and any of them would sell out at a sacrifice. But no one wants to settle down in this city or State with such prospects ahead. This position is not overdrawn, but is a fact, and the new school house agitators would, in the face of this, run the city with $50,000, perhaps $60,000, still further in debt. The argument made by them, that to build fine public buildings will draw outside capital to settle down with us, is folly. New enterprises will keep away. This making a blind show of nice buildings in a city with borrowed money is bad policy, as is fully shown by the over-enterprising citizens of Reno, who took this way of attracting settlers. They now can scarcely raise the interest due on mortgages, and I am told that over half of its real estate is mortgaged. Therefore your citizens and taxpayers would like to see public improvements most carefully considered, and if it could be done, be considered and acted upon only by the taxpayer who is responsible for the public debt. If an investigation of the present school house could be made by a committee of taxpaying citizens with the advice and recommendation of some of our practical carpenters and builders, a fair and impartial investigation would, in my opinion, result in a different report to those innocent followers, who now favor the idea that nothing else can be done to relieve the present condition of the school house but to spend $60,000 or more, and who also are made to believe that such amount will give everybody employment. Past experience has taught us differently. If such a project should go through, architects with costly plans and specifications, a Superintendent of Construction, (someone from San Francisco, or some other outsider), will get the contract, as our local carpenters and builders will necessarily be barred from any bid on such a job; hence the contractor and his skilled and unskilled labor, will come up here with their blankets and do the work, while our mechanics and laborers will idly look on, and the contractors and managers will get away most of the money. I say wait until the outlook warrants and justifies such an outlay of money and our population increases. I am told that there are not as many children from one to five years old by twenty per cent. in our district as there were five or six years ago, and prospects indicate a still further decrease. If a large and imposing school house is built, in five years from now, unless times improve there will be but few children to occupy it.

LICENSE COLLECTING.

Figures Showing what the Sheriff Has Done.

During the quarter ending April, 1st 1892, Sheriff Botsford has collected in county license $4,342. In city license $1,695. This is the largest amount collected in either the city or county in the first quarter of any year, in the history of the county.

There is now only $2.50 outstanding in city or county, and this is due from a man who refuses to pay because he proposes to legally test the ordinance.

The largest amount ever collected before on the first quarter of any year was $3,595 in 1889 and for city licenses $1,481 in 1889.

These figures speak so well for the work of the Sheriff's office that no further comment is necessary.

John Dillon.

"Wanted the Earth," with John Dillon in the leading role, will be the attraction at the Carson Opera House, Wednesday evening, April 3rd. The piece is a conceit abounding in keen wit, and is a very severe satire on the whims and foibles of the modern society world. It abounds in whimsical and mirth-provoking situations, and it from beginning to end is a very amusing affair. John Dillon is, of course, the head and front of the whole piece. As Jay D. Smith and later on as Jason De Smythe he is said to be very funny and to succeed in making things decidedly warm for those who mingle with him in either a business or social way. Mr. Dillon's wit is always original, and his satire on the society burlesque of the day must be excruciatingly funny.

Benton's Liniment.

Which has been used in Carson for over twenty-five years, has saved many an ache and pain to those who know it. It is really intended for horses but works with the same magical effect on the human. It is a powerful remedy and for rheumatism is the king of the world. Aches knocked out in short order. No horseman should be without a bottle.

Benton's Liniment for sale at all drug stores.

There will be a special sale of hand-made Indian baskets from the St. Regis Indian tribe, at Cagwin & Notoware's during the next 30 days.

Pasturage.

Having leased the ranch of John P. Sweeney near Carson city, I propose to pasture cows from the 1st day of April at the rate of $2.50 per head per month. This ranch is well watered and contains about two hundred acres of alfalfa and timothy. I have been the lessee of Mr. Kirman's ranch for years on the Penitentiary road but it is unfit for pasturage, as the contents of all the sewers in Carson as well as from the Prison lodge upon the premises. Stock will be driven from and returned to the city daily.
