Miss Stella Mayhugh departed for Stanfords last evening.

Nevada must get in line and make a big exhibit at the Mid-Winter Fair.

It only takes one cent to subscribe to the Tribune fund, and the money is slowly coming in.

Miss May Reade, of Franktown, was married in San Francisco on the 27th, to Edward A. Bigley.

The result of the passage of the Wilson Bill is that Silver clubs and Populist clubs are forming all over the country.

Conductor Joe McCormack, who has been on a month's vacation, took hold of the punch on the passenger again yesterday morning.

The Congressional Record, that comes to hand now, is a very bulky volume. It is loaded down with statistics and silver speeches.

A good many tobacco users are taking the Keeley cure for inordinate use of the weed. It only costs $5, and it is a complete success.

All persons having claims against Ormsby county are requested to present them to the County Clerk before three o'clock this afternoon.

Eddie Freeman of Reno, the 9-year-old son of Andy Freeman, an engineer on the V. & T. died a few days ago from eating wild prasnips.

Rev. Geo. C. King, who is on his way to his charge at Fall River, will stop over and preach for the Carson people Sunday evening. Everybody invited.

A man in Willamina, Oregon, has invented a hay press that presses two bales at once. It is a self-feeder and will bale straw as it comes from the thrasher.

An exchange says that one pint of buttermilk in which a well beaten egg is stirred will break up a fever in half an hour, if the fever is not too long standing.

No American writer in years has made such an impression on the reading public as the author of Ben Hur. His latest work is "The Prince of India." It is for sale at Fox's.

In July seven patients were admitted to the insane asylum, in August just ended none. There has been only one death at the asylum in seven months, though there are 191 patients.

W. H. Gould of Reno died recently of blood poisoning. He handled the carcass of an animal that had died of blackleg, inflammation set in and death resulted. He was a leading citizen of Reno.

The case of Kimball and Wardell vs. Hamlin & Cook, at Hawthorne, the beginning of the week, resulted in the jury disagreeing. The plaintiffs had some ore worked in the arasta of the defendants and claimed that the returns were $3,300 short.

No, I brought up the C. P. Directors car yesterday. It left last evening having aboard the Mexican Minister to Washington and wife, President Diaz's son and Director Cisneros of the C. P., all of whom came down from the Lake last evening.

Miss Emma Kitzmeyer, her brother Harry Kitzmeyer and Master George Kitzmeyer arrived on the train yesterday morning. The party has been on a four month's visit to the Palms, Cal. They helped harvesting fine crops of grain, but the farmers realize nothing over their expenses, and they feel as blue as the silver men in Nevada.

Will Look After it.

The Sacramento Bee says: "The State Board of Health has received information that cholera immigrants were bound to this coast. The immigrants were allowed to pass, after having been first quarantined and examined. It may be, though, that a delayed case of cholera may have broken out among these immigrants subsequently. The State Board of Health has therefore made arrangements to have these immigrants met before they reach the State line, and they will be subjected to a thorough inspection."

What is the Nevada State Board of Health doing in the meantime? Probably the Health officers can answer this question.

THE TRIBUNE FUND.

Some of the Cash that Come in Yesterday.

Yesterday was a lively day for the Tribune Fund. As soon as the community realized that the paper was in distress, we felt assured that it would come to the front and subscribe liberally.

To show how deep the feeling is the following letter is published:

ED. APPEAL: Dear Sir:—I see by the morning paper the Tribune is in distress in raising a dollar for the Bartine Fund, and contributions of a cent will be accepted to help the Tribune out, so I send one cent for the Tribune Relief Fund. I think everybody should help the good cause.

Yours Truly,

A SUBSCRIBER

Episode of the House.

A laughable incident occurred in the House last Tuesday. As soon as the journal had been approved John M. Allen of Mississippi arose to a question of privilege. The Speaker asked him to state his question.

"Representative Shell of South Carolina was knocked down by a cable car last night and nearly killed," said Mr. Allen, "and I want to ask the gentleman from West Virginia, Mr. Wilson, who has charge of the Bepeal-of-the-Sherman-Act bill, what he thinks about it."

Not more than a half a dozen members of the House knew that Mr. Shell had been injured, and the question of whether Allen was in order went unchallenged.

"I did not know that Mr. Shell had been hurt, and am sorry to learn of the fact, but I do not see how what I might think of the matter can be turned into a question of privilege," was Mr. Wilson's reply.

"Representative Shell is a free silver man," said Mr. Allen.

"I cannot see how there could possibly be any relation between the fact that Mr. Shell was injured and his position on the silver question," Wilson responded.

"Representative Oates of Alabama was so severely injured on the same car line about two weeks ago that he has been unable to leave his bed."

Wilson made no reply, probably for the reason that he did not know what to say.

"Representative Oates is a free silver man."

Still Wilson made no answer.

"My colleague, Mr. Hooker, was so seriously injured on the second day of the session by the same line of cars that he is scarcely able to walk, and he also is a free silver man."

"All that I can say about the matter," said Mr. Wilson, "is that the injuries of three free silver Representatives by the same line of cars were merely fortuitous coincidences. That, it seems to me, is the only explanation that can be given of the matter."

Mr. Allen: "Every share of stock in this line is owned by a gold-bug."

A New Party.

Denver, Col., Sept. 1.—A call for a meeting to organize a free silver and free trade party was issued yesterday. It is signed by many of the leading Republicans and Democrats of the city, and the convention will be held at Coliseum Hall Thursday afternoon. Several informal conferences were held yesterday and the feeling was generally in favor of the formation of a new party whose planks, besides free trade and free silver, shall be Western rights and anti-monopoly and retaliation.

Leading Republicans, politicians of this city, were seen and none of them were opposed to the party idea. Until the question of establishment of this party is settled no action will be taken toward calling the Republican County convention. There is no doubt the organization will be brought into existence.

Beer Sets a Barrel.

Who would have supposed that beer in Carson would ever sell for 5 cts. a barrel.

Yesterday the Wieland Company determined to carry the war into Africa began selling beer at 5 cents a barrel, and it can still be had at Wieland's saloon at those figures.

The barrels are of glass and about three inches high; everybody calls for them.

All kinds of stationery at John G. Fox's. Also books and jewelry. j26

COAST NEWS.

Alfred Bissonett, a farmer living in the foothills above Lockford in San Joaquin county, was robbed by a stranger whom he picked up on the road and had given a ride. The stranger, at the end of a pistol, forced the delivery to him of $125.

Mrs. Leland Stanford has been a visitor to her Vina estate for a few days past. It is reported that some changes will take place in the management of the great vineyard and winery. Seventy-five men were laid off a week ago, and it is said the force will be still further reduced.

Anti-Chinese excitement is rampant in the vicinity of Redlands-Chinese in different parts of the valley were driven from the ranches Tuesday night. One was robbed of $200 and several of smaller sums. An open-air meeting was held at Redlands last night, led by imported agitators.

W. J. Thompson, a negro and a plumber, has sued John Crofton, a wealthy rancher in the southern part of Sacramento county, for $10,000 damages. The trouble originated in work done by Thompson, which was unsatisfactory to Crofton. Inhuman treatment is charged, with threats to kill.

Large vineyardists in Fresno are trying to cut wages to 75 cents a day. The Chinese realize the situation and one crew which had been engaged at $1 25 a day struck for $1 35. This is taken as an indication that these people will not underbid white men for work and that wages will not fall lower than at present.

Prior's Hose Coupler.

The test made of Jack Prior's hose coupler was a very successful one.

It was attached to the Mint plug, where the pressure was 120 lbs., and in the center of a 50-foot length of Eureka hose to the end of which was attached a pipe mounted with a 1/2-inch nozzle.

It did not leak a drop and stood more than the test to which it will be ordinarily subjected. The chief claim of the coupler is that it can be adjusted in a second.

It snaps together with two clamps working with springs and a stationary rubber cup on the inside, is pressed close by the pressure of the water. Thus doing away with the use of spanners, loose washers and threads.

It can also be uncoupled in a second by releasing the clamps.

Some one, who evidently desired to give the coupler a black eye, loosened the cup and bent back one of the clamps so that it did not work.

In spite of these drawbacks it held itself in place with one clamp and when the hose was kinked between the nozzle and the coupling, a full head of water was shot into the hose, the result of which was the bursting of the hose about five inches back of the coupling toward the hydrant, proving that Jack's invention was all that he claimed it to be and gave entire satisfaction to all who witnessed the test. Not a sign of leakage could be found from the coupling during the entire trial.

This invention will be of great use in large cities where rapid coupling and uncoupling is necessary.

It does away with the old slow screw coupling, and will enable firemen to work much faster.

A single test will demonstrate its great utility.
