

A NATIONAL SILVER PARTY.

The initial steps for the organization of a Free Coinage National party are being taken and a conference for the purpose is being held in Washington. Prominent Republicans, Democrats and Populists are uniting in the movement and it is promised support in all parts of the country. The full particulars of the movement have not yet been received, but it is known that General Warner, Congressman Bland and others have agreed to support the movement. The principal plank of the platform will be free coinage, and many, if not all, the issues which have tended to repeal, rather than attack, the conservative element of the country will be eliminated.

This is a move in the right direction. It is seldom that even one important measure of great interest to the public passes at a session of Congress and if there are a dozen or more such propositions before Congress at once none of them become crystallized into law. It took years of agitation to restrict Chinese immigration. It was almost as difficult to educate the people east of the Missouri on that question as it is to get them to see the evils resulting from the demonetization of silver. For the last twenty years, in fact since the closing of the Mints to silver in 1873, the financial question has been agitating the country. Both the Republicans and Democratic parties have pretended to favor in their National platforms, but experience has proven that it makes no difference which party is in power free coinage is kept in the background. The new organization, it seems, proposes to deal with one important question at a time and will make its principle fight for free coinage. When that is settled satisfactorily another question will be taken up, discussed and settled until prosperity is restored to the country.

THE PROBATE BILL.

Noel's bill to reframe the probate laws of this State ought to pass if it takes a hundred days to consider it. Under the present laws widows and orphans are robbed by the lawyers, who under the guise of professional service as lawyers, take every dollar that is left by the deceased. Under the present laws they do things which ought to keep them ten years in the penitentiary cracking rock, but its all legal and they still move about among their fellow men looking for new victims.

We need some law to check the robberies of these rascals, men who betray the most sacred trust. It is a question of the greatest importance, and the admission of a member of the House yesterday that some lawyers had told him it wasn't a good bill, is the strongest argument in its favor.

As a specimen of the exasperating delay in settling estates, attention is called to the Cobb estate. He died about a year ago, and a few weeks before his demise, told half a dozen people that he thanked God he was out of debt. The sum of $5000 cash was left his wife in the shape of life insurance. The companies paid in the money and although he has been dead nearly a year, his wife and heirs have received but about $300, and the rest of the cash is lying in the banks. By the time the legal red tape is through with, most of the present generation will be gray headed.

The people will watch the men who vote "no" on the measure.

THE ANTI SHEEP BILL.

The press of the State has begun to jump on the anti-sheep bill. It might be well to consider the bill a little first, and also investigate the reasons for passing such a bill. The sheep men claim that the bill will injure the wool industry of Nevada. The fact of the matter is that the wool industry of the State is not a large industry, and the sheep men insist on using their neighbors lands to graze on. There are sheep men in this State who do not own over 100 acres of land, yet they graze on thousands of acres owned by cattle men, who are unable, unless at great expense, to fence their possessions against the raids of big flocks of sheep that come in and devour everything in sight.

Sheep men also come in from California, and without paying a cent for license and tax on pasturage, roam over the hills and plains at will, and when they have passed, the grass has to grow again before the cattle can graze. Under these peculiar circumstances it would seem proper to so regulate the sheep industry, that other industries can also make a living in the State.

No Good.

The Appeal says it considers the Capitol City Commercial College, of Topeka Kansas, as unreliable, and warns its contemporaries against the fraud. In the same line the TRIBUNE will mention that it received private advices yesterday to the effect that there is no foundation on which to base credit.

How They Voted.

The vote on the Woman Suffrage bill stood as follows:

Yeas: Allen (Eureka) Beals, Beck, Briggs, Conboie, Coryell, Crisler, Denton, Francis, Greenwood, Hall, Hogan, Leidy, McNaughten, Noel, Pitt, Stanley, Wieland, Wilson Total, 19.

Nays: Brockless, Constant, Court, Flannigan, Gorman, Murphy, McDonald, Newman, Russell, Speaker. Total, 10, 1 absent.

The APPEAL has received a circular from Nebraska calling for financial aid to the starving people of that State. There is but about three weeks food on hand. Drouth is the cause ascribed for the lamentable condition of the people. As a matter of fact the crops raised for years past has not brought the producer any returns, for the fact that the depreciation of silver has sent corn and wheat down to a point that it does not pay to raise. Yet these people after voting for a gold bug rule for years, now turn to a Silver State for relief. As for drought the State is laced with river and streams and if they don't know how to dam their streams and run irrigation ditches its high time they were taught. We sympathize with the suffering people of Nebraska but it seems as if they had brought much of their troubles on themselves.

The New York Evening Post argues that the gains of the London syndicate that took the last loan was not a loss to the United States. It was nothing to the United States, that queer journal says, whether the syndicate made a profit or suffered a loss. The fallacy of this assumption lies in the fact that the loss of credit implied in a high-rate bond is a national loss.
