 In view of the present weather there is talk of decreasing the price of ice cream for the next few days.
 Louis Hirschberg a well known bar keeper of Virginia City attempted suicide the other day in San Francisco.
 The funeral of Harry B. Haines took place yesterday in Genoa, and was attended by nearly everyone in the town.
 Vaughan the murderer is being tried in Winnemucca. The father of his victims attempted to shoot him in Court, but was prevented by the bystanders.
 Judge Mack is in Austin trying the case of the State vs. Alpheus Vaughn, indicted for the murder of the Litster boys. A panel of 137 jurors was exhausted without getting a jury.
 The Supreme Court has decided that Debbs will have to go to jail. This is a short and certain way to make Debbs a martyr and more popular than ever with the working classes.
 Arrangements are being made all over the country for Union and Confederate soldiers to hold Memorial Day services together, and each year witnesses more of this fraternal feeling between old soldiers.
 The jailing of Debbs and the release of the rich by the Supreme court in the Incometax ruling will be big factors for a discontented working class to feed on in the next campaign. It will roll a cool million votes into the Bimetallie party.
 The marriage of John F. Dangberg to Miss Georgia Beeding at Gardnerville on Monday last, drew a big crowd of the friends of the contracting parties to Gardnerville. The banquet at Fred Dangbergs was designated by all who attended as "a great spread."

The San Francisco papers show a vast amount of bad breeding by meddling with the private affairs of Lord Sholto. The fact that he has fallen in love with a girl, and is thinking of making her his wife, is nobody's business. If he was selling his title to some of the San Francisco 400, one can easily imagine the highly respectful attitude of the same papers who are now lampooning him. It looks as if society in San Francisco feel snubbed at his choice, and were trying to get even.

Pasturage.

John Sweeney is now prepared to take a number of horses and dry cows to pasture at $1 per month.

FOURTH OF JULY MEETING.

Patriotic Carson People Propose to Celebrate.

There was a rousing meeting last evening at the Court House to arrange for the 4th of July celebration. Hume Yerington, the Mayor, presided. Lawrence Elrod was elected Secretary. It was announced that the Virginia people would come down and assist. A dispatch was also received from the K of P. organization at Virginia to the effect that the order would probably hold their reunion in this city on the 4th.
 It was unanimously resolved that Carson celebrate.
 The chair appointed the following gentlemen on the Invitation committee: Messrs. Doyle, Livingston, Coffin, Tyrrell, Elrod and Governor Jones. On motion the chairman of the meeting was added.
 Messrs. Bender, Hofer and Kersey were appointed as a committee to select officers of the day. The chair asked for one day to select the executive committee and the Finance Committee.
 Meeting adjourned subject to call of the chair.

Working the Wires.

The following dispatch appears in the San Francisco Chronicle, relative to the mint scandal and is dated Reno:
 The detectives in the Carson Mint affair are evidently giving considerable consideration to the theory that the bullion which James Heney had worked at the Reno Reduction Works was not stolen from that Mint, but that he came into possession of it in a manner which it would be equally embarrassing and compromising to explain in a court of justice.
 The fact that the bullion worked here was of less fineness than Mint granulations, and the disappearance of Heney's brother, who is alleged to have disposed of considerable quantities of the same kind of bullion, renders it not improbable that the entire lot came from some source other than the Mint. It is stated that there are a number of circumstances and facts which strongly support this supposition.
 The coarse Italian hand of some interested party appears very plainly in the above. The testimony in the preliminary examination, showed that the granulations taken by Heney to Beck was of Mint fineness. The parties behind the dispatch evidently wishes to convey the idea to the outer world that no bullion at all has even been taken from the Mint.
 If the stolen bullion came from some source other than the Mint, the parties who know where it came from ought to explain the mystery in the next dispatch, and send the same from Carson and not mail it to Reno first. Probably they have been taught wisdom by the APPEAL's expose of the telegraphic leak, and have decided not to trust the Carson wires.

The Silver Plated Vctor.

"Of course you will vote for silver next year?"
 "You can put me down square and solid for the white metal."
 "Then you are for silver?"
 "Ah no I won't say that, I am for any good silver man the Republican party puts up."
 "But suppose the Republican party don't put up a silver man?"
 "Ah don't worry, we are going to put up the finest kind of a silver man."
 "Have you heard of any silver men seeking nominations on the Republican ticket?"
 "Plenty of 'em."
 "Name one?"
 "Can't think of one just now, but we are a silver party and don't you forget it."
 "Suppose your party puts no silver plank in their platform would you then vote the Bimetallie ticket."
 "I can't say what I'd do until after the powers had another international conference."
 "Bah."

The gold bug who argued with Harvey at Chicago on the silver question, opened his speech by borrowing a homily, but telling story that Abraham Lincoln first used in the Illinois legislature about the man who thought he saw a bear in a tree, but it was only a louse hanging to a hair in front of the observers eye. The gold men should be careful how they steal good stories from Lincoln, they had better by far reach out for some of the great man's ideas on the money question, Lincoln was a bimetalist from the ground up.
 It is said that the marriage of Joe Kelly the grocer to Miss Margaret Barrett, is the result of an attachment formed in childhood, when the two were pupils at the Orphan's Home. Such a romantic marriage as this ought to result in all sorts of good luck and happiness to the contracting parties.

A May Snow Storm.

Yesterday morning the inhabitants of Nevada were more than astonished on rising to behold a regular winter landscape. The earth was mantled with white and the trees bending to the earth under masses of moist snow. As the sun got loose from the morning clouds however the snow rapidly melted and the bending branches of the rees struggled to their old positions again, glad to be relieved of "that tired feeling," which had been bothering them. A good many big branches were broken with the weight of the moist snow and the city is strewn with the litter. Some of the branches were quite large and falling on houses and fences caused considerable damage. The poplar trees seemed to suffer the most and some of the elm trees in the Capitol square have their leaves shriveled up as if frozen.
 Grain and alfalfa was crushed flat, but after the snow disappeared braced up again, but the top of the alfalfa has a yellow look that the ranchers do not like.
 The young fruit did not seem to be damaged by the snow, but if the low temperature continues it is liable to be completely knocked out. The sudden cold spell following the very hot weather is something that the grandfather of the oldest inhabitant does not just now recall.

Government surveyors are again at work on the Nevada-California boundary, and now give out that this State will lose a strip of territory one and a half miles in width.
 If the U. S. Government keeps shaving strips off the side of Nevada we will soon be entirely annexed to California. That seems to be about what they are after.

It looks as if Superintendent Byrnes of the New York Police force had resigned to avoid an investigation. He has acquired great wealth in his term of service, and his term embraced the most corrupt era in the history of the force. Yet his friends are trying to make the public believe that he is alright.
 They have a saying in Germany that God knows everything, but that Emperor William knows it better. And that is what is the matter with Grover the Good in the United States of America. Grover hates to go to bed for fear that it will give the Lord Almighty a chance to run the world without him.

The people of Nevada realize at last that mines alone do not and can not make a State, although, they, like everything else, assist. For, our prosperity, for our continued progress, we must depend upon our farms, our cattle, our sheep, our hay, our barley and our wheat.

"Dinner! Dinner!!"

The ladies of the M. E. Church are canvassing the town to get all the good things to give the public next Thursday, May 30th, at Odd Fellows' Hall. They will give a hot dinner, ice cream, strawberries and cake, from noon until night. Dinner, 25c, berries and cream, extra. All are invited.
