

THE DAYS OF '49. To Be Portrayed at the World's Fair.

Mr. Albert Meyer, who has the concession to run the Forty-Nine Mining Camp at the St. Louis exposition, reached the city yesterday. He came all the way from St. Louis to investigate the attractions offered him on the coast and secure relics of the olden days in order to have the camp as realistic as possible.

He will spend about ten days in California "getting next" to things which will enable him to make the Forty-Nine camp the head quarters of the Pacific coasters. All the things which made life so attractive to the Forty-Niner will be there in such absolute fidelity to the genuine article, that the men who drop into the camp from this coast will think the hand of time has been turned back fifty years or more; and that the same dead camp with all its inhabitants has come to life.

Among other things he proposes to secure the genuine old stage coach that Frank Monk drove Horace Greeley to Placerville in and have a black sand talk with Doc. Benton about it.

Here are some of the features of the camp already determined on:

The entrance to the enclosure is through a giant redwood tree, and through which will be driven, by "Yuba Bill" himself, one of the famous pioneer coaches.

On the left is "Dew Drop Inn," a typical frontier hotel, with an old-time bar, its quaint signs and relics. A show man's license will be taken, however, and the restaurant and bar will be strictly first class in every way.

To the right will be the General Store, the Drug Store, Barber Shop and Chinese Laundry. The Chinamen are not peaceful citizens, and their frequent quarrels in front of the laundry, followed by the appearance of the sheriff of the town, will be one of the signals for the "Barker" to commence his version of the affair, the probable punishment to be meted out to the luckless Chinamen on the inside, and a description of the many attractions of the camp.

Directly in front of the entrance will be the Wells Fargo Express Office, with many interesting relics, and the Post Office, which will be a regular United States sub-station.

To the right will be seen the Dance Hall, where characteristic western dances will be given.

Immediately back of the Express Office will be the circus tent, and a regular old-time one-ring circus performance.

To the left and back of the circus tent, is the combination Town Hall, Church, School house and Theatre, where we again observe the same license in a really first class vaudeville entertainment.

Other buildings are the blacksmith shop, where souvenirs will be forged and sold; the Justice's Shop, where the recreant Chinamen and other offenders will be tried, the jail, where punishment will be meted out; the fire house; the publishing house of the "Daily Self-Cocker"; the Stables and Corral, where "bronco-busting" will be a feature, and where the stage coach will terminate its regular hourly trips down town; the cabins of John W. Mackey and George W. Perkins and James Marshall, containing many interesting relics of the life of these gentlemen before the discovery of gold.

To the right and left, at the back of the camp, the mountains commence to rise, and a placer mine will be in full operation. Back of all is a lake, out of which the foot hills rise and merge gradually into the crowning scenic effect, a reproduction of Mount Shasta, in the hazy distance.

The main attraction to the visitor, however, will be the free atmosphere and rough good humor of a frontier town, which is in marked contrast to any other concession on the Pike, and from a relaxation from many attractions whose justified claim for patronage lies in the artistic beauty of scenic effects alone.

Mr. Meyer has been taken in hand while here by Commissioner Yerington and Controller Davis, and is the guest of the latter while in Carson. He will leave for San Francisco this evening.

Mr. Meyer met Mr. Yerington while in St. Louis and spoke in glowing terms of the way he has begun to handle Nevada's interests there. Mr. Meyer met a good many citizens yesterday and all pronounce him all right. He is investing nearly one hundred thousand dollars to give the world a correct reflex of the Days of old, the days of gold; The days of Forty-Nine, and everyone on this coast who has the lure of those days in his memory and the pride of the pioneer, wish him every success in his undertaking.

The Roman Jockeys.

The excavations going on at the City of Rome are very interesting. They are now delving in the spot where the race track was situated. They find traces of the jockeys of the old days.

One of the professors who is superintending the work, writes:

I discovered on May 20, 1878, near the barracks of the greens, by S. Lorenzo in Damaso, the eulogy of a young rider of African extraction, named Crescens, engraved on a fine marble pedestal. This fellow of barely twenty-two had already gained—if not put aside—one million and a half of sesterii, a sum corresponding to $65,000.

The great Diocles, the prince of Roman jockeys, left to his son a fortune of one million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This is, manifestly, a remarkable case of thrift in a man belonging to a caste which had greediness, prodigality and debauchery for its characteristics.

A third rider, Aellus Gutta Calpurnianus, must also have laid by a colossal fortune judging from the magnificence of his mausoleum, the remains of which, discovered in 1878 on the Via Flaminia, form now one of the best ornaments of the Municipal Museum on the Caelian Hill.

Juvenal, the satirist, assures us that one of these low, vulgar fellows could make in a short season one hundred fold the income of a celebrated lawyer.

THE TONOPAH RAILROAD.

Philadelphia Capitalists Decide to Build It.

Private advices received from Philadelphia in this city yesterday, state that at the meeting of the Philadelphia capitalists interested in Tonopah, it was decided formally to build the railroad to Tonopah, a distance of sixty miles, connecting with the C. & C.

This is indeed cheering news for it will vitalize the camp as the V. & T. did the Comstock in the early days. Carson will feel the effect of the enterprise and indeed all Nevada will have reason to congratulate itself. The road is to be completed in six months after the contracts are let.

HAS MADE THE START.

Great American Tea Company 104 Carson Street.

O. E. Oatman, local agent for the Great American Tea Company has set an example that others will do well to follow. He has numbered his place of business. This is a move in the right direction, and one that may or may not be followed.

Mr. Oatman numbered the store on the way so of a couple of citizens and whether the store is numbered correctly or not, is of little consequence as it will take but a short time to right the error. Now that the start has been made, it would be well for all the business people along Main street to see that their places of business are correctly numbered. It will probably require an outlay of about twenty-five cents or less.

When this is completed, let the private residences be numbered and the streets marked. Carson is conceded by all to be one of the best laid out towns on the coast, and there is no reason why the streets should not be marked with very little expense. Let the City Trustees take action on this very important matter. What's the use of going to sleep? Let's awake from our slumbers and be progressive. A good way to start in is to mark and number the streets.

A BAD WALK

There are lots of things in Carson that need fixing but the worst of all is that side walk in front of the blacksmith shop opposite the Briggs House. If nothing else is done a "DANGER" sign should be immediately posted in a conspicuous place to warn the pedestrian, else the owners of the property may soon have a damage suit on their hands. The walk is a disgrace to that end of town in particular and the entire city in general. It would require a column to diagnose its ailments, but to the naked eye it is hump-back, knock-kneed, cross-eyed, bow-legged, corn sore bunion laden, and ingrown-toe malled.

The Band Minstrels.

On next Friday evening, the 16th, the Band Minstrels will introduce themselves to the public, and from what can be learned, the performance will eclipse anything of a like character that has been presented to the public in the amateur line. The first part will be entirely new and novel, the curtain rising on a very pretty lawn view, the end men alone being blackened. New voices will be heard, and the solos are entirely new, being the latest compositions.

The olio will be as interesting and entertaining as the first part and will include the popular little farce, "A Tip on the Derby," which has had several seasons of undoubted popularity in the large cities. It will be seen here for the first time at the Band Minstrels next Friday evening.

Off For New Fields.

Joe O'Brien, who has been employed at the J. E. Richardson store for the past three years, was a departure last evening for Loyaltan, Cal., where he will in the future reside. Joe has the best wishes of a large number of friends in this city, who wish him success in his new fields.

Funeral Notice.

The funeral of the late Mrs. R. E. Kelley will take place this afternoon at 2 p. m., from the Catholic church.

SOCIETY MEN

By reason of their eminence in social circles most necessarily be all that is perfect in matters sartorial. Their dress requirements are most exacting and are subject to the most rigid and critical inspection. Gentlemen whose social status call for the best in the tailor's art, together with strict exactness in the matter of style propriety, would do well to look into the merits of

"INTERNATIONAL" GARMENTS.

They excel in all those little points, without which, quality and workmanship, avail nothing. We show these complete line and take measurements.

A NUMBER OF SHOTS FIRED WITHOUT DAMAGE.

Last Monday morning at about 2:30 a number of shots were heard in the direction of Millerville. Upon investigation it was found that an Indian had fired twice at Jas. Moss, and the latter had returned the fire. All of the shots went wild and no damage was done.

About the time Moss was going to close the Golden Rule saloon for the night, Yellow Jim, one of the lesser stars of the defunct Blackhawk show company, entered, followed by an Indian. The latter was loaded for bear and had in his possession a jug of whiskey that the coon had purchased a short time before at the East Fork saloon. He asked Moss to open the bottle for him, but instead of complying with the request Jim grabbed the bottle and a hot struggle ensued, during which the contents were spilled. The Indian was then ordered away, but instead of going, showed a disposition to remain. He was at this time on the porch, and as Moss started towards him, the Washoe pulled a gun and fired two shots at him, both fortunately going wild. Jim had his shooting-iron in operation in an instant, but owing to the darkness his shots also missed their mark. The Indian then fled, but returned a couple of hours later, and attempted to gain an entrance through one of the saloon windows, but was frightened off by the proprietor.

During the scrimmage Yellow Jim made a hasty retreat to more congenial climes, and, in his haste, forgot to settle some bills he had contracted the day before.—Record.

A Graceful Act.

Last evening the Leisure Hour club of Carson were to have had their annual opening and supper in the annex of the Episcopal church.

Owing to the death of Mrs. Kelley, an ex-member of the club, whose remains were lying in the immediate vicinity, the club postponed the event.

Harry Gill was an arrival from Reno yesterday. He will be employed shingling on the Brougher mansion.

Jim Treadswill and Andy Hampell, the popular commercial travelers, passed through yesterday morning.
