With Proper Encouragement a Rare Performance will be Brought to This City

Carson City theatre goers have for some time been praying that the local opera house would be visited by that angel known as a "good show" and at last their wishes are to be gratified. Today it will be put up to them and their real sentiments on the matter will be discovered.

Manager Meder, of the Carson Opera House, is as anxious as any to bring high class productions to this city but, Carson being somewhat off the main line it is difficult proposition to secure an engagement with the best of them. For some time past, though, he has been in communication with Messrs. Wm. G. Colvin and Robert C. Mehahey, representing the Kane, Shipman and Colvin theatrical syndicate of New York City, and in response to his urgent messages the gentlemen arrived in this city yesterday to consider a date for the attraction which they represent, the firms best one, Albert Gallatin in "Cousin Kate."

"Cousin Kate" is probably the greatest comedy success that has been seen in New York for three years and in it Carson play lovers are assured of a rare treat. It is essentially a comedy and the wealth of happily conceived situations and witty phrases it contains are the source of a solid evening's entertainment of the highest order. But, while being a comedy, the play contains just the right amount of heart interest, and the love story running through it is conceded to be the prettiest ever written.

Miss Gallatin, though featured as the star of the play, is by no means the only star in the company, which contains such well known New York artists as Marion MacDonald, Mae Wells, Eleanor Walberg, Wilfred Roger, Cecil Magnus, to rightly entitle the company to the title of "all star cast," though it is not advertised in that way.

Manager Meder, captured the possible chance for an engagement by following the movement of the company throughout California where it was playing such important engagements as a week at the Columbia Theatre in San Francisco, a week at the Mason in Los Angeles, and also, Stockton and Sacramento. It is now on the way to Salt Lake and Denver where engagements will be filled at the Salt Lake Theatre and the Broadway, respectively, after which it returns to the east and New York City.

The success of Manager Meder's effort to bring the company here will be determined today as above stated by a subscription list, which will be circulated among as many of the representative people as is possible, requesting their patronage and learning in that manner whether or not an engagement in this city will be profitable. The "Cousin Kate" company is at a daily expense of over $300 and, though the gentlemen representing it are not unwilling to play here they desire a tangible evidence of sufficient patronage to warrant their coming. The list must contain from one hundred and twenty five names upward before a contract will be agreed upon, and in that event Friday evening February 2nd will be the date settled upon.

It is generally thought, by all who were interviewed upon the question yesterday, that there will be little trouble in securing a large and representative audience for the company, and it is to be hoped that Manager Meder will be assisted in every manner possible in his laudable effort to bring it to his Opera House.

Senator Nixon has been informed by the Navy department that two vacancies exist at the navy academy at Annapolis and he will make the nominations immediately after March 5, 1906.

The first examination will be held by the civil service commission at Reno, Nevada, on April 17, 1906, and the second and last will be held at Annapolis, Maryland, on June 19, 1906, under the supervision of the superintendent of the naval academy.

The height of candidates for admission shall not be less than 5 feet 2 inches, between the ages of 16 and 18 years, and not less than 5 feet 4 inches between the ages of 18 and 20 years; and the minimum weight at 15 years of age shall be 100 pounds, with an increase of not less than five pounds for each additional year or fraction of a year over one-half.

Candidates will be examined essentially in punctuation, spelling, arithmetic, English grammar, United States history, world's history, algebra through quadratic equations and plane geometry. Deficiency in any of these subjects may be sufficient to insure the rejection of the candidate.

Candidates that pass the physical and mental examinations will receive appointments as midshipmen, and become students of the academy. Each midshipman will be required to sign articles by which he binds himself to serve in the United States navy eight years (including his time of probation at the naval academy), unless sooner discharged.

After the incoming officers had been installed the hall was turned into a playground. Potato races, wood-sawing contests and other sports were enjoyed.

A delightful banquet was served, followed by dancing. One of the features of the evening was the presentation to Mrs. J. N. Reid, guardian neighbor, a handsome silver butter dish by the lodge as not only a token of appreciation on her services for the lodge, but as a memento of her silver wedding.

ALCAZAR BEAUTIES

Coming to the Opera House Wednesday evening January 31, 1906 is one of the strongest aggregations of its kind now appearing on the famous Empire Circuit of theatres. "The Alcazar Beauties," company, for such is the name of the offering, assures a rare treat for the patrons of the Opera House.

This company, under the personal direction of T. W. Dinkins, has appeared in all of the leading cities throughout the country and everywhere has met with universal praise and success from both press and public.

YON YONSON

Aside from its strength as a drama of natural incidents of contemporaneous life, "Yon Yonson" may lay claim to attention as an elaborate and picturesque production of much more than ordinary magnitude. All of the scenery used in the play was painted by the best artists, from sketches made in the great pine woods of the great Northwest. A series of rare and beautiful pictures is therefore represented. There are also several startling effects such, for instance, as the breaking of a log jam. The mechanical effects are all new and have been improved and elaborated over former productions. In fact, Manager P. J. Kennedy has left nothing within reason undone to make this the banner season for "the evergreen play" which comes to the Opera House on February 1st.

Among those seen in the cast the dialect play. The three leaders are Earl K. Mitchell, who will appear in the title role; Venie Atherton, who will again be seen in her inimitable rendition of the Widow Laffin and the others make up an exceptional strong cast, including Violet Holmes, Adelaide Boyd, Ida Warner, Julia Gilmore, Sydney Craveil, Kraft Walton, Clinton Maynard, E. H. Bender, L. H. Weimich, J. E. Mack, Geo. Warren and J. F. Powers

Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late Lena Adams was held yesterday upon the arrival of the remains from California on the morning train, accompanied by a number of sorrowing friends and relatives. The services were conducted by Rev. H. A. R. Ramsay. The interment was in the city cemetery. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Richard Andrews Killed at Wabuska.

Richard Andrews, a resident of the Comstock for many years where he was familiarly known as "Dickey Tough," was run over and killed by a freight train in the railroad yard at Wabuska, last Monday night. He was dragged some distance under the wheels and was mangled almost beyond recognition. He had been employed for several years on the Pea-rose ranch in Mason Valley. He was a native of England, aged about 60 years. The Chronicle is indebted to Robert Gracey for the foregoing item contained in a letter from his son who is operator at the Wabuska railroad office.—Chronicle.

Death of Mrs. F. W. Fairbanks.

Undertaker Kuhn, received a telegram from F. W. Fairbanks this morning stating that Mrs. Fairbanks died at Yerington last night and instructed Mr. Kuhn to meet the south bound train from Wabuska on its arrival at Dayton today to take charge of the body and arranged for the funeral at the latter place. Deceased's husband is publisher of the Lyon County Times.

The Innocent Maids

A good house greeted the Innocent Maids, which held the boards at the opera house last evening, and while the play is not the best that has appeared here this season the audience seemed to enjoy it, if applause is any criterion. One of the features of the evening was the illustrated songs, which were exceptionally good.
