Nervous Prostration the Cause of Jack Walls Death

Capt. Schatzline arrived from Tonopah last evening with the body of the late Jack Wall. From him it was learned that Jack was a physical wreck at the time of his death, and that this is the only cause that he can give for the rash deed.

Jack went to Tonopah with Frank Helm and from there to Goldfield. At the latter place a bed was secured and an attempt to rest. Mr. Wall was so nervous and excited that he did not sleep during the night and was up and down a score of times. The next morning he was in the same nervous condition.

From Goldfield the party went to Tonopah, arriving on the early morning train. Jack met a number of friends, but in spite of his endeavor to bear up it was evident that he was not himself and that he was completely wrecked by loss of sleep and nervous troubles. About noon he and Frank Helm started for Manhattan, taking the Rye Patch route, which is shorter, and they expected to drive to Baxter Springs that day. About 2 o'clock they came to the change station several miles below Rye Patch and stopped for dinner. Jack went into the place and partook of a part of his meal when he excused himself and went to the rig. In Mr. Helms valise there was a revolver which Jack took and walking behind the hill fired the fatal shot which killed him almost instantly. He knew that the revolver was in the grip, as Mr. Helm had taken it from under the seat and placed it in the valise as it was in the way. Nothing was said that indicated the contemplated suicide and Frank Helm was prostrated by the sudden ending of his companions life.

In Tonopah among his friends Jack gave expression to his great pleasure of going to the new camp and while he showed his nervous condition yet none of the many companions expected anything such as occurred.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be conducted by Carson Lodge, No. 1, F. & A. M., with escorts from the Eagles, Workmen, Woodmen of the World and Odd Fellows.

SCHWABS VISIT

His Aggressive Methods of Operating Will Be a Great Factor

The visit of Chas. M. Schwab and a large party of capitalistic friends this week is fraught with intense interest to the whole mining industry. Mr. Schwab is now the heaviest as well as one of the most fortunate investors in Southern Nevada, and has made for himself a warm place in the estimation of the mining public. He controls two of the largest mines—the Tonopah Extension and the Montgomery Shoshone. The first is at Tonopah and the second is at Bullfrog. The stock of the first company has advanced from par to $11 per share, and Montgomery-Shoshone can hardly be bought at any price.

But while these are his most important interests he has many others and some of these others are slowly coming into prominence. Some men say that Schwab is "lucky," and others that he has acquired the crest of the business because he is able to buy it. The fact seems to be that he has rightly earned all he has acquired in Nevada. He hired accomplished and wise engineers and has acted on their advice. He bought some properties which, in the eyes of mining men, were little better than wildcats and invested large sums of money in developing them and he has made mines of them.

His enterprise and activity has been an inspiration to others who have followed and are following his example. Schwab is now to Nevada what the Fairs, Floods and Mackays were in former days, but he is destined to far surpass their records. The Comstock with its record of production of $500,000,000, is to be forgotten through the production of double the amount in the various camps of the southern part of the desert state during the next few years.

Union Dance

There will be a Union dance given at Union Hall in Empire Friday evening, March 16, under the direction of the Empire Union No. 115.

The most popular music is to be furnished by the Misses Dempsey and a supper served during the intermission. Arrangements are being made for an all round good evening of pleasure. The tickets will be $1.50 which includes supper.

ANOTHER OLD CAMP

Marietta the Latest to Attract Eastern Capital

Marietta, a prosperous mining camp in Esmeralda county a quarter century ago but abandoned since 1880, is likely to come into prominence again, a Boston syndicate having secured an option on a majority of locations in the district. The late Dr. Webber owned a mine and mill in Marietta in the seventies and sunk a fortune there on account of failure to recover the ore values by the free milling process. The ore is hard as adamant and streaked with sulphurets and bears a strong resemblance to Italian marble. The camp is said to have a bullion production record of $4,000,000 in silver. The mill and buildings are now a mass of ruins and the only inhabitant is a former assayer for the Endowment company, who receives $25 per month from Borax Smith, the owner of the mine in the district. The camp is 25 miles southeast of Sodaville.

REWARD OFFERED

Slot Machine Thief Continues to Play his Trade

Some time ago the slot machine in Tom Heidenreich saloon was entered and the contents taken. No clew to the petty thief was obtained. Several nights ago Dick's saloon was entered and the machine robbed of the quarters. The same tactics were observed as in the first case, the back door was broken open and the machine has the back pried off with a jimmy or some instrument of this order. The amount taken in both cases was trifling and of the petty order. The success of the thief is apt to lead to some greater crime and the officers have endeavored to haul the gentleman into camp without avail.

A reward of one hundred dollars is now offered for the arrest of the party or parties who desire to rid this community of such a character.

Tea Postponed

The tea which was to be given by Messdames Miner, Anderson, Wood and Solomon at the Presbyterian lecture rooms Thursday, has been postponed on account of the funeral of the late J. A. Wall.

Strike Near Reno

A remarkable strike, within five feet of the surface, has been made by L. P. Cedarholm on Peavine mountain, fourteen miles northwest of Reno. In sinking a location shaft only five feet in depth had been obtained when Cedarholm broke into a shoot of wonderful rich ore and assays show values of 170.30 ozs. of gold and 47 oz in silver, or a total value of $3437.75 per ton.

Dick Kirman and Joe Short, were over from Reno yesterday in Dick's auto.

GROUND BROKEN.

Work on the New State Library Commenced Yesterday

Yesterday the work of breaking ground for the foundation for the new State Library began yesterday, in the rear of the Capitol building.

Burk Bros. and Shaff are the contractors. Hearing that a formidable petition against the site was about to be filed Mr. Shaff called on the Governor and asked if it were possible to have the building placed on the Main street. The Governor said that he had always favored the Main street as a site and still favored it. Controller Davis was called on and replied in the same having always voted to have the site on the Main Street. The hour being late the other members of the Board were not in their offices. The petition will be filed with Board today. It will be a very large one and it will be urged that the reason of the building being on the Main street arises from the fact that Clarence Mackay has donated a magnificent work of art to the State.

It is hoped that under the circumstance any property holder in this city would be quite willing to sell the land to the State and wait for the relief bill from the next legislature.

It was rumored last night that the contractors would stop work on the present site until the Board could be called together to act on the propositions treated in the petition.

A Nevada Girl in New York

Nevada people who like to hear of the success of any Nevadan in the East, will be glad to learn something of Miss Lillian Danworth, a Co. stock girl, the daughter of Col. Danworth who was connected with the installation of the cable system of the Con Virginia and Combination shaft.

She is now Mrs. Olin Eakins being married to the Vice Council General of the United States in India. Her collection of India shawls and relics from the land of mystery and occultism are considered the rarest and costliest in New York. Her head, which is a remarkable type of beauty has been done in bronze and her arms have been reproduced in marble in more than one sculptors studio. Miss Firman, the miniature painter, selected her face to reproduce for one of her art exhibits, she is a social favorite in New York and a leading light in the Studio Club.

There must be something in our Nevada climate that produces the right type of women.

Mrs. George Paul has sold to the Giroux company a group of mining claims at Ely, White Pine county, for $88,000 cash.

The alleged discovery of ore assaying 417 ounces of silver per ton, 25 miles northwest of Pioche, is causing a stampede from the latter place.

The tax levy in Washoe county for this year is fixed at $2.50 on each $100 of assessed valuation, a reduction of two cents below last years rate.

J. A. Marshall of Sacramento claims to have discovered a chemical process whereby three times the value of fire assays can be recovered from ore.

Jim Coleman locator of the Cyrus Nols mine at Searchlight, Lincoln county, traded it for a bottle of whisky of that brand and the property was afterwards sold for $150,000.

The jury in the case of Peter Schaeffer, tried in the district court at Esmeralda on a charge of murder returned a verdict of not guilty. The Sentinel says the verdict is generally condemned.
