ON DIT.

....The revenue business in the Custom-House will be moved into the large central hall or rotunda on Saturday.

....The employees of the Custom-House are anxiously awaiting an order from Rex, relieving them from duty Mardi Gras.

....Why don't the managers of our several places of entertainment give the people a free matinee Mardi Gras, as they did two years ago?

....Every rumor started from the neighborhood of Carnival Palace indicates that the Rex parade will be very magnificent, even more so than at the last display.

....There were a good many gentlemen whose business kept them late at the office on Thursday night, and they couldn't get to Momus' ball until long after midnight. That's what they said, but their lady friends regarded them very suspiciously for all that.

....It has been suggested that, if it were not asking too much, Momus follow Comus with his Knights on Mardi Gras night. This would materially increase the beauty of the Carnival and please thousands who have not yet arrived. What says Momus?

....Don't forget the Fair Grounds this afternoon. Remember that Gov. Hendricks, of Indiana, will deliver an address at 3 o'clock. He is one of the most prominent men of the National Democratic party, and his views are of importance just at present.

....The entries for the trotting race and the running race of one mile at the Southern Industrial and Agricultural Exposition will close at the superintendent's office, on the Fair Grounds, this afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Pools will be sold on both events at Hawkins' Club-Room, 183 Common street, to-night, at 7 o'clock.

....Already the arrivals at our hotels and private boarding-houses have been so great that those in search of accommodation, unless they reach our city at an early day, will find themselves in the vocative. From present appearances there can be no doubt but what the Crescent City will be overflowing with people on Mardi Gras.

BOYTON'S BATH.

His Hundred Mile Trip.

As has been published, Paul Boyton, of world-wide notoriety in the art of flotation, started up to Biyou Gouls for the purpose of taking his hundred mile trip down the muddy waters of the Mississippi.

After taking the water everything went along smoothly until he arrived opposite Donaldsonville, where huge bonfires awaited him, and the citizens turned out en masse to invite him ashore to partake of their hospitalities, which invitation had, of course, to be refused.

Lower down Mr. Boyton was caught in an eddy, where he remained some two hours, all of his efforts failing to extricate him before the lapse of that time. Further on, meeting the steamer Thompson Dean, his trip almost proved his last one, for the pilot of the boat seeing the signals of the launch accompanying Boyton, did not observe him, and he came in rather a dangerous proximity to the steamer's wheels.

Some time before 5 o'clock crowds began to gather on the wharves and shipping in front of our city to witness his passage down, and a little later fully three thousand persons assembled at the foot of Canal street, awaiting the arrival of the Professor, among whom fully one-half were ladies.

At 5:30 P. M. he appeared, followed by his launch, opposite the ferry wharf, and the Natchez fired a gun as a salute to his successful accomplishment of his tedious and difficult voyage.

When Mr. Boyton was assisted out of the water by those in charge of the police boat, he seemed very much fatigued, and showed some evidences of exhaustion.

He stated that he suffered more during the trip from the blazing sun in his face and the numerous eddies in the river than he did in his passage from Dover to Calais, across the English Channel.

It is proposed by many admiring friends from St. Louis and other cities to give the professor a benefit at the St. Charles Theater at an early day, on which occasion he will relate his past perilous experiences in the water.

A ROYAL HORSE.

With all men of good taste a beautiful horse ranks next to a beautiful woman, and some men there are who lavish a world of affection and care upon their noble and intelligent horses.

We were attracted yesterday on entering Eyrich's bookstore, No. 139 Canal street, by a painting of a horse which, on examination, we found to be a portrait of that best of all the sons of the illustrious Lexington, Tom Boling.

The painting is regarded as a work of art, truly admirable, and the subject one that was well worthy of the artist's best endeavor.

Well may Col. McGrath be proud of Tom Boling, for no more grand-looking, graceful, powerful and game horse ever brushed the dew from the blue grass of Kentucky. A superb head, well poised upon a proudly arched and well-set neck, with shoulders and limbs suggestive of tremendous power; eyes full of expression and intelligence, and ears small, delicate and erect—make up the picture of this famous horse, whose time at two miles, 3:27, has never been equaled, and will hardly be surpassed in our time. Tom Boling is by Lexington, dam Lucy Fowler, and will go down in turf history as the best son of the best horse the world ever saw.

The painting is the property of Mr. Rufus Hunt, of this city, and was painted for him on the farm of Col. McGrath, about four miles from the town of Lexington.

The colored boy in the painting, holding the halter of the racer, is "Sam," who has tended Tom since he was foaled, and loves him like a brother.

If you have not secured a ticket to "Big Six" ball to-night, do so at once. It may win you the splendid diamond ring exhibited in Scooler's window.

POLITICAL TALK.

THE IMPEACHMENT RESOLUTION OF Mr. Kidd created some excitement in and around the State-House yesterday.

Report has it that the Conservative Caucus has decided on passing articles of impeachment against Gov. Kellogg and other State officials, and while the Conservatives do not admit this, they do not deny it.

THE POLICE, in citizens' clothes, are still in attendance in the hall-way and in the Senate Chamber, and the police in uniform still occupy the building on Toulouse street.

A number of additional Sergeants-at-Arms have been employed, and, among others, the following named, who are daily in attendance at the State-House, are said to be on the roll: Robert Barry, James Barry, Wm. Terrell, John Fogarty, Ed. Mahar, Collam Hogan, Kinch Murphy, Nathan Morris.

These Assistant Sergeants-at-Arms, it is understood, are to be paid out of the contingent fund of the Senate, and some of the clerks will suffer in consequence.

FRESH SALMON AND SHAD FOR THE MISSISSIPPI. Gov. Kellogg having forwarded to Commissioner Baird a certified copy of the joint resolution recently passed by the Legislature, has received in reply the following interesting communication:

NATIONAL MUSEUM, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, Feb. 21.

To his Excellency, the Governor of Louisiana, New Orleans.

Dear Sir—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 16th of February, with the accompanying joint resolution of the Legislature, in reference to the action of the United States Fish Commission in stocking the waters of Louisiana with useful food fishes.

In reply, I beg to say that the people of Louisiana do not quite realize the extent to which their interests have already been provided for in this respect. For two years past large numbers of shad and California salmon have been introduced into the tributaries of the Mississippi, in Minnesota, Iowa, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Indiana, Illinois and elsewhere.

The young fish find the Northern waters their most appropriate abiding place; but after the lapse of a certain time they will go down to the Gulf of Mexico, and remain there for several years, or until they have completed their growth; they then, as matured fish, enter the river again, and passing up in a body, the species belonging in any particular tributary will enter it when its mouth is reached, leaving the others to continue their course until all are finally settled. As, however, the entire army must run the gantlet of Louisiana and Mississippi before reaching the waters of any other State, it will be readily seen that Louisiana especially has the first chance at the capture of these fish, and that there is every probability of an important industry becoming available to her citizens at an early date.

I hope to be able to do something, however, in stocking the shorter rivers of the State and those that enter directly into the Gulf; and should Congress give me the necessary appropriation it will give me much pleasure to carry out the measures already planned.

I can not, of course, anticipate the action of Congress in this respect, and would suggest that application be made to your Representatives and Senators to favor your interests in this matter.

Yours, very respectfully, SPENCER F. BAIRD, United States Commissioner of Fish and Fisheries.

Anybody who knows anything about fish and anybody who knows anything about the topography of Louisiana, will appreciate the above.

The Reception Last Night.

Our Sportsmen in Meeting.

Every train has brought into our city large additions of the sporting fraternity, and we have now with us perhaps the largest gathering of trap shots ever gathered together in one city.

Messrs. Bogardus, Paine, Harrison, South, and a host of others all arrived late last evening to participate in the tournament of to-day.

AT THE ST. CHARLES, there was a grand reception given by Col. Rivers, the host of the San Carlos, to the sportsmen of the United States, under the auspices of the Crescent City Rifle Club and the Gun Club, of our city. Col. Behan, of the R. S. Club, at the reception welcomed our visitors in a neat and appropriate speech, which was responded to by Gov. Hendricks, of Indiana, introduced by Judge Elmore, after which Mr. E. N. Sherman, of Wisconsin, made a brief address. The occasion was one of much conviviality, and was doubtless an event long to be remembered by those who had the good fortune to be present.

At 10:30 A. M. to-day, the pigeon tournament will open, when we may expect some rare sport at the Fair Grounds. The press is indebted for courtesies extended to Col. W. J. Behan, E. J. Manning, Esq., Capt. Wm. Woelper and other members of the association. During the banquet Dr. D. D. Saunders, of Memphis, offered a toast to the New Orleans Sporting Association and the Gun Club, which was responded to eloquently by Col. Behan.

For the shooting entries can be made to-day, up to 9:30 A. M., at the St. Charles Hotel, where Mr. Woelper will be found up to the hour named. Contestants can also make their entries at the grounds up to 11 A. M., when the shooting commences.

The first purse to be shot for to-day is for $1000, entrance $20; $50 to all, or pro rate; 10 single birds, usual rule and boundary. The second purse is $500, same rules, and both will be contested for by our own, as well as the sportsmen from other States.

Mr. Moody says: "If we can't be a light-house let us be a tallow candle." But by no means let us be gas.

To-night, the event of the season, the ball of Mechanic Fire Company No. 6, takes place at Odd Fellows' Hall. Col. Howard has granted permission for the drawing of the diamond ring, to be conducted with all the formula of the legalized lottery.

Buy your buggy and carriage of L. T. Maddux 35 Carondelet street, New Orleans.

Wants and To Rent inserted in the BULLETIN for fifty cents.

After the first-class hotels of Philadelphia become full, they will probably take guests on the European plan, by allowing them to register their names and get board and lodging elsewhere.

RECEPTION OF GOV. T. A. HENDRICKS.

His Welcome to the Crescent City.

Speech of Hon. H. N. Ogden.

Friday morning, awaiting the arrival of the Mobile train, there was a large delegation of our merchants present at the depot to welcome, outside any formalities, Gov. T. A. Hendricks, of Indiana.

The committee to whom was delegated the pleasant duty of receiving him was also there, and was composed as follows: Mayor Leeds, Gen. Busey, President of the Chamber of Commerce, W. C. Black, President of the Cotton Exchange, H. Odenthal, President of the Merchants' Exchange, I. N. Marks, President of the Fair Association, Hon. H. N. Ogden and Bradish Johnson, Esq.

As soon as the train arrived and Gov. Hendricks had alighted, Hon. H. N. Ogden, as spokesman of the committee, advanced and welcomed our city's guest in the following address:

Gov. Hendricks—I am requested by the committee selected to meet you on this occasion—a committee which represents all of the great interests of this city, composed as it is of the Mayor of New Orleans, the President of our Cotton Exchange, the President of our Chamber of Commerce, and the President of our Merchants' Exchange, with other representative citizens—I am requested by them to say that we are sincerely glad to see you in Louisiana. And, sir, the welcome we extend is a double welcome. First, to you, as a great citizen of our Republic, one whose reputation for purity and for intellectual power has overflowed the confines of your own State and become the common property of our common country; and next, as a truly representative man of one of the greatest States in our Federal Union.

We feel, sir, that if there is a rift in the dark cloud of oppression under which we have suffered so long, it is to be found in the character of such men as yourself and such States as you have the honor to represent.

Gov. Hendricks responded, thanking the committee for the expression of fraternal feeling as was evidenced by the spirit of Mr. Ogden's speech. He said the day was here when sectional feeling should be obliterated and citizens of a common country should not be divided upon geographical issues. He assured the committee that their warmth of welcome was peculiarly grateful to him, as it was extended to him not only as an individual, but as a representative of Indiana, and he returned thanks for the complimentary terms in which his State had been referred to. The crowd which had gathered cheered the Governor when he ended.

The party then took carriages for the St. Charles Hotel, where the Governor will sojourn during his stay here.

COTTON AND WHISKY.

The Grand Jury at Work.

Arrival of Gen. Brady.

The Grand Jury in the United States Circuit Court were busily engaged Friday morning investigating the Bellocq & Noblum cotton fraud. Witnesses from the country parishes were examined at length, but up to the time our report closed no indictments had been brought. Whisky matters will now, doubtless, grow in size, for on the train from Mobile Superior Brady arrived from Indiana, and will open the ball to-morrow.

It is reported several new parties will come under the bar for late developments point toward untrodden fields.

The excitement attendant upon the approach of the carnival does not seem to reach the Custom-House, for the work there goes on without a ripple.

Gen. Brady arrived in the city yesterday morning, and last night our reporter saw him. He stated that he was a representative of the whisky business would be pushed to the end, and that any changes in the Cabinet of the President which might be made, would not affect the matter at all.

He further said that if Bristol was removed, the government would continue the prosecution of the case; that it was the policy of the government to put them through, and that for political reasons, the government would not let up on them, the intention being to show that Bristol was not alone responsible for the investigations.

REX CARNIVALIS.

More Orders From the King.

In compliance with the wishes of His Majesty that his loyal subjects shall abandon all forms of business on the day of his arrival in his capital, Bathurst, the worthy Lord High Chamberlain, has issued the following order to his Majesty's Auditor of Public Accounts for the province, and as in duty bound the Auditor has yielded a gracious compliance to His Majesty's wishes:

DEPARTMENT LORD HIGH CHAMBERLAIN, New Orleans, February 25, 1876.

To Geo. B. Johnson, Auditor of His Majesty's Province of Louisiana—Greeting:

You are commanded to cause the department over which you preside to be closed on the occasion of His Majesty's arrival at the Capital, Feb. 28, 1876. Herein fail not, under penalty of royal displeasure.

BATHURST, Lord High Chamberlain, STATE OF LOUISIANA, Auditor's Office, New Orleans, Feb. 25, 1876.

To Bathurst, Lord High Chamberlain, Greeting: In obedience to His Majesty's commands, communicated to me this day, the office of Auditor for the province of Louisiana will be closed on Monday, February 28, 1876. His Majesty's most loyal subject.

Geo. B. JOHNSON, Auditor of Public Accounts, Province of Louisiana.

Anecdotes, Etc., Etc.

A special reporter having charge of the arrival of His Majesty, the King, yesterday, while around Carnival Palace, heard the following related:

THE DUKE OF PERTH—THE CELEBRATED COMBAT OF CLAN CHATTAH AND CLAN QUEEN.

The present Duke of Perth, who accompanies His Majesty, the King of the Carnival in his visit to this city, is connected by blood and marriage with the famous Scottish family of Buccleuch.

When quite a young man, he with only forty men of his clan, scaled the walls of Lochaber, and opened the gates to Robert Bruce, who was thus enabled to gain a most signal victory.

The Duke has a large scar, now partially hid by his flowing beard, of which he, however, is very proud, it being gained in this wise:

It appears there existed, according to that voracious chronicler, Sir Walter Scott, at one time in the Highlands, a most deadly feud between the powerful families of Clan Chattan and Clan Queen. This feud it was agreed should be settled by a combat between twenty men of each clan, who should fight with shield and clamor until one acknowledged their defeat or all were killed.

Accordingly, at the appointed day the chosen twenty of each clan appeared in full and full time in the Highlands, a most deadly feud between the powerful families of Clan Chattan and Clan Queen. This feud it was agreed should be settled by a combat between twenty men of each clan, who should fight with shield and clamor until one acknowledged their defeat or all were killed.

FORTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.

THE SENATE. WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Mr. Campbell presided. The resolutions of the New York Legislature against a subsidy for the Texas Pacific Road were presented.

The bill refunding the public debt was re-announced and passed. It provides five hundred millions of dollars of four and a half per cent bonds, payable at the pleasure of the United States, after thirty years. The vote was 57 to 5. The yeas were Messrs. Cockrell, Eaton, McCreey, McDonald and Robertson, who favored lower interest.

The West Point Academy bill was discussed without action. The Senate went into executive session and adjourned.
