HOW MAN IS TRUSTED.

In France a four months' acceptance is required to be sent in settlement of the invoice.
In Italy but little credit business is done, and none without good security being given.
In Cuba the time fixed for payment is from four to five months after the delivery of the goods.
In the Bermudas accounts are settled but once a year. June 30 is the day usually fixed for the payment.
In England a payment of a price of goods delivered is required at the end of three months, dating from the date of shipment.
In Australia it is scarcely possible to do business without allowing a long credit, which is usually one to six months.
In Spain four-fifths of the transactions are done on a cash basis, while in Portugal great liberality is shown and quite a long credit is generally allowed.
In Turkey even objects of prime necessity are sold on credit, and in this country as well as in Russia the time allowed is in most cases twelve months.
In Mexico the large commercial houses willingly give credit for six to eight months, and in real estate trade long terms are given to customers in which to settle their accounts.
In Canada settlements are made at the end of thirty days, with a discount of 5 per cent. Sometimes a credit of from three to six months is allowed, but in this case there is no discount.
In China it is not customary to give credit. Money is obtained from lenders, who exact an interest of from 8 to 12 per cent. Business is nearly always conducted upon a cash basis.—Manchester Times.

A CONSCIENTIOUS GIRL.

(Epoch.)
They were sitting by the seaside in the calm twilight hour, and Penelope, a soft the tender emotions of the hour and scene and company.
Suddenly she leaned too far forward and the splashing waves received her graceful form.
"Clarence was only quick enough to seize her hair."
"Will it hold, dearest? Is it your own?" he asked.
"Ah, Clarence," and the lustrous eyes gazed up at him with a rapt expression, "I can not tell a lie; the bill has not yet been presented."

Mr. J. Smith, traveling salesman for Belford, Clark & Co., Chicago, had the misfortune to sprain his wrist most severely. "I was suffering great pain," he says, "and my wrist was badly swollen; a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm relieved the pain and reduced the swelling in one night, and in consequence my work and business was uninterrupted, for which I am very grateful. I can recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm from personal experience. For sale at the Moss Pharmacy.

A TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR.

(Omaha Republican.)
Managing Editor.—Your resignation will be accepted with thanks.
Proof Reader.—May I inquire the cause?
"Yes, sir; you may inquire anything. You may inquire what ought to be done with a man who permits the musical editor's Rhapsodie Hongroise to appear as the Rhapsodie Hogwash, but you won't get a satisfactory answer in this newspaper office."

The New Discovery.

You have heard your friends and neighbors talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never used it and should be afflicted with a cough, cold or any Throat, Lung or Chest trouble, secure a bottle at once and give it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time, or money refunded. Trial bottles free at Wm. Clegg's Drugstore.

A Nebraska man has settled the question of how prairie dogs obtain the water they drink. He says they dig their own wells, each village having one with a concealed opening. He knows of one such well 200 feet, deep, having a circular staircase leading down to the water.

A SPADE FLUSH.

The richest man in Boston is supposed to be Mr. Fred L. Ames. He lives in the finest house in the city, on Commonwealth Avenue, entertains gorgeously and is regarded as an aristocrat of the aristocrats. Nevertheless, his grandfather, old Oliver Ames, the first, used to peddle shovels of his own hand-work in this town. The shovel business grew, the utensils being well made, and was further developed by the two sons, Oakes and Oliver the second. The profits were largely invested in the Pacific Railway, which, notwithstanding a certain awful slump in its stock, proved a gold mine. Oakes Ames' son Oliver is now the Governor of Massachusetts and is worth at least $5,000,000. Of real estate in Boston his holding are enormous. But his wealth is as nothing compared with that of his cousin Fred L., son of Oliver the second, who has not less than $20,000,000 of his own. And the shovel business, accompanied by the manufacture of other instruments agricultural, still goes on, enlarged to a gigantic scale.—Ex.

TWO WOMEN OF BUSINESS.

(New York Tribune.)
Two Texas women are the largest individual sheep and stock owners in the world. One of these, the widow Callahan, owns 50,000 sheep, and when a large train of wagons starts out each spring and fall for market loaded down with the wool of her sheep, it is a sight worth seeing. The other is Mrs. Rogers, the great herd owner of Southwestern Texas, who is worth about a million dollars. Mrs. Rogers owns no carriage, preferring to ride on horseback in the free and easy style of the cowboy.

An Alabama man, charged with stealing a calf, made the following statement: "I was always taught to be honest, an' most always have been, but when I seed that calf I caved. I never wanted a calf so bad in all my life, an' you all know that when a man wants a calf he wants him." The jury returned the following verdict: "We, this jury, are satisfied that Steve stole that calf, but, as the fellow that owned the animal is a considerable of a slouch, we agree to clear Steve an' make the owner pay the costs."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Thousands of dollars' worth of grain is destroyed annually by mice, rats and other vermin, that may be saved by using half-inch wire netting under the floors of stables and barns.

The following advertisement lately appeared in a Parisian newspaper: "A lady having a pet dog whose hair is of a rich mahogany color, desires to engage a footman with whiskers to match."

How does a cow hold up her milk? A cow is able to hold up her milk by a muscular action, which so far as we know, cannot be controlled by man. If the anatomists knew, and perhaps they do, exactly where the nerve lies which controls the muscles brought into play, it might, perhaps be safely severed; but it is very doubtful if this would do more harm than good. How to get the milk, is really a moral problem, requiring patience on the part of the milker, and successful diversion of the cow. If when you have drawn all the milk you can, you surprise her with a painful of carrots or some unexpected feed, she will generally forget all about holding up her milk. She must be cajoled and not disciplined; we should strive to make it a pleasure to the cow to be milked.—American Agriculturist.

A recent writer says that those nations which are given to the cultivation of vocal music are strong and vigorous, with broad expansive chests. Vocal music is a good lung exercise; it increases expansion of the lung tissue; it calls into action the entire lung, thus making the species as likely to develop organic disease.—Dr. Busby, in Virginia Medicine Monthly.
