Personals.

Pastor Kendrick returned Wednesday from Homer, La., where he attended the Baptist State convention. While away he visited several towns in the interest of the Baptist Church building fund, and was quite successful. They expect to begin building by next spring at the latest, and will build in brick if their expectations are realized. Pastor Kendrick will hold the usual services next Sunday.

Cranberries. Fulton market corn beef, mince meat, spare ribs, pickled tongue, pigs feet, mackerel and herring at Morgan & Debaillon's.

Jules U. Broussard of Pilette, was in town Wednesday.

If you want groceries the fresh and appetizing kind, why ring up F. O. Broussard.

Chas. S. Landry of Pilette, who was so badly hurt some time ago by a kick from a horse, is now almost well and able to attend to his work.

Broussard & Guidroz have all the ingredients for a fruit cake, ring them up.

Frank Breaux, of Sunset, visited relatives here during the week.

When you want good things to eat tell Morgan & Debaillon about it, and they will tell you the good things they have in stock.

B. F. Anderson and family have moved into their new home in the Mudd Addition and the house they vacated is now occupied by H. B. Guchereau and family.

And if you want oysters, game or vegetables ring up G. Bunt.

A Bacque, of the firm of Guidroz & Bacque, is having a nice cottage home built in the Elmhurst addition, and expects to have it completed by the 15th of next month, when he will move his family from Scott here.

We have just received a new shipment of cheeses, and some other nice things.—R. H. McFaddin.

S. J. Breaux and Paul Coussan, of Carencro, were welcome callers at our office Wednesday.

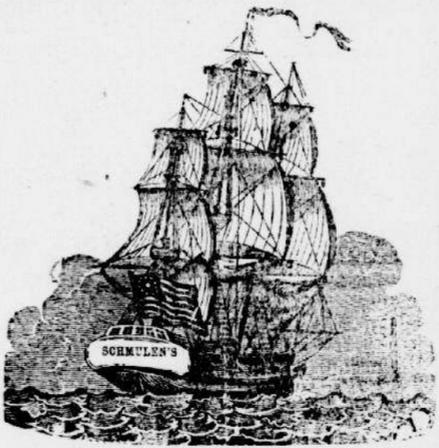

We have a specially fine line of overcoats at a specially close price, call and see them before you buy.—Kahn's.

Guidroz & Bacque have arranged the upstairs of their shop for a paint room. It is made tight in order to keep out dust so that all buggies painted would have the full effect of the fine gloss which they know how to put on. When your buggy needs a new coat of paint better see them.

Whether you want dry goods, shoes, groceries or drugs, you will find it much to your advantage to call on Rene Delhomme, north side of track, near depot.

Mite Meeting To-night.
The Mite Meeting was to have been held at Mr. J. J. Davidson's residence last evening, was postponed until to-night on account of the weather.

The October Louisiana Rev. w.
We have just received a copy of the October number of the Louisiana School Review and in addition to the usual good things it always has, is the continuation of Snap Shots in Europe, which is a most entertaining account of a trip through various countries of the Old World by the editor, Pres. E. L. Stephens of the Industrial Institute. The price of the Review is only one dollar a year, and while it is a professional journal, at the same time it always has articles of general interest, and at present the story of Dr. Stephens' summer trip abroad told by him in his lively and entertaining way, is well worth the whole dollar.

SCHMULEN'S.

A Picturesque Story.

The big story sensation of the '70's, "The Hidden Hand," is a fascinating subject for the play writers. It has so much of real American character, such a picturesque background, so much of the heartiest fun and comedy, and most important of all, such a finely melodramatic and romantic plot that it has few equals in its amount of material for drama. A new play from the story will be at the Opera House, Lafayette, La., Thursday, December the 12th. The author is an actor of note and dignified position in the profession, Eugene Moore.

Visiting cards two dozen for thirty-five cents, fifty for fifty-five cents, one hundred for seventy-five cents.

Don't think of buying your Christmas presents until you call and see what a nice selection we have.—Lafayette Drug Store.

Progressive Euchre.

Mrs. H. White gave a delightful euchre Saturday afternoon at the spacious home of Mrs. Eugene Trahan, complimentary to Miss Sadie Frith of Bunkie. After several interesting games were played the prize, a lovely vase, was awarded to Mrs. Kelly, and the guest's prize, a beautiful little Dutch pitcher, was presented to Miss Frith.

A delicious two course luncheon was then served to the following guests: Misses Frith, Trousdale, Mmes. Denbo, Nusz, C. M. Parkerson, Nickerson, F. E. Davis, Kelly, Saunders, Trahan, Shannon.

SOLO MADE A SENSATION.

Barytone Had Caught the Music, But Not the Words.

A certain young Unitarian minister is visiting a friend and classmate who lives in Roxbury, says the Boston Herald, and while the two were sitting around a fire and spinning yarns the minister who is visiting and who comes from the west told this: "When I went west first I was in a small town called L—e, and in the choir of my church the village blacksmith did the noble work of barytone. He had a voice that could shake mountains, and whatever it lacked in any other feature it made up in volume. He couldn't read music any more than he could English, but he learned a tune very readily. One Sunday we were to be favored with a new anthem because it was a special occasion, and the barytone had one portion all to himself. Unfortunately he had missed many of the practices. The anthem went along excellently until it came to a beautiful part which read: 'And, dying, bids us all aspire.' Here the rest of the singers stopped short, in that quick, sudden way that choirs have, and in the ensuing stillness sounded the ponderous tones of the blacksmith: 'And dying brides are filled with fire.'"

General Jastremski Better.

Yesterday Gen. Jastremski was reported as still improving and it is believed that the blood clot formed on his brain is being dissipated. The improvement in his condition is such as to give hope for his recovery.

Notice.

To the Teachers of Lafayette Parish: The next regular examination of teachers for certificates of qualification to teach in the public schools of this parish will be held on December 19, 20, and 21, 1907. Graduates of certain institutions who are exempt from examination in academic subjects should report on the second day (20th) for examination in Theory and Art of Teaching.

The law permits no teacher to draw salary from any public school fund unless said teacher holds a valid Louisiana teacher's certificate, therefore all teachers not holding such certificate must take the examination in December. All provisional certificates now in force are invalid after December. Many of the questions in Theory and Art of Teaching will bear upon the reading course and the work outlined for the Parish Teachers' Association meetings.

W. J. AVERY, Assistant Superintendent.

Nothing Lacking.

When Helen Keller, the brilliant blind and deaf girl, met Dr. Furness, the Shakespearean scholar, he warned her not to let college professors tell her too many assumed facts about the life of Shakespeare: all we know, he said, is that Shakespeare was baptized, married and died.

"Well," she replied, "he seems to have done all the essential things."

LAFAYETTE.

Banks Do Business on a Cash Basis.

Special to the Times-Democrat.

Lafayette, Nov. 25.—The people of Lafayette have reason to be proud of their banking institutions, for Lafayette has been one of the few places in this country where a depositor could go into a bank and have paid to him in legal tender notes any part or all of his deposit. This goes to prove that the local banks enjoy the full confidence of their customers.

The First National Bank at Lafayette has gone a step farther and has paid out in cash the entire railroad payroll this month, amounting to nearly $5,000. This was a great accommodation to the railroad employees at a time when they could not get cash for their vouchers either in New Orleans, Houston or San Antonio, and the First National Bank is accordingly receiving the praise and felicitations of the railroad employees and the general public at Lafayette.

A. Amuny, of Crowley, was in town yesterday on business.

MADE HIS BLUFF STRONG.

Trouble Was the Horse Would Not Be Reasonable.

Charles H. Wilson, the superintendent of Alfred G. Vanderbilt's remarkable stables, said at Newport of a groom he had discharged: "The man was a bluff. He pretended to know all about horses, when in truth he could hardly tell a hackney from a cow. We soon got on to him. His case was like the fake blacksmith's. There was a chap who thought blacksmithing looked simple and easy, and so, being out of work, he decided to have a try at it. He went to a smith and asked for a job. 'Well,' said the smith, 'you are a strong, likely-looking fellow. What experience have you had?' 'Eleven years,' was the prompt answer. 'All right, I'll try you,' said the blacksmith. 'Shoe that mare while I go home to dinner.' The smith, on his return from dinner frowned, and said to the new hand: 'What, haven't you got that mare shod yet?' The bluffer bit his lip, flushed and replied: 'I can't get her confounded foot in the vice.'"

Gigantic Potatoes.

Big potatoes which weigh as much as a man are not often seen. A small consignment of them, however, has just been sent off from the West Indies. There were just six potatoes, and each was large enough to feed a big family. Yau is the popular name applied to this variety of giant sweet potato. The tubers usually attain a length of three feet and an average weight of 30 pounds. Yams weighing from 100 to 150 pounds, however, are by no means uncommon in the West Indies and other parts of the tropics where they thrive. In appearance the yams look much like the ordinary potatoes on a greatly enlarged scale. They are black or brown externally and pale within, and are rich in starch. When boiled they have a very pleasant flavor.

BIG FORKS FOR ESKIMOS.

Table Implements That Had to Be Made to Order.

Six hundred and forty forks, silver plated and each a foot long, formed a part of the baggage of E. T. Dooy, who left Philadelphia, recently for Point Barrow, Alaska, says the Philadelphia Record. Each of the forks weighed a pound and a half, and the whole accordingly weighed nearly half a ton. The forks were in packages of 10 each, 64 packages in all, and the whole divided into two bales of 32 packages each. Mr. Dooy takes them to Point Barrow, the most northerly point in American Alaska, as presents to the chief Eskimo tribes there and their members, in pursuance of a promise made two years ago. Then the forks of a visiting American party enormously impressed the natives, who watched their use with deep interest. Some criticism having been offered to the small size of the fork, which, perhaps, suffered by comparison with a walrus harpoon, Mr. Dooy had these made to order. He left for Seattle on his way northward and expects to return with a large supply of walrus ivory, tin, and his return trip with the "open water" of 1908.

A Vain Boaster.

A farmer in central New York state has in his employ a man named George, whose understanding is not very acute. One day as his employer came out to the field where he was working, George hailed him: "Say, boss, who do you like best, Mr. Gorman or Mr. Carney," naming two ministers whose churches are in the neighborhood. "Well," said the farmer, "I couldn't say. I never heard Mr. Gorman preach." "I don't like that man Carney," said George; "he brags too much. I went to his church last Sunday and he didn't talk about anything but his father's mansions and brag about how much finer they were than any one else's."—Lippincott's Magazine.
