Pic-Nic at Anse Berlucheau.

An enjoyable pic nic was given at Anse Berlucheau last Sunday which was greatly enjoyed by all the participants. It was at the fine spring of Auguste Arnaud and the crowd is under obligation to Mr. Arnaud who so well served all who attended. Elie Domingue and Clevis Prejean contributed much to the pleasure of the occasion by their sweet music. Those present were: C. O. Theriot, Hugh Wallis, Theodore LeBlanc, Israel Prejean, J. O. Trahan, Nunez Verrot, Andre Lanclos, R. Dugas, Dolze Broussard, Albert Theall, Theodore Dupuis, Hypolite Savoie, Lucius Trahan, John Vincent, Paul, Arthur, Octave, Lucien and Leech Perret, Auguste Vital, Camille and Raoul Arnaud, Leon Lagneaux, Albert Trahan, Leon LeBlanc, Clevis Prejean and Elie Domingue.

Committed Suicide.

Early Sunday morning Clebert Mouton, aged 64, residing at Osun, committed suicide by shooting himself in the neck with a shotgun loaded with small shot. He had been sick for some time and had become very despondent. He leaves a wife and twelve children.

Another Brand.

He suddenly put his hand in his waistcoat pocket and drew out three broken cigars.

Then he looked at his best girl with a forgiving smile.

"Flor de King Alfonso," he airily said. "Fifty dollars a hundred. But who cares?"

"Let me see them," said the girl. She inspected the fragments closely.

"Yes," she quietly announced "that's the kind papa always buys when he's running for office. I know the odor. Five dollars a thousand somebody has fooled you, George."

She was a wise girl and she did not smile.

CAN'T FIND HAPPINESS

OLD MONEYBAGS IS BOTH A PLU- TOCRAT AND PAUPER.

He Has Amassed Great Wealth and Lost All That Was Best in Him.

Dun and Bradstreet rate him rich. His name works magic at the bank. His check is good for millions. His vaults are stuffed with stocks and bonds. But his dollars have an actual value of five cents each.

He is bloated with riches and writhing in poverty—he's a plutocrat and a pauper at the same time.

Fate has made an ass of him—she has given him all the cash he asked for, but she omitted the formula that gives it value.

He has the lock, but he can't find the key—he doesn't know what to do with his money.

He is a lineal descendant of King Midas—he learned the golden touch, but he can't control its power. In his madness for millions he has transmuted all the realities of life into useless trash.

He placed his springtime in the minting press—he turned all his hopes and all his visions into coin—stamped all the tenderness out of his heart and milled the peace of his soul.

Year by year he went on amassing wealth and just as steadily losing all that was best in him. All that was kindly—all that was joyous—he turned to dross.

Now in his silver age he is yearning for his golden youth.

There is an ache that he doesn't understand—a hungry hole in his breast where godly heritages shriveled and died from disuse.

He can't enjoy himself—he isn't trained for the job.

His rapacity destroyed his capacity to comprehend the big message.

He owns a yacht; but it's a drifting argosy with dead sails—with all his wealth he can't make it carry him into the land of dreams.

He can't see—he can't hear—greed has dulled his eye—made him color-blind—none of the wonders of life has a meaning.

For him the mountain summits are bare—the flowers have died on the slopes and the north winds have locked the brooks and silenced the waterfall.

He is a man without illusions—a moral cripple—a Croesus starving in his treasure vaults.

When you were wrapping yourself in ideals, he was rapping our ideas.

You have only sold your services—he has put every drop of his blood into the market—and the joke of it all is that he had to wait until winter before he found that every dollar is not the same size—that its purchasing power varies with the individual.

He has overpaid. No man gets out of existence more than his legitimate allotment. If he gains in one direction, he loses a compensating something in another way.

The price of the king's crown is heavy with heartache. The meanest subject in his kingdom can marry as he wills, but the mightiest of monarchs must mate at the dictate of the state.

The embezzler defaults with property that he did not earn, but from that moment every hour of every day is haunted with the dread of detection. The roisterer indulges himself in every whim and willfulness, but settles the bill when his wasted vitality exposes him to disease against which the continent man has stored sufficient energy to defend himself.

Old John Moneybags has the price of every form of enjoyment, but he can't locate the trails that lead to happiness.

It isn't the size of a man's roll, but the size of a man's soul that counts.—Woman's World.

Good Luck Allocated.

A howl from the upper story brought the mother to her feet. Rude laughter intermingled with the howling and the duet threatened to become a trio, with the buccolic bread-earner trying to earn bread in his study.

"Mummy, mummy," cried Elsie, meeting her on the stairs, "please come up and spank Dick."

"What has he been doing?" asked her mother.

"We are playing at weddings," sobbed Elsie, "and Dick threw rice all over me."

"But you mustn't cry over that," soothed the fond parent. "Rice brings good luck to the bride, you know."

Little Elsie opened her eyes wide as she held out her sopping pinafore, and asked:

"What, mummy—when it's in pudding?"—Answers.

Turn About.

At Cumberland, Md., the colored servants as a rule go to their own homes at night. The cook in the family of the Episcopalian clergyman not only does this, but of late has arrived at the rectory too late to cook breakfast. Hence her mistress lately told her for each breakfast missed there would be a reduction in her weekly wages. Dinah passively assented to this, but next day the mistress heard the maid next door say to her:

"Fears to me you get to work mighty late."

"I gets to work when I get ready," was the reply.

"How does you manage about de breakfast?"

"Oh, I pays de missus to cook de breakfast."—Housekeeping Magazine

Euchre Club.

One of the most enjoyable meetings ever held of the Euchre Club was Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Harry Slabotsky was hostess in the pretty home of Mrs. B. J. Pellerin on Johnston street. This spacious home was made more beautiful than usual with the greatest profusion of lovely blooming flowers. In the parlor were a number of cut glass vases filled with pink roses. In the library were beautiful white oleanders, and the dining-room was tastefully arranged with lovely nasturtiums. The entire house seemed to be a perfect garden of fragrant flowers. At three-thirty the guests began to arrive and were welcomed by Meses. Slabotsky and Pellerin and ushered into an afternoon of pleasure and enjoyment by presenting each guest with a pretty tally with which Mrs. LeRosen kept score of the twelve delightful games. Played. The first prize, a half dozen lovely crystal cut glass tumblers, was won by Mrs. Carlos. The second prize, a beautiful crystal cut glass nappy was won by Mrs. Harry Slabotsky and presented to Mrs. B. J. Pellerin. The consolation, a much admired sterling silver deposit perfume bottle was cut for by each member and guest present and won by Mrs. Sanders. The guests' prize, a lovely silver deposit violet vase, was won by Mrs. Masters.

Mrs. Slabotsky was assisted by Mrs. Pellerin and Miss Hilda Rosenfield in serving delicious refreshments to the following ladies who were fortunate enough to be present on this delightful occasion: Meses C. I. Young, Carlos, F. V. Mouton, C. M. Parkerson, Masters, McIver, Richard, Sidney Mouton, Woodson, Marshall, John Tolson, Wm. Montgomery, Sanders, LeRosen, and Miss Elece Shackford.

To the Democrats of the Third Congressional District. I announce my candidacy for Congress to succeed the Hon. R. F. Broussard for the term beginning March, 1913. I favor governmental protection of the agricultural interests of Louisiana as the long established policy of this country, and I am opposed to the movement which threatens the great sugar industry of our State. I favor the development to the fullest extent of our matchless waterways.
