OLD FASHIONED REMEDY IN NEW SCIENTIFIC FORM

Your Grandmother Made Nash's Salve in Crude Way.

SHE CURED COLDS, TOO.

Remember how grandma used to cure colds. She made a thick concoction of menthol, camphor, turpentine and such things and rubbed it most all over you. Was sort of smelly and it greased up your clothing pretty much, but it sure did the work.

Nash's Croup-Pneumonia Salve is made on the same principle and contains all of grandma's get cold killers. It is a scientific combination of Menthol, Camphor, Oil of Pine, Sassafras, Thyme and Eucalyptus in a base of fine quality petrolatum. Though stronger than the old-fashioned remedy it is really pleasant to use and will not stain or soil the clothing.

Used for colds, coughs, croup, asthma, bronchitis and kindred ailments, this salve simply works wonders. Applied in each nostril it creates a vapor that clears the head almost instantly at the same time soothing and healing the inflamed membranes of nasal passages.

Nash's Salve is also a powerful penetrant. Rubbed liberally upon throat and chest it loosens deep-seated cough or cold in one night, placing the patient in the convalescent class in a few hours.

Druggists sell it and speak of Nash's Salve as "that stronger kind." Get a bottle today, 30 and 60-cent sizes, use it for your cold and see how fine it is. Get it at your favorite drug store.

POPE'S ILLNESS PROVES FATAL

Illustrious Head of Roman Catholic Church Called From His Labors.

SHORT TERM IN HIGH OFFICE

Benedict XV Elevated to Papal Throne in 1914—His Career Since Ordination Marked With High Distinction—Was 63 Years Old.

Rome.—The death of Pope Benedict XV is announced. The end came with appalling suddenness, since his holiness was believed to be suffering merely from a severe cold which was expected to yield to treatment.

Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, made public the fact of the death of the pope.

His holiness had been suffering for some days, having contracted double pneumonia, and treatment began too late.

During the early hours of the morning, toward 4 o'clock, there was a sudden change for the worse and the bronchial affection from which his holiness had been suffering for several days, spread to his lungs.

The pontiff asked for and received the last sacrament, insisting upon this, "if only to give a good example," he said, despite attempts by his attendants to dissuade him.

The pope's physicians were in consultation at the Vatican at an early hour, and the morning bulletin issued afterward indicated an extremely serious condition. Dr. Battistini, however, stated then that while the condition of his holiness was grave, it was not hopeless.

Pope Given Oxygen.

Soon thereafter, however, the pope's condition became aggravated and the administration of oxygen was begun.

The sudden change for the worse in the pontiff's condition seemed to have come as a great surprise, even to those who had been observing him most closely. Last evening he received some strengthening injections and the doctors then stated they were satisfied with his condition, expressing hope that danger of an extension of the inflammation to the lungs had passed and saying the crisis appeared to be overcome.

Cardinals Wait Word.

Mgr. Zauplin, sacristan of the apostolic palace, Mgr. Carlo Respighi, the pontifical prefect of ceremonies, and Mgr. Migone, the private chamberlain, were at the pope's bedside.

There was an air of deep anxiety and apprehension about the Vatican, where many of the cardinals were waiting in an antechamber, all the cardinals in Italy having assembled in Rome upon receiving word of the pope's serious illness. The doctors, after a consultation, did not conceal the gravity of the pontiff's condition, although Professor Marchiafava took a more hopeful view than his colleagues.

Pope Hears Mass Celebrated.

Mgr. Migone celebrated mass in an apartment adjoining the pope's bedroom. The door to the sick-room remained open so that the pontiff might hear.

Many diplomats visited the Vatican seeking news; all of them were received in the antechamber, none being permitted to disturb the patient.

It is said that the pope contracted his present illness three days before his death, after he had celebrated mass in Matilde chapel. He received visitors and attended to his usual pontifical duties until a comparatively few hours before he passed away.

Cardinal Giorgi, the apostle penitentiary, was summoned to Pope Bene-diet's bedside at 8 o'clock this morning, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome, to recite the prayer for the dying.

Spreads to Right Lung.

The last official bulletin on the condition of his holiness read:

"His holiness has been four days with influenza bronchitis. It is ascertained that inflammatory process has spread to the right lung.

"The patient passed an agitated night and had no sleep. This morning the dyspnoea is intense. The temperature was 104, the pulse 102 and the respiration 58.

"BATTISTINI, "CHERUBINI, "BIGNAMI, "MARCHIAFAVA."

Takes Turn for Worse.

It was about 4 o'clock in the morning that the change for the worse in the pope's condition occurred. It was especially due to catarrh, which has spread to both lungs, to inability to expectorate and to pulmonary inflammation, it was stated. Professor Cherubini, who had been waiting at the Vatican, was immediately summoned. He found the pope mentally depressed and panting for breath.

Realizing the patient's serious condition, Dr. Cherubini administered sedatives and expectorants, but the beneficial effects expected did not manifest themselves. In view of the gravity of the situation Dr. Cherubini sent an urgent call to Professor Bignami, a Vatican automobile being dispatched to bring him to the Vatican, his arrival there following shortly.

Consultation is Held.

Professor Bignami the evening before had remarked upon the absence of a cough, checking expectation, and consequently was not surprised by the development. It appeared. After a brief inspection of the patient he left to bring Professor Marchiafava, with whom he shortly afterward consulted in the Vatican.

Pope Benedict XV, two hundred and sixtieth in the list of Roman pontiffs, served as pope for about seven years and five months, having been crowned at the Vatican Sept. 6, 1914. His reign was shorter than that of any of the three popes immediately preceding him. Pope Pius X, his immediate predecessor, served 11 years before he died in 1914.

HAD FILLED HIGH POSITIONS

Pope Benedict Prominent in Church Councils Before His Elevation to the Papal Throne.

Pope Benedict XV rose to the supreme head of the Catholic church Sept. 6, 1914, less than six months after he was elevated to the cardinalship. He was born of noble parents at Pogli, near Genoa, Italy, Nov. 21, 1854. His father was Marquis Della Chiesa.

Educated at Capronica college and the Academy of Ecclesiastics, he was ordained to the priesthood in 1878. He was taken to Madrid, Spain, by Cardinal Rampolla, and for four years was secretary of the nunciature in Spain. In 1901 he was appointed consul of the holy office and in 1907 Pope Pius gave him the appointment of archbishop of the see of Bologna. He was made a cardinal in May, 1914.

Saddened By Horrors of War.

Pope Benedict was much affected by the horrors and sorrow of the World war and many times tried to bring about peace negotiations. Germany's violation of Belgium's neutrality filled him with great sorrow and after the sinking of the Lusitania, he telegraphed the German emperor telling his abhorrence of the deed.

Pope Benedict's first appeal for peace was issued one week after his coronation. The appeal failed to bring results, as did also his later plan for a Christmas truce. In January and in July, 1915, he again tried to bring about peace negotiations. In March, 1916, he repeated his attempts and in May of the same year suggested that America should act as conciliator between the warring nations. His note to President Wilson on this effect reached Washington when Germany and the United States were involved in a diplomatic crisis. The Vatican approved of President Wilson's peace note in 1917, but three months later the United States entered the war.

Made Appeal for Peace.

The pope's most memorable appeal for peace was issued in his own handwriting on August 8, 1917, and asked belligerent rulers to end the struggle. During the peace conference his pleas were issued in behalf of weaker nations.

Just before the conference President Wilson had a private conference with Pope Benedict at the Vatican in which many questions of a social and international nature were discussed.

The settlement of the 700-year-old Irish problem was received with great pleasure by the pope, who issued a message congratulating the principals in the negotiations.

HIS SERVICE TO HUMANITY

President of the Catholic Church Extension Society Says Benedict Will Be Long Remembered.

New York.—The Rt. Rev. Mgr. Francis Clement Kelley, president of the Catholic Church Extension society, who has been in audiences with the pope on a number of occasions during the last three years, said:

"History when written will disclose his great services during the war and after for peace and relief, and his great work for Christianity and mankind. His greatest encyclical was that on the missions and his recent letter on that subject showed his intense interest in the work. He championed the having of native clergy in Africa, China, Japan and, in fact, everywhere.

"The starving children of Poland and the people who suffered there he aided by his powerful pleas for them, by financial contributions, by his prayers and in every possible way as a true father."

OPEN DOOR PLAN ACCEPTED IN PART

Provision for Inquiry in Concessions of China Is Eliminated.

Washington.—The American open door program was accepted in part Thursday by the Far Eastern committee of the arms conference, but approval was given only after elimination of the provision which would have specifically authorized any inquiry into existing concessions in China.

The French, renewing their objections to reopening the whole field of concessions granted in the past, were seconded by the Japanese and the proposal was finally thrown out entirely at the suggestion of the British. The Chinese reserved the right to call it up again later.

The existing concessions article was the center of debate in the committee from the moment of its presentation by Secretary Hughes until it finally was stricken out, various delegates opposing it on the ground that it might lead to an almost endless inquiry into the validity of the maze of economic arrangements now in force throughout China. For the American delegation, however, it was said that the eliminated article was not considered of vital importance since remaining provisions of the plan would permit examination of existing concessions where both parties agreed to it.

As adopted the open door resolution contains a mutual pledge not to seek spheres of influence or monopolies in China in the future and authorizes creation of an international board of reference with power to investigate and report on any case which seems to involve violation of the principle of equal economic and commercial opportunity.

The separate negotiations between the Japanese and Chinese over the Shantung problem were advanced one more step Thursday by an agreement for return to China of the coal and iron mines in Kiachow leased territory.

Louisiana Strawberry Crop.

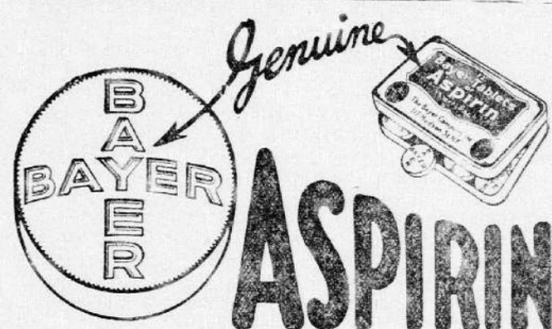

New Orleans, La.—Louisiana produced strawberries valued at $4,283,900 on 9,700 acres of ground in 1921, according to the crop review issued this week by Lionel L. Janes, statistician of the bureau of crop estimates for the department of commerce. One acre of strawberries, it is shown by the report, was worth $441.45 in 1921. That is compared with $12.68 per acre of corn and $16.50 per acre of cotton. Strawberries were cheaper in 1921 than in 1920. Mr. Janes' report shows a gain of $1,000,000 over the 1920 crop.

Wilson Attends Concert.

Washington.—Former President Wilson Friday for the first time in many months attended a public concert. With Mrs. Wilson he was present at a concert for the benefit of the Disabled Veterans' Relief Society.
