DRIFT OF STEEL TRADE TO LOWER SCALE UNCHECKED

Reduction of Working Forces Very Slight From Week to Week—Small Buying Movement Might Bring a Turn for the Better

New York, Oct. 16.—"The Iron Age" says that while the drift of the steel trade to a lower scale of operations is still unchecked, it is to be noted that the reduction of working forces is very slight from week to week. This gives ground for the opinion that even a small buying movement might bring a turn for the better.

As the belief grows that the war will last much longer than has been commonly thought, its disastrous effects on American trade are more thought of, with less disposition among steel manufacturers to count on large exports to help out a home situation that was bad before the war came.

The course of the British iron industry, for example, has been disappointing. There has been a curtailment of blast furnace steel works and rolling mill operations there, in the face of the cutting off of imports from Germany, which means that little business can be done in England by American steel companies.

That British steel exports have suffered more than was looked for has caused much uneasiness. Low prices have resulted. One British rail mill has taken 30,000 tons of Australian rails and another 20,000 tons for South Africa against keen competition from Canada and presumably from this country.

In spite of duplications in published reports of export business, the orders for wire products taken by Pennsylvania and Ohio mills have reached a good total. In the past two weeks 12,000 tons of barb wire have been sent abroad and more of this business is pending, including 3,000 tons for France. A Youngstown mill has sold 3,000 tons of wire rods for prompt shipment to England.

With little new buying, the various lines of finished products are affected much alike. Prices for all are weak and any sales of bars, plates and shapes at 1.20c would mean 1915 delivery. For this year 1.15c is done, and on plates the equivalent of 1.10c. Pittsburgh, in the Chicago and Central Western districts. On bar iron 1.05c and 1c quotations by Chicago district mills continue to be heard.

Apart from a Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis inquiry for 1,000 box cars, and that of the Northern Pacific for 1,000 steel underframes, car works see no promise of business. Chicago reports a Western road in the market for 3,000 tons of rails, while sales there are a beggarly 1,500 tons.

The Bridge Builders' Structural Society reports that contracts taken by the bridge and structural shops of the economy in September amounted to 38.5 per cent. of a month's capacity, against 27.5 per cent. in August. Still, the first nine months of this year show

VOLUME OF TEXAS RIVERS

Amount of Water Flowing in Streams of Rio Grande Basin

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—The determination of the amount of water flowing in the streams of the Rio Grande basin, which covers the greater part of New Mexico, large areas in southern Colorado and a considerable territory in Texas and old Mexico, is of unusual importance to that region, which is for the most part an arid agricultural country, entirely dependent on its streams for irrigation.

Water Supply Paper 328, just issued by the United States Geological Survey, contains records for 1912 of the discharge of the Rio Grande and its principal tributaries, together with that of Brazos river and Colorado river of Texas.

The data are of international importance, for it is alleged that the inequitable diversion of the water in both Colorado and New Mexico has destroyed large agricultural values in Mexico. Certain issues have also arisen between the States of New Mexico and Colorado because the people of New Mexico contend that a disproportionate part of the water of the Rio Grande originating in Colorado is diverted in that State to the detriment of interests in New Mexico.

These international and interstate complications are now being investigated under competent authority, and the results of the stream-flow measurements contained in this report of the Geological Survey constitute a part of the evidence that will be used in the final decisions. In addition to the results procured by the Survey in co-operation with the States of New Mexico and Colorado, the report contains records of the discharge of the Rio Grande proper, obtained by the International Boundary Commission, the stations at which the measurements were made being at El Paso, Presidio, Langtry, Devils River, Eagle Pass, Laredo, Roma and Brownsville, all in Texas.

A copy of Water Supply Paper 328 may be obtained free on application to the Director of the Geological Survey at Washington, D. C.

CARDEN INTERVIEW DENIED

Criticism of President's Mexican Policy Repeated

Washington, Oct. 16.—Sir Lionel Carden has repudiated the interview ascribed to him upon his sailing from New York recently, in which he was said to have reflected severely upon President Wilson's policy in regard to Mexico.

The repudiation came to the State Department through Ambassador Page in London, who had inquired of the British Foreign Office as to the authenticity of the interview.

Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Minister, told Mr. Page that while Sir Lionel had submitted to an interview regarding conditions in Mexico as he left them, he had not reflected in any way upon the policy of President Wilson.

It was intimated at the State Department that this closed the incident.

Rose Colored Snow

Snow of a beautiful rose color has fallen in the Alps, chiefly on the Todi group of mountains (11,887 feet) in the canton of Glarus. On analysis it was found to be impregnated with minute particles of sand. It is thought that this is the aftermath of the great storm in the Sahara, which blew large quantities of sand across the sea and the Italian Alps to the Swiss mountains. The "rose snow" hung in the upper air several weeks before falling.—London Standard.

CHILDREN IN UGLY JAILS

State Humanitarians Discuss Them and Misused Animals

Lock Haven, Pa., Oct. 16.—Humanitarians from all parts of Pennsylvania gathered in Lock Haven yesterday for the eighth annual convention of the Federated Humane Societies of Pennsylvania. The proper care of children arrested for crimes and thereafter detained in jails until brought before courts, was discussed and Frank McGraw, president of the Lancaster County Humane Society, declared that only ten counties in this State were provided with detention houses separate and distinct from city or county jails.

Children having committed offenses against the civil laws are thrust into cells or apartments in the same corridors where hardened criminals are kept.

There was an auto ride through the beautiful Nittany Valley yesterday afternoon and a reception last night. Tonight a novel parade will be held, the participants being horses and dogs, and even a few thoroughbred Angora cats. A brass band will lead and owners of the various animals will have charge of the four-footed marchers.

THINK HARD

It Pays to Think About Food

The unthinking life some people lead often causes trouble and sickness, illustrated in the experience of this lady. "About four years ago I suffered dreadfully from indigestion, always having eaten whatever I liked, not thinking of the digestible qualities. This indigestion caused palpitation of the heart so badly I could scarcely walk up a flight of stairs without stopping to regain breath and strength.

"I became alarmed and tried dieting, wore my clothes very loose, and used other remedies, but found no relief. "Hearing of the virtues of Grape-Nuts and Postum, I commenced using them in place of my usual breakfast of coffee, cakes or hot biscuit, and in one week's time I was relieved of indigestion, and other ills attending indigestion. In a month's time my heart was performing its functions naturally and I could climb stairs and hills and walk long distances.

"I gained ten pounds in this short time, and my skin became clear and I completely regained my health and strength. I continue to use Grape-Nuts and Postum for I feel that I owe my good health entirely to their use. "I like the delicious flavor of Grape-Nuts and by making Postum according to directions, it tastes similar to mild high grade coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The most perfect food in the world. Trial of Grape-Nuts and cream 10 days proves "There's a Reason."

Look in pkgs. for the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

$5,000 VERDICT FOR LOST LEG

Philadelphia Physician Negligent in Inoculating Colored Man

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—A verdict of $5,000, the first of its kind ever recorded in the local courts, was awarded yesterday to Camillus Howard, colored, in Common Pleas Court No. 5, in a suit against the city to recover damages for the loss of his right leg. Howard charged his misfortune to a careless and negligent vaccination by a municipal physician.

Howard, with 3,500 residents in the district bounded by Parrish street, Girard avenue, Thirteenth street and Broad street, submitted to inoculation so that he could get out of the quarantine that the Board of Health had established during a smallpox scare in May, 1910. His leg was amputated as a result of an infection which began in an arm and was due, it was charged, to the negligence of the city's physician. Howard testified that the doctor rubbed the wound with his finger, which was not clean.

In addition to denying the charge of carelessness, the city's counsel disclosed that the plaintiff was employed in a veterinary hospital and that he went to work immediately after the vaccination and performed his duties among diseased animals with his shirt sleeves rolled up and the inoculated arm exposed. The case will be taken to the Supreme Court.
