CENTRAL GETTING READY FOR GAME WITH STEELTON

New Athletic Rule at School Makes Holding of Special Examination Necessary—Commonwealth Band to Aid Rooters at Saturday's Struggle

A new athletic eligibility ruling at Central High school which reduces to six conditions the number an athlete must have before he engages in any of the school's athletic sports has made necessary an extra examination by which conditions can be lowered to within that limit, before the game with the Steelton High school on the grounds of the Tri-State Club Saturday afternoon.

The rule is being strictly enforced and any player, no matter what his football abilities are, will not be allowed to play unless he qualifies under the new rule. One of Central's best players was barred earlier in the season on account of poor scholarship standing. Whether or not the team will suffer if the exams are not passed is not known.

The game will be a hard one for Central, there is no doubt, for the way Steelton came back and went at Tech hammer and tongs Saturday, indicates that the Blue and White team is improving fast. Central, however, was helped to a turn, the Lebanon team, which conquered Steelton, but the neighboring boys can put an entirely different kind of game now than they did against Lebanon. Coach Taggart has made some finds in the Steelton school and is developing them fast for the hard game.

Central High has shown marked improvement on the defense and has perfected team play on the offense. Saturday's game may be a repetition of the Steelton-Tech game for like Tech it takes Central High a good part of the first period to get going and Tech's experience was that Steelton had piled up a score to overcome when the local team got into the fray. In all of the local games so far Central has not played fast football until the end of the first period and this is what Steelton takes advantage of.

Coach Smith is not going to let his warriors fall victims of the Steelton rushing attack, if he can help it, and will drive the local players from the start. With the steadily advancing Steelton team it looks as though Central will have the hardest fight so far this season.

The game will not lack the side issues for the student body as Central is perfecting a cheering body to make merry during the game. The Commonwealth band has been engaged to play during the afternoon and cheer leaders will be selected before the week is over.

The Girls' Athletic Association at the school is preparing for a season of activity. Two meetings were held Monday when Miss Elina Bowers, a member of the faculty; Miss Lillian Kamzky, president, and Miss Dorothy Helman, treasurer of the association, spoke.

DAVE FULTZ ENJOYS LAUGH

Organized Ball Heads Mixed Up by Fact There Are Two Fred Smiths in the Game

President David L. Fultz, of the Baseball Players' Fraternity, is having a hearty laugh at the expense of certain heads of organized baseball. When Fultz published the result of the annual election of officers it was seen that Fred V. Smith had been honored with a position on the board of directors. The solons, confusing this player with the one of the same name who is a member of the Buffalo Federals, jumped to the conclusion that the fraternity had endorsed the independent movement. Dire retribution was threatened. It even was hinted that if necessary, minor league operations would be suspended in 1915 to bring the players to time.

Fultz explained yesterday that the Smith named on the board of directors of the fraternity is none other than the well-known outfielder of the Rochester International League team, a player in very good grade with organized baseball. "It looks as if a mountain were made of a mole hill," said the president of the fraternity. "We have no intention of inviting trouble upon ourselves. When we met the powers of baseball last winter it was understood that we should receive the privilege of presenting new ideas of reform from time to time. We simply intend to exercise our functions for the good of the game in general. There is no occasion for any hysteria over the fraternity's contemplated amendments."

MORAN TO LEAD PHILLIES

Succeeds Charles Dooan as Result of Factional Rows

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—President William F. Baker, of the Phillies, announced yesterday that Pat Moran had been appointed manager of his ball club, replacing Charlie Dooan. There has been considerable friction this year in the ranks of the Phillies, and the poor showing of the club in the National League race was attributed in part to this fact. Dooan rose from the ranks to take the managerial reins. He is a competent catcher, and the presumption here is that he will figure in a trade, as certain bad feeling among the players would make his retention a delicate matter.

Moran came to the Phillies from the Chicago Cubs, where he was one of the catchers during the halcyon days of Frank Chance. He has been used chiefly as a coach for young pitchers for a couple of years. Moran has had a long baseball experience. He is 38 years old and broke into baseball at Lyons in the New York State League and then went to Montreal. He has been in the big league without interruption since 1901, when he joined the Boston Nationals. He was with Boston till 1905, then went to the Chicago Nationals in 1906, joining the Phillies in 1910.

SAM LANGFORD KNOCKS OUT GUNBOAT SMITH IN THIRD

Boston "Tar Baby" Outclasses White Hope, Scoring Knockdown in Each Round of Battle—Swift Swings to the Jaw Bring End

Boston, Oct. 21.—Sam Langford, the Boston "Tar Baby," knocked out Gunboat Smith in the third round of what was scheduled to be a twelve-round battle, at the Atlas A. A. here last night. A terrific left hook, followed almost immediately by a right swing, dropped the Gunner for the full count. At no stage of the battle did Smith appear to have the slightest chance with the negro, who appeared in fairly fine condition. Langford scored a knockdown in each round, and it was apparent from the start that it was merely a question of how long Smith would last.

Langford opened with a left to the face which staggered Smith. The Gunboat tried with a right for the head but was short. Sam shot a left to the face, sending Smith to the ropes, and followed it up with a stiff right to the body, which doubled up the Gunner. Sam missed a couple of lefts for the face, but scored heavily with a right to the body. Langford feinted and landed a hard left to the jaw. Sam was doing all the leading and repeatedly smashed Smith to the head with lefts and rights. A terrific right to the jaw dropped Smith for a count of seven. The Gunboat managed to rise and last the round out.

Langford went of Smith in hurricane fashion in the second. A swift left to the jaw dropped the Gunboat for the count of eight. Smith managed to get up, but Langford kept after him and punished him severely for the rest of the round.

Smith recoiled to the center of the ring in the third round and led with a left for the head, but it was easy for Sam to elude the lead. Sam fought for the face and body and landed repeatedly. Gunboat received terrific punishment on the face and body, and after a minute's fighting went into the clinch from a terrific right to the jaw. The referee had a hard time breaking Smith away. The Gunboat made a game rally, but Langford was fighting in his old machine-like style and kept landing weakening blows on his adversary. The finishing touches came in a swift left and right swings to the jaw, and the Gunboat crumpled up in a heap on the floor and then flopped out dead to the world while the referee tolled off the seconds.

"A Girl of the Mountains"

"A Girl of the Mountains," which is a melodrama, to be presented at the Majestic tomorrow afternoon and evening, is said to be clever and forcible. It is a story of a girl who knew only the life of the wilderness and the mining camp, her trials and struggles and her final triumph in the great city with the love of a true man to shield her future. Louise Price in the leading role is said to give a striking performance of the girl. She possesses a sweet and well trained voice and her rendering of the emotional parts is very good. She will be supported by a capable company.

Refined Entertainment

John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels have reached the highest summit of perfection, towering above all similar attractions, a monument to the march of progressive minstrel enterprise. It is unequalled, conducted on a broad and liberal basis, the company containing the leading lights of minstrelsy, the very cream of laugh-producers, and the pick of high class novelty entertainers, presenting a program entirely different to all other minstrel organizations, and a welcome relief from the old and threadbare methods so long in use by similar enterprises. The public's wants have been carefully considered by Manager Vogel, who has acquired recognition for the advancement and further development of minstrelsy, receiving the praise and steadfast financial support of all lovers of amusement. This famous organization will be seen at the Majestic Saturday, matinee and night. A grand and imposing free spectacular street parade will be given on that day at noon.

The Round-Up

By arrangements with Klaw & Erlanger, Robert Campbell will present the massive production of "The Round-Up" at the Majestic theatre for two nights, commencing Monday, with a special popular matinee Tuesday. This play was first produced in Chicago where it ran an entire summer after which it was taken to the New Amsterdam theatre, in New York, for a limited engagement of four months. At the expiration of the time allotted at this famous playhouse, the interest in the extraordinary play continued so keen that it was moved to the Broadway theatre, where it enjoyed a most prosperous run of three more months. Its tense story, astonishing novelty, wonderful realization of western scenes and incidents, and the way in which it is done, combine in a marvellous entertainment that hold the attention of the auditors from the opening scene until the final curtain falls.

At the Orpheum

Low Dockstader, who arrived in our midst on Monday afternoon, and who is appearing at the Orpheum all week, wishes it impressed upon the public that he is not here merely for the purpose of acting at the Orpheum, although he is being greeted there by large audiences at each performance.

"In the first place," said Dockstader, "I am not an actor. I am a plumber. I shall appear at the Orpheum as an honorarium. Much as it pains my artistic ego to accept money, I shall permit the Orpheum management to present me at the close of my engagement with a certain percentage of the receipts netted at my lectures. I appear on the Orpheum stage not to amass vulgar gold, which I despise, but to reach the great body of the common people. Secretary Bryan and myself find that our ordinary routine of duties does not put us in close enough touch with the people. I shall say, the proletariat! I do not know what it means, but it is fat and juicy to the taste. As this letter reaches the common people through the Chautauquas, while I get them through the medium of the Orpheum. When I project my mind it travels with Colonel Roosevelt. I see just what he sees. I saw the river of Doubt just as he saw it. 'Twas a strange river. I remember my surprise at seeing it flow uphill. But more surprises were in store. It turned like gasoline. We for the seven miles of the river before the fire was extinguished. Our bill for gasoline was $50,000. Dr. Byers' river was not on the map, but Colonel Roosevelt with his own hands dug a hole in the map and carefully inserted the river and sternly commanded it to remain there." Here his patter was cut short, for the stage manager called to Mr. Dockstader that he was next. He is appearing on a vaudeville bill of unusual excellence and variety, adv.

At the Colonial

The improved vaudeville policy now in operation at the Colonial theatre, in combination with the first run licensed films has certainly made a strong bid for favor among patrons of that play house. Included also in the entertainment during the first half of the week is an interesting feature film showing the firemen's parade of the recent State convention. The vaudeville bill comprises a clever one-act musical comedy appearing at the head of a list of vaudeville acts that are all of a calibre worthy of "big time" vaudeville programs. They include Miller and Tempest, in an exceedingly clever comedy novelty; Lear and Fields in comedy and songs, and Al Edwards, the happy blackface comedian, adv.

DATE SET FOR TECH BAZAR

November 13 Named as the Day—Will Have Many New Features, including Two Shows

It was announced at yesterday morning's meeting of the Technical High school that a bazar for the benefit of the athletic association will be held in the Technical High school building on November 13. To date two committees have been announced, as follows: "Publicity committee, John Todd, Stanley Golden, John Moltz and Cornelius Menger; poster committee, Professor J. S. Rees, Ray Snow, Steven Anderson, Jesse Bernheisel and William Hilton.

Two vaudeville shows will be given in the evening, one at 8 o'clock and the other at 9:30 o'clock. Several teams have been developed in the school and they will be in a position to furnish a first-class show. The bazar will be entirely original and will have many new features in addition to the oldstandbys. Ice cream and candy will be sold in the halls on the first floor of the building. T. R. OPENS ON PENROSE

Colonel Roosevelt, in Erie Speech, Says When He Has to Hit He Will Not "Hit Soft"

(Special to the Star-Independent.) Erie, Oct. 21.—Theodore Roosevelt came into Pennsylvania at noon yesterday, remained about five hours, during which time he delivered four addresses in three different localities and departed for Jamestown, N. Y. The colonel did not mince words in opposing Boies Penrose, and he called upon the voters of this section of the State to cast their ballots for McCormick, Pinchot and Lockwood, the latter being the Washington post candidate for Congress from the Erie-Crawford district.

In Erie he said in part: "Unless popular report is mistaken there is an element of the Democrats in this district who are in touch with Penrose. The good citizens should join to overthrow ring government in this State as well as in my own State and other States. Friends, I am here to speak for Mr. Lockwood, who you named for Congress, and all your loyal ticket. I ask you to vote for Mr. Pinchot for the Senate. Mr. Pinchot is the only man who can beat Penrose. Friends, I come to ask your support for the entire Progressive ticket, including the candidate for Governor without regard to his ideas on national issues or his personal attitude toward me. The vital issue in this State is to root out Penrose and Penroseism. Our opponents of all things in the world are asked you to support Penrose, because they say he'll put Pennsylvania on the map. He will put Pennsylvania on the map because, friends, a black blotch on a map will always catch the eye. That's the only way Penrose will ever put Pennsylvania back on the map.

"It was never my desire to enter into a fight, but if I get into a fight I see it through. It has been my motto never to hit if it can possibly be helped, but when it is necessary to hit, never hit soft. We are in this fight to hit and we don't intend to hit soft. "There is many a poll clerk and waterer who for being unfaithful in small matters has been sent to the penitentiary. Their acts are not half as the things they do at Chicago to cheat you people out of your preference. They believed that you would lie down, that I would lie down. Now I hope you will show them you will not forget what they did.

"I always endeavor to pardon the wrong doing of a man who admits his wrong doing and says he will not do it again. Penrose and his gang, however, exult in the infamy they have committed. They represent the same practices now and then. Any man who voted against the allies of Penrose two years ago, should vote for Pinchot. Lockwood and all their associates on the ticket this year.

BRUMM IS STILL ON TICKET

Schuykill Judge's Name on Bull Moose List for Governor, Notwithstanding His Withdrawal

Judge Charles N. Brumm, of Schuykill, who forgot to accompany his withdrawal from the Bull Moose ticket as its candidate for Governor with an affidavit, thereby making it null, late yesterday afternoon sent another letter of withdrawal, to which was attached the necessary affidavit. As this letter was presented long after the time for receiving withdrawals had expired, the State Department, after taking the advice of the Attorney General's Department, again declined to receive it. It is possible that Judge Brumm will go into court to compel the Secretary of the Commonwealth to take his name from the ticket.

The Washington party mass meeting at Penrose's last night was a great success. Addresses were made by Dr. John H. Kreider, H. B. Sausman, J. B. Martin, W. W. Leuker and John A. Fackler.

The West End Washington party meeting at Sixth and Maclay was addressed by City Chairman Dunlap, Homer Burlingame, James W. Barker and Wilmer Crow.

Washington party meetings are scheduled to night for Race and Tuscarora streets, this city, and Highspire, Dunlap, Barker and Crow will speak at the first meeting and Martin, Leuker and E. S. McFarland will address the Highspire crowd.

The Palmer-McCormick Club of the Twelfth ward held a big meeting last night, over a hundred members being present. Addresses were made by Jesse J. Lybarger, John A. Marshall and William Burgoon.

The reception of the Harrisburg Republican Club to-night at the club house, 26 North Second street, in honor of the candidates promises to be largely attended. Addresses will be made by Congressman Kreider, Joshua W. Swartz and Augustus Wildman, candidates for Assembly.

OWNS BOOTH'S BED

John W. Vogel Has Relic in His Luxurious Private Car

John W. Vogel, whose minstrelsy bears his name, is the owner of one of the finest private cars in the theatrical business. It is very large and fitted up with all the comforts and conveniences that are found in a most luxurious home.

One piece of furniture of which Mr. Vogel is particularly proud, is a bed. This is of the folding style, made of solid cherry and provided with the best and most expensive springs and mattress. This was the bed used by Edwin Booth on his last tour throughout this country when he and Lawrence Barrett were starring jointly. The Booth-Barrett combination, of course, had his private car, and after the death of the eminent tragedian the car was taken back to its builders and sold, the company removing most of the expensive fittings.

When Mr. Vogel was having his car built he noticed this bed, and not knowing its history made the remark that it would be a nice piece of furniture for his car. When the traveling home was delivered the minstrel owner was astonished to find the coveted bed in place and then the builders told him its history.

SCRIBE HINTS OF ANXIETY IN GERMANY OVER THE WAR

Copenhagen, via London, Oct. 21, 7:55 A. M.—The military correspondent of the "Berliner Tageblatt," hints that there is a certain amount of anxiety about the situation manifesting itself in Germany. He explains that a decision is likely to come "like a thief in the night" and that it will more probably be on the east front rather than in the west.

"While fresh masses of troops can be brought without hindrance over seas," he says, "they constitute an awkward adversary. Although the unity of their handling—if they invaded Germany—is to be doubted, Germany has still a somewhat hard task which must not be forgotten in waiting for the decision."
