Work on the concrete walk above the river wall will not be begun until next spring. It can be completed in about three weeks, so the contractors say as the section between Iron avenue and Market street already has been built.

QUEER MONEY IN 313 A. D. Counterfeiting Outfits Among Egyptian Relics Philadelphia, Nov. 2.—The fact that counterfeiting in coins existed 1600 years ago was brought to light yesterday when the University of Pennsylvania Museum announced that among Egyptian relics recently purchased were three counterfeiting outfits. The moulds are of brick. The plan was to make impressions of each side of a coin in soft clay and then burn the two sides. An opening was left at the top, in which molten metal was poured. The rogues flourished in the reigns of the Roman Emperors Maximus, Licinius and Constantius, from 313 to 367 A. D.

GOVERNOR'S TROOP MORALE TO PUSH WILSON FOR 1916

Company Will Endeavor to Land in First Place at the Annual Spring Inspection Men Close to President Working on Understanding That He Will Be Candidate for Re-election (By Associated Press.) Washington, Nov. 2.—On the eve of the Congressional election it became known to-day that men close to President Wilson are working on the understanding that he will be a candidate in 1916 despite his own silence on the subject and that they have begun preparations for the campaign.

Although no formal statement was issued, White House officials say Mr. Wilson is confident both Senate and House will be safely Democratic as the result of to-morrow's elections. Predictions were made that the majority in the House will be more than fifty and that the present majority in the Senate will be increased.

On the outcome of to-morrow's election, however, depends whether the President will call an extra session of Congress later this month. It was understood that there will be no extra session if the party retains control of Congress. Otherwise it was said the President would call an extra session in order that policies he stands for may be carried to completion during the life of the present Congress.

The President received pre-election forecasts from different parts of the country to-day and was encouraged by all the information reaching him. He transacted little other business. Mr. Wilson will leave at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning for Princeton to vote. He will arrive there shortly after noon and will leave again at 2 o'clock, arriving back in Washington at 6 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

DR. DRUMBAUGH RESTATES STAND

Issues Statement Summarizing His Position in Contest for Governorship HE WILL BROOK NO DICTATION Clearly Sets Forth the Program of Legislation to Which He Is Pledged If Chosen As the Chief Executive of State

This morning Dr. Drumbaugh issued his final statement to the people of the State. In it he said in part: "To the voters of Pennsylvania: The campaign is over. The issue is with you. I have been in all sections of the State, I have met thousands upon thousands of our people and have talked freely, frankly and earnestly upon the issues in the campaign. I have not descended to personal abuse, to slander, to misrepresentation, to defamation of character. Some people will live to be heartily ashamed of the unwarranted abuse injected into this contest. I have not said a thing to win office that I will not do if placed in office. I am confident of a triumphant election, because the right will assuredly win. It has been my steadfast purpose to behave seemly at all times, and I hold that the way one carries himself as a candidate is the best index of the way he will behave as an officer."

"The campaign I have conducted will leave, I hope, in the hearts of the people a sincere love and appreciation of this great commonwealth. Conservation of Life "With all the energy at my command I have urged the conservation of human life in Pennsylvania. I have stood and do stand for the most advanced program of social and moral service that any one can reasonably stand for. This includes in detail many specific enactments which it is the duty of the incoming Legislature and executive to secure for our people. Among these are the following: Workmen's compensation act, advanced employers' liability act, better child labor laws and more humane provisions for women who toil in our industries. It also includes the enactment of a law permitting the people in each county to decide for themselves whether or not licenses shall be issued for the sale of intoxicating liquors, a corrupt practices act, the omission of the question of woman suffrage to the people in the form of an amendment to our Constitution, and such added elements of remedial legislation as will adequately and safely conserve the welfare of our army of toilers, whether men, women or children."

"I have also advocated larger support to our great school system and the extension of its curricula to include a practical training in the great industries of our State, including agriculture. "We must have better conditions on our farms. We must make it pay in dollars and in social and educational service to stay on the soil. We need many more food growers in Pennsylvania. We cannot do too much to conserve the rural life of the State. "Good roads, honestly built, well graded, crowned and drained and placed under the constant care of men trained for the purpose, are a vital need of the State. I shall assuredly so handle this problem as to meet the needs of our people and to satisfy all reasonable persons that the road problem of Pennsylvania is in the care of men entirely competent and satisfactory, not only to me, but to the people at large."

"We must be generous to our charities; we must also be just to them. Hasty and unscientific appropriations shall not escape my veto. It must be understood now, not later on, that I stand for absolutely fair, just and impartial use of the public funds, and will brook no dictation or suggestion that will in any degree change my firm resolution to manage the affairs of the State in a way that will reflect the best business capacity and the highest personal character of our people. "It remains to add that having lived as I have talked, having done no uncharitable deed to any one in Pennsylvania, having given my life gladly and freely for the intellectual and moral uplift of the people of Pennsylvania, I pledge myself to a clean, capable and conscientious performance of my public duties, and ask each voter to put his conscience into his ballot on Tuesday, and I shall be satisfied with the result."
