WINNERS IN THE BARGAIN CONTEST

cial returns. Get a business education and you start on the road to success. Is there a better bargain than Success?

Mrs. H. K. Taylor,
 903 North Second Street,
 Second Prize-winner

Bargain Editor:
 Dear Sir—

"The 'Bargain of Bargains' is the Even Steven Bargain. This cigar is put up in a tin humidore, 25 in a can for $1.15, and the last cigar is just as fresh and moist as the first one and will not dry out like those packed in a wooden box. But that is only half of

The bargain. The real bargain, which must be recognized, lies in the cigar itself.

When you buy an 'Even Steven' you get a cigar equally as good as any 10-cent cigar on the market, which is a very important item to particular smokers who cannot afford to pay 19 cents for a smoke. If the dealer considers service first, merely ask for a cigar and he will hand out an 'Even Steven.' The Even Steven cigar certainly is a 'Bair.'

John O. Edmondson,
 1717 Regina Street,
 Third Prize-winner

Bargain Editor:
 Dear Sir—

After carefully following your Bargain Page contest, it is my opinion that few letters have advanced a correct argument of the best bargain advertised, because all appear to give the definition of bargain as the greatest reduction. The word bargain is, according to highest authority (Webster), 'an agreement.' Naturally the best bargain must be the best agreement offered and not necessarily a reduction of price.

Among the advertisements none is as liberal as the Shupe Sanitarium, which reads: 'Work must be satisfactory as represented or no charge will be made.' While certain lines of goods can be offered at a greater reduction than others, the above bargain—'satisfactory or no charge'—can be applied to every advertisement, making all advertisements equal. A bargain is not something cheap or at a reduction, but an agreement that insures satisfaction, which is positive proof of the best bargain.
