BIG DEER FINALLY KILLED

Animal That Foiled Many Hunters at Last Is Brought Down

Waynesboro, Nov. 13.—Christian Calimer, Glen Furney, has brought down the large deer which has foiled all hunters for a number of years. "Long Black John," the people of the Glen Furney vicinity long ago named this deer. Many hunters had spied him and chased him but none could bring him low until Christian Calimer came across him, Wednesday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock, near the old forge.

Calimer shot twice at "Long John." The first bullet broke a front and a hind leg and the second penetrated the animal's heart.

The deer weighed almost 200 pounds and had tea prongs, hole in one ear, made by a bullet some years ago. Adams county hunters had good luck on the opening day of the deer season.

The Arentsville club got two big bucks, Francis Cole getting one that weighed 203 pounds, and Corman Crum shooting the other.

The Kane club in Buchanan valley brought down one. The following hunters not connected with any camp shot a deer each: William Degroff, Cashtown, 19-prong buck; William Bowman, near Cashtown, 9-prong buck; Carl Sheppard, Cashtown, 10-prong buck; Albert Irwin, Buchanan valley, and Mr. Alberts, Altoona, 2-prong buck.

Minister is Quietly Wed

Gettysburg, Nov. 13.—The Rev. Charles W. Hess, a graduate of Gettysburg College in 1898, and now pastor of Bethany Lutheran church, Brunswick, Maryland, and Miss Claudia B. Grubb, daughter of Mrs. Susan Grubb and the late Charles E. Grubb, of Loudon county, Virginia, were married Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage of the Lutheran church, at Taneytown, by the pastor, the Rev. L. B. Hater. The bride and groom were unattended. There were present at the wedding only the members of the immediate families.

Following the wedding a luncheon was given the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hess at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Ross Fair, Taneytown.

After a very short wedding trip the bride and bridegroom expect to return to Brunswick Saturday afternoon. The ladies of the church are planning to hold a reception Saturday evening in their honor.

Fire Damages New House

Carlisle, Nov. 13.—Firemen yesterday battled for almost two hours before they were finally successful in extinguishing the fire which caused by a defective flue broke out in the large new house, recently purchased and remodeled by Charles A. Goodyear, South Hanover street and Chestnut avenue. Damage approximating probably more than $1,000 was caused covered by insurance.

Workmen employed by D. E. Brindle, who has the contract for remodeling the structure, built a small fire of shavings in a fire place in the house. It is the theory that sparks set fire in a flue leading into the main chimney which finally set fire to the building.

Parent-Teacher Association

Chambersburg, Nov. 13.—The third branch of the Parent-Teacher Association to be formed within the last two weeks has been organized in the Broad street school. An organization was effected with thirty-eight members. Mrs. George Posnet presided. The speaker of the afternoon was Borough Superintendent Hess.

After adopting the constitution the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. William P. Britsch; first vice president, W. T. Bronson; second vice president, Miss Sarah Cameron; secretary, Mrs. W. T. Bronson; treasurer, John Y. Boyd. After the business session refreshments were served. The music for the meeting was furnished by a violinist from F. Hayes Harmon's furniture store.

To Vote on Proposed Loan

Carlisle, Nov. 13.—Balancing the rival claims of municipal improvements with "safety first," residents of Newville all are at sea over the question of adequate fire protection for the town. At the last regular meeting of the council, the sum of $2,500 was voted toward the purchase of an engine. The remaining cost was to be raised by public subscription.

The reason given was that it would strain the credit of the town to give more with the contemplated expenditure for Big Spring avenue paving. Citizens favor holding over the paving and getting protection. A petition is now being circulated asking for a special election of the submission of the question of an $8,000 loan for the purchase of a fire engine, to the electors for a vote. Both citizens and newspapers are much interested in the matter.

"September Morn"

And now comes the welcome musical comedy, the original fun bug—this time it's a brand new, up-to-the-minute musical "tumble of song and girls called "September Morn," and it comes to the Majestic to-morrow, matinee and night. It is one of the best traveling organizations ever sent forth by Messrs. Rowland and Clifford. The play, of course, gets its name from the painting of the same name, which stirred up comment from coast to coast. The company numbers within its ensemble some fifty people, all in all bringing about a new type of music play, with delicious dancing thoroughly interspersed. The dancing numbers are many, spirited, charming, highly enjoyable and welcome, the various styles of the world-popular tango being introduced in various attractive forms.

Dainty Hazel Shannon is seen in the newest dances now in vogue in Paris. Nat Phillips and Adelyn Estee, the popular musical comedy stars, also have big parts. Arthur Gillespie wrote the book and lyrics, Audrey Stanfield directed the music and Frank Tannehill, Jr., staged the production, which comes almost direct from the LaSalle Opera House, Chicago, Ill.

Rose Stahl

Miss Rose Stahl, who will appear at the Majestic next Friday evening in her new play, "A Perfect Lady," was one of the first players recognized in vaudeville, a public which desired such good playing and good plays. Under the title of "The Chorus Girl," she played the piece which afterward became "The Chorus Lady," up and down the land in the vaudeville houses. When "The Chorus Lady" was taken into the first-class theatres it called "emphatic attention to the fact that in vaudeville there were many players who had exceptional talent and whose experience was wide and thorough in the arts of the theatre. The new play in which the Henry B. Harris Estate will present Miss Stahl was written by Chauncy Pollock and Renold Wolf.

At the Orpheum

The rattling Keith bill at the Orpheum this week has made a hit. On it Ruth Rove is proving as popular as any musical comedy star that has been in Harrisburg this season and she is one of the most popular singing comedienne who ever appeared at the Loenst street playhouse. "The Lawn Party," with about a dozen mighty clever youngsters, is a musical comedy offering of the first water, being catchy, clever and unusual in theme. And so on down the list of big Keith favorites, such as the Conlin Steele Trio, the Abu Hamad Troupe of starting Arabian tumblers; Moore and Haagar, the musical comedy couple, and one or two others of almost equal importance. For next week the management is announcing the celebrated Nat E. Wills, the king of fun-makers and known the world over as the "Tramp Comedian."

At the Colonial

Mr. Wills, as most everybody knows, ranks with the foremost comedians on the American stage and he occupies the headline position on metropolitan vaudeville bills at least several times each season. Mr. Wills has been in Harrisburg before, having only last year appeared at the Majestic theatre as the bright particular star of Ziegfeld's Follies. At the Orpheum next week he will certainly give a good account of himself and that he will himself be worth the price of admission goes without saying. The real fact of the matter, however, is that one of the strongest aggregations of Keith talent that has yet appeared at the Orpheum will be presented supporting Mr. Wills.

Looking Ahead

What makes some animals green? If any reader knows and will tell he will settle a big dispute now going on among scientists who have vowed to find out. Green colorations belong chiefly to insects, worms and reptiles. Whether they get their green hue from the plants they eat or not is a question that has not been conclusively settled, although it has been shown that they will retain their color even when denied all green food.—Exchange.

Green Animals a Puzzle

"I have just telephoned to our new neighbors to ask them if there is anything we can lend them," said Mrs. Scripps.
"Aren't you getting wonderfully generous?" asked her husband.
"Oh, it's just as well to be neighborly. Most of our stuff is pretty well worn, and as they moved in I saw a lot of things that will be worth having when it comes our turn to borrow."—Washington Star.

Travel in San Salvador

Crossing Rivers and Swamps Tourists Often Get Free Baths
More than once, says John H. Weeks in his book "Among the Primitive Baskongos," I had on my San Salvador journey a strong krooby a part of whose duty it was to carry me over the many streams and swamps that crossed the path. His name was a remarkable one. I do not know how he came by it, but the first time I met him I asked him his name, and he replied in krooby English, "My name, massa, be Napoleon Bonaparte."

Sometimes Napoleon would have me on his shoulders in the middle of a river, and feeling the rush of water against his legs he would begin to quake and say: "Massa, I no fit carry you. I go let you fall."
I would reply, "Napoleon, I fit for give you one cupful of rice suppose you no drop me."
He would then take a few more careful paces, and feeling the swirl of water more strongly about his legs and the stones slipping beneath his feet he would nervously call out in his curious English: "Massa, massa, I no fit! I bound for let you fall."
Napoleon often received from me the promise of two or three cupfuls of rice to steady him before he landed me high and dry upon the farther bank. At times we were not so fortunate. Then both of us went down into the water, and we congratulated ourselves when it was a stream and not a nasty, muddy swamp.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—There are 1,596 persons, making up 357 families, living within one block in one of Chicago's tenement districts, according to a report yesterday by investigators of the bureau of social survey.

The investigators found only eight bath tubs in the block, an average of one tub for each 200 persons. Forty-six persons have the eight bath tubs, the remaining 1,550 having no tubs at all. More than a fourth of the families live in three-room apartments and have only one bed room.
