SCHOOL TEAMS GET READY FOR HOLIDAY STRUGGLE

Central High in Secret Practice in the "Cumberland Valley"—Tech Has Workout on Island—Backers of Both Elevens to Parade

With the Central High school eleven in the throes of secret practice at some place in the Cumberland Valley and Tech working out on the H. A. C. field the last touches are being given to the elevens which will be the factors in the big Thanksgiving Day game at Island Park. The game will be called at 2.30 o'clock.

The Central High followers are jealous of the progress the team is making and will spring new formations and plays against the younger school team which seems to have the advantage. In order to make it as big a surprise as possible and that no advance information can possibly get to Tech the location of the Blue and Grey team cannot be learned. The indefinite information that the eleven is some place in the "Cumberland Valley" has been given out. The coaches are anxious that the team be away from the talk and chatter about the game and that the minds of the players be free to grasp all the football that coaches can hand out. And for the perfectly good reason that they wish to keep the Central staff from getting over to Tech the team has been taken away for secret practice, if you please. It is the first time in the history of the meeting of the two teams that such measures have been taken. "It was impossible to hold practice without a crowd of spectators' present on the public playgrounds," said the faculty athletic advisor this morning in explaining the move.

The team left at 7.50 o'clock this morning and got in a full day at practice and listening to football lectures. The coaches will see to it that the members of the team get a "good night's rest" to-night, the team returning at 11.10 o'clock to-morrow afternoon to be met at the station by the student body, which has arranged to take the parade to the station to meet the team and escort it to the playing field.

Coaches Smith and Harris accompanied the team. The following players took the trip. Captain Byers, Manager Bingham, Black, Smucker, Winn, Houz, Lynch, Roth, Rote, Smeltzer, Zeigler, Zimmerman, Hall, Hilton, McNamee, Seilhammer, Dittenbaugh, Doehne and Marcus.

There is every hope that Rote will get into the game to-morrow. He has been practicing with the team and seems to be in fairly good shape. He, at least, will start in his old position at quarterback. His generalship will mean a good bit to the team.

The Maroon and Grey team got in its final ticks at practice this afternoon on the H. A. C. field. The players are all in good shape for the coming struggle and every man is striving his best to be able to beat out the old school rivals for the first time. The backfield, Beck, Harris, Beach and Britsch is working smoothly, running over formations of the scrubs in easy fashion. The practice to-day was mostly perfecting signals.

Preparations are being made to handle the greatest football crowd of all time at the game. An advance ticket sale has been held, which indicates that the game will attract thousands. Four gates will be opened for admission of spectators, three for those who have not procured tickets in advance and one for those holding tickets.

Spaces for the cheering sections of the two schools have been reserved at the grounds, the Central High school on the east stands and Tech on the other side of the field. Excellent policing arrangements have been made and no persons will be allowed on the field between the lines. Members of the State Police squad will augment the city policemen at the grounds.

Both schools have engaged bands and both schools will have parades prior to the game, starting from the respective school houses. The Central High student body met this afternoon to practice cheers and final arrangements for the parade were announced. The participants will meet at the school house and march back of the Commonwealth band to the Pennsylvania railroad station to meet the members of the team. The students will then escort the team to Island Park.

At Tech the parade will form back of the now famous Tech band and march to the grounds. The school's alumni has been invited to parade. The grads will be immediately back of the band, the classes following in order. Cheer Leader Snow will be chief marshal of the walk around.

The Philonian Debating Society will head the Central High school parade. Vance C. McCormick, a stockholder in the Market Street Bridge Company, has arranged that the parades will not be held up on the river bridge for oil, the marchers going through in line.

EXENDINE TO COACH INDIANS

Former Carlisle Star Will Succeed Warner as Football Mentor

Washington, Pa., Nov. 25.—The Washington and Jefferson football men who played against Georgetown at Washington, D. C., last Saturday, brought back the report that A. A. Exendine, the Georgetown coach, had been signed to coach the Carlisle Indian eleven, succeeding Glenn Warner, who will go to the University of Pittsburgh.

Exendine is a former Carlisle star and served his first year at Georgetown this season. His work there was so meritorious and attracted so much attention that he was the first man considered when Warner announced that he would leave the Indian school. Exendine partly confirmed the report of his departure, but the authorities at Georgetown were the first to divulge the intention of the coach to go to Carlisle. They tried to retain him for another season, offering a large increase in salary, but according to their report, he preferred to take up the work at his alma mater.

NAVY'S GRUELING DRILL

Works to Break Up Army Plays and Practices New Ones

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 25.—With their regimental comrades cheering them and their coaches drilling into them the things they must do, and endeavoring to break them of some of the things which should not be, but which to a small degree still are being done, the Navy football players had stiff practice yesterday afternoon.

Considerable time was devoted to meeting some of the Army formations which had been observed during the game at West Point on last Saturday by Ensign McReavy, of the local coaching staff. There was further effort to perfect some of the formations which have been designed especially for the Army, and which have not yet been used in any game here. In this work each of the available backfield men had a turn, and all of most promising candidates for line positions were given workouts in the varsity aggregation.

Although it is admitted by many of the Navy supporters that, judged by comparative performances, Army has the right to expect to duplicate its victory of last year, here is not dead on the Severn shore. There have been upsets this season, and to these Navy rosters point with hopeful predictions. Manifestly there has been an increasing growth of confidence among the midshipmen. The prevailing opinion is that the traditional football jinx is likely again to be overturned, as it was in last year's game, when Navy, with the best team in years, was put to rout by the cadets through a splendid mastery of the modern game.

STIFF WORKOUT FOR ARMY

Coaches Drive Cadets Through Hard Practice on Heavy Field

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 25.—The Army eleven was worked at a stiff pace for two hours yesterday afternoon in further preparation for the contest with the Navy. A new field was laid out near the hotel, and, although the going was heavy, the coaches drove the team through a long preliminary drill, consisting of kicking, running down punts, a session at the blocking and tackling machines and dummy scrimmaging, ending with a fast and snappy signal practice lasting a half hour. Two teams went through the signal drill. Captain Pritchard driving one and Olliphant the other. Bendict, VanVleet and Gougeon were the backs on the varsity, while Coffin, Ford and Boots made up the second-string backfield.

Orders were issued yesterday concerning the movements to Philadelphia. The team will leave on Friday morning and will take its last workout on Franklin field during the afternoon. Saturday morning the battalion of cadets, band and field music, and the officers of the train over the West Shore and Pennsylvania railroads. A second train will carry the officers of the post and their families and residents of the vicinity.

WHY JOHNSON WAS DROPPED

Washington Star Asked $100,000 for Five Years' Work

Chicago, Nov. 25.—Pitcher Walter Johnson now firmly believes that he who hesitates is lost. The Nationals' star hurler hesitated over an offer of $60,000 for three years' work from the Federal League and before he could make up his mind the outlaws withdrew their offer. The result is Johnson cannot join Gilmore's organization now if he awaits to. "No," said President Gilmore yesterday when asked if the St. Louis club was still seeking the big pitcher. "We've called it off. Fielder Jones offered him $20,000 a year for a three-year contract. He asked for time to consider it. Before he could make up his mind Jones and the St. Louis club called it off. Furthermore, the Federal League decided to worry along without him."

From a statement made by Fielder Jones, who carried on negotiations with Johnson some time ago, the big pitcher demanded a five-year contract calling for $20,000 per season, and so framed that the money was assured Johnson, regardless of what might happen. He demanded that the entire amount of the contract be placed in bank, subject to his order from time to time.

It is proposed to submit the proposition to a vote of policyholders at a meeting to be held December 28, and should the vote approve the plan mutualization will become effective on January 1, or as soon thereafter as practical. The plan includes absolute control of the management by policyholders, the safeguarding of the company against schemes for obtaining stock control and for using such control to exploit the assets and income of all non-participating policies, except those excluded in accordance with provisions of law, into participating policies.
