Washington, Dec. 3.—President Wilson yesterday shook hands with 1,500 members of the "Corn Boys' Club," who were sent to Washington as a reward for winning agricultural contests in Ohio. The boys brought a cage full of white doves to the President in honor of his efforts in behalf of peace. Mr. Wilson addressed them briefly. "I am very glad to know of the really productive work which you are doing," said he. "It is a very fine thing to serve the country in so practical a fashion, and I earnestly hope that you will have the greatest prosperity in everything you undertake."

Mr. Isenberg was 74 years of age and Miss Isenberg was 30.

Neiswenders to Get Amount From Girard Water Co. for Farm. Pottsville, Dec. 3.—The jury in the damage suit of Daniel Neiswender against the Girard Water Company yesterday afternoon awarded the plaintiff $15,500. Daniel and William Neiswender sued the water company for $50,000 damages, claimed by them for a farm near Ringtown, which was seized by the water company in pursuance of their plans for the water shed for the new Girard dam, near that place. A board of viewers appraised the land at $15,000 and allowed $800 for the house upon the property, to which the Girard estate agreed, but the Neiswenders appealed from the appraisement.

TROPICAL PLANTS FOR THE INDOOR WINTER GARDEN. Palms, Oleanders, Aspidistras, Cacti, Etc., Are Easily Kept in Good Condition If Given the Proper Attention During the Frosty Season. Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—With a little care, a number of tropical plants may be grown indoors, and during the winter they are a particularly attractive addition to a bay window or conservatory garden. Various kinds of palms, rubber plants, oleanders, aspidistras, and cacti are easily kept in good condition indoors if given the proper attention and not permitted to be exposed to frost, according to the Department of Agriculture's horticulturists. Palms are much used for interior decorations where there is no direct sunlight. Regular watering is essential, with special care not to overwater. It is better to moisten the soil than to let a little dry than to wet. Where a pot is in a jardiniere special care must be exercised not to have them too wet. While small, wash the foliage occasionally with soap suds made from a good soap. Immediately follow with a thorough rinsing. When too large for this, spray the tops frequently with clear water. Browning at the tips usually comes from trouble at the roots—first, overwatering; second, worms on the roots; third, lack of plant food. The first is the trouble in nearly every case. The worms that gave the trouble is not the ordinary earth worm, but a little white, hairless looking creature that emerges into the air as a small fly. Dissolve a piece of quick lime as big as a tea cup in three gallons of water. After it is through sputtering and the milky mixture has cleared, pour off the clear part and soak your soil with it. Do not dilute, for the soaking should be thorough. To provide plant food, stir small quantities of bone meal and wood ashes into the surface or in place of ordinary watering occasionally use manure water or ammonia water (a teaspoonful of ammonia to a quart of water). Trim off the brown tips, as they will never recover. If the leaves turn yellow, look for scale on the under side and be sure you are not overwatering. Wash the scale off or spray with kerosene emulsion or whale oil soap, or some nicotine preparation. Do not repeat too often. If a palm grows three new leaves a year it does well. Rubber plants are especially satisfactory to grow where there is a good light without direct sunlight. Water often enough to keep the soil moist, but do not under any circumstances permit water to stand about the roots nor allow it to become "bone dry." A potted plant set in a jardiniere needs special care not to overwater. Wash the foliage frequently with soap suds made from good soap. Rinse thoroughly at once. Repeat occasionally as the pots become full of roots. Feed once in two to four weeks with dilute nitrate of soda (a heaping teaspoonful dissolved in water) or ammonia water or manure water as described for the palm or some prepared plant food. Oleanders may be treated more or less as palms. Aspidistras are most ornamental. They should be kept rather drier than palms and rubber plants. Cacti require rather dry sandy soil. Tobacco Growers Want Help. Washington, Dec. 3.—Senator Swanson, of Virginia, will urge Secretary McAdoo next week to undertake relief work for the tobacco growers of Virginia and other tobacco-growing States similar to the measures to aid cotton growers. The exportation of tobacco is said to have been greatly handicapped by the European war.

WOMAN FIGHTS BURGLAR

Sends Him and Ladder Toppling to Ground in His Flight. Chester, Dec. 3.—A daring burglar entered the residence of Stacy C. Glauser shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday morning and escaped with $25 and three gold watches, after a thrilling attempt on the part of Mrs. Glauser to capture him. Entrance was effected through a rear second-story window by means of a ladder. Later Mrs. Glauser awakened and heard footsteps in an adjoining room. As she went to investigate the burglar heard her and endeavored to make a hasty exit. Mrs. Glauser caught him by the shoulder. The thief managed to reach the ladder, Mrs. Glauser clinging to him. Her constant tugging caused the 20-foot ladder to creak, both ladder and burglar falling to the ground. Stunned for a moment, the fellow rolled; but soon was on his feet and off. Mr. Glauser was in another room at the time and did not get the alarm until too late to render assistance.

AMUSEMENTS

ORPHEUM. Every afternoon and evening, high class vaudeville.

COLONIAL. Daily continuous vaudeville and pictures.

Watson's Orientals. The leading performers of Watson's Orientals which comes to the Majestic Friday, matinee and night, include many of the best known comedians and vocalists in burlesque, among them Billy Spencer, who appeared originally with Mr. Watson in the character of Grogan and whose skill as an Irish character is not excelled by any performer in burlesque. Krausmeyer will be played by Jules Jacobs, a German comedian of original and highly enjoyable methods. Gertrude Sommers is the leading lady and Bettina Sheldon the soprano, while Bert Bertrand, George H. Thurston, late tenor of Primrose and Dockstader's minstrels; Ray Lavitt and Sylvia Brody complete the unusual cast. Mr. Watson announces twenty-five chorus girls of the sprightly vivacious kind that are so essential to a well organized burlesque company. In brief this new Watson show is said to be strictly in line with the present day advance that has been made in this division of stage work, and such, it will be found to appeal to all lovers of lively fun, snappy music and delightful stage pictures. adv.

At the Orpheum. While all Harrisburg seems deeply interested in the Orpheum's unique headliner, Captain Sorcho, the celebrated submarine engineer and his deep sea divers, it must be remembered that he is supported by an array of Keith hits that are as clever and diverting as any bill that has been presented here this season. Not the least of these attractions is a positive Orpheum favorite, who is here again in new songs and who is also displaying a wardrobe that is especially pleasing to the ladies. Whenever Miss Connelly comes to Harrisburg she can be depended upon for bringing some new and tuneful song hits, and this week is no exception. Her biggest hit, or rather her catchiest song, is "When You Were a Tulip and I Were a Red Rose." In it she is assisted by Bert Rile, who accompanies her on the piano for all her songs, but who joins her in singing this last number. Their voices harmonize beautifully and at the finish they do a little cuddling scene that sends them off to a big hand. Miss Connelly is a pleasing singer, a graceful dancer, a magnetic artist, and her wardrobe is exquisite. Comedy honors of the week go to Billy Watson and company in their screeching farce "Going Into Vodvil," with Englis and Hawthorne, the "nut" comedians, running them a close second. The Orpheum's bill is replete with merit and diverting entertainment. adv.

At the Colonial. The Dupace Opera Company, of six excellent vocalists, presenting a delightful vocal production with elaborate scenic effects, will be the cream of the vaudeville that comes to entertain patrons at the Busy Corner for the last half of the week. Dagan and Raymond, a popular duo of singing comedians; Rose and Gates, presenting a comedy, "Mail Order Business," and Harold Kennedy, eccentric song and dance comedian, complete the vaudeville roster. New and clever feature films have also been selected for the last half of the week. For the surprise feature of the Friday night shows, the management is announcing another "tango night" to be conducted by Professor Alles and his dancing partner, Miss Smith. adv.

CAUGHT A BALD EAGLE. Steel Trap on One Leg Caused It to Drop Exhausted Into Lake. Chicago, Dec. 3.—A big bald eagle was captured in Highland Park, a north shore suburb. J. H. Stanley and Michael Lanciolo were walking along the lake shore, when their attention was attracted by some object struggling in the water. At first they thought it was a man. Both waded out into the lake to effect a rescue and found the cause of all the commotion to be an eagle. The bird fought the men and it was with difficulty they finally took their captive ashore. Then they discovered that clinging to the left leg of the eagle was a small steel trap, such as is used by the farmers in catching rats. Stanley and Lanciolo took the eagle to the Hotel Moraine, where a cage was made for the captive. It is believed the eagle was lost in a storm or possibly escaped from some park or zoo and was caught in the trap while seeking food. H. C. Wagner, State game warden in charge of the First district, says: "at eagles of this species are exceptionally rare and few are seen out of captivity in this section of the country. He says eagles of the Old Abe species are found to some extent in the upper peninsula of Michigan and in Canada. Few are
