CIVIC CLUB MEETING

J. Horace McFarland Gave an Interesting Talk Before Members at Session Yesterday

J. Horace McFarland gave an interesting talk before the members of the Civic Club at their December meeting, held yesterday afternoon in the John Y. Boyd Memorial Hall, Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Imogen B. Oakley, of Philadelphia, who was to have given one of her delightful talks on "Women's Clubs in Japan," was unable to be present owing to illness.

Mr. McFarland spoke on municipal improvements, strongly advocating the establishment of the public convenience station for the city. He also spoke on the recently passed shade tree ordinance, which provides for a city forester. The Civic Club is especially interested in the shade tree subject and will co-operate in every way possible in this work.

Mrs. Mabel Cronise Jones gave an interesting report of the efficiency conference held recently at the Capitol.

Miss Rachel Pollock, chairman of the municipal department, and Mrs. H. Lindley Hosford, of the educational department, gave interesting reports.

The Civic Club will send its usual boxes of warm clothing to Mt. Alto this year, and any who can aid in this splendid work, whether members of the Civic Club or not, may send their contributions to the chairman, Mrs. William Henderson, 25 North Front street. She will be at home to receive them during the week beginning January fourth.

Warm woolen clothes are needed, sweaters, clothing, shawls for the women, overcoats for men, warm caps, hoods, neck mufflers, underwear of all sizes and descriptions, the warmer the better. Do not send all of your clothing abroad; the tubercular poor need it here at home as greatly this year as ever—more, perhaps, than in some years, for the season promises to be exceedingly severe.

GUESTS AT ST. ANDREW'S

Members of St. Ann's P. E. Sunday School Will Enjoy Christmas Celebration

Members of the Sunday school of St. Ann's Protestant Episcopal church, Rutherford, will be special guests tomorrow evening at the Christmas festival in St. Andrew's parish house, Nineteenth and Market streets.

St. Ann's church is a mission established several months ago at Rutherford by J. P. Brasemann, a lay reader of St. Andrew's parish, who was asked by Bishop Darlington to undertake the Rutherford work. St. Andrew's church, in arranging for its general parish celebration tomorrow evening, invited the Rutherford members to come with Mr. Brasemann and enjoy the occasion.

The formal observance of Christmas-tide opened today in St. Andrew's parish when the school and kindergarten held a celebration this morning. Many parents and other relatives and friends of the pupils were present and were entertained with interesting programs. An illuminating Christmas tree in the center of the assembly room was stripped at the conclusion of the exercises, the pupils having trimmed it with gifts which they had made for their parents.

CONCERT IN FAHNESTOCK HALL

Three Well Known Artists Rendered First Program of Two Concerts

Lee Cronican, of Orfiele, a brilliant young pianist, who has won an enviable professional position for himself in this, his second concert tour through New England, Canada and the Middle West, with Wilnot Goodwin, the famous baritone of the Aborn and Century Opera Companies, and Maurice Warner, violinist, and a former pupil of Auer, gave the first cycle of their concert in Fahnestock hall, last evening. The program included:

Polonaise in E, Liszt, Mr. Cronican; "Morning," Speaks; "Forgotten," Cowles; "Whistlin' Dannie," Lohr, and "The Heart Bow'd Down," Balfe, Wilnot Goodwin; Nocturne in D, Chopin-Wilhelmi; "Moment Musical," Schubert-Kreisler, and "La Chasse," Cartier-Kreisler, Mr. Warner; three jester songs, "The Jester's Song," "Under the Rose," and "Serenade," Hantock; "Vision Fugitive," from "Herodiade," Massenet; "Dedication," Franz, Wilnot Goodwin; Black Key Etude, Op. 10-5, selected and Valse in E minor, Chopin, Mr. Cronican; selected, "Cradle Song," Grassi, and "Zapateado," Sarasate, Mr. Warner; "Love Abiding," Jordan; "Madrigal," Harris; "Dr. McGinn," Lohr, and "Sword of Ferrara," Bullard, Wilnot Goodwin.

KOUGH, BRIGHTBILL & KLINE

Joe Kline D. E. Brightbill Harry E. Kough

D. E. Brightbill, who has been engaged in the Insurance and Real Estate Business in this city for the past seven years, had his early training on a farm and in the schools of Susquehanna township, Dauphin county, Pennsylvania. Being familiar with farm life he fully realized the law that makes it necessary to sow and keep on working if one ever expects to reap.

Not by gift of genius, but by persistent attention to business and efficient service to his patrons he has built up a nice business and made a host of friends. In order to perpetuate his policies of prompt and efficient service to his ever increasing patronage, he has entered into partnership with Harry E. Kough, well known in Harrisburg, and Joe Kline, who is well known in Dauphin and Cumberland counties.

The business will be conducted in the name of "Kough, Brightbill & Kline," with offices at Sixth and Reilly streets. For their announcement relative to 1915 calendars, see advertisement on another page of this paper.
