BANQUETS BREAD MAKERS

Many Bakers Hear J. A. Andrews and David Coxford Talk on the Staff of Life

The men employed in the bakery of the Harrisburg Baking Company were banqueted Saturday afternoon by the management. It was a get-together meeting between the heads of the departments and the employees and the thirty or more in attendance had a good time.

James A. Andrews, general manager of the local company, was the host, and gave the employees some valuable hints on running a bake shop. David Coxford, superintendent of the bakers, acted as toastmaster, and spoke on the subject of getting out good bread. The banquet was held on hams baked in the ovens of the big bakery. The affair was pronounced a big success.

Many changes have taken place at the bakery since Mr. Andrews was in charge. New machinery has been ordered and will be installed and new systems of plant management have been started. Mr. Andrews was formerly traveling manager of a chain of bakeries which included the Harrisburg Baking Company. His brother, W. A. Andrews, who formerly managed the local plant, is now at the head of the Meacham Valley Baking Company at Greensville, Pa.

COURT REFUSES 2 LIQUOR LICENSES; HOLDS UP OTHERS

Judge Gillan Tells Remonstrants That Rulers Can Do As They Please But Courts Only Can Administer Law As Laid Before Them

Chambersburg, Feb. 17.—Judge Gillan closed the license court last evening until February 23, when it is expected he will decide the thirty-three cases pending, two licenses having been refused. The anti-license forces tried to show yesterday that the wholesale place of William Essinger, in this place, was not needed, and made him show by his books that of $26,000 receipts in the last year, less than $6,000 was to dealers or hotel men all the remainder being to individuals. Attack was also made on the Hotel Wallace, Max John, proprietor, on the ground that it was a saloon and not a hotel, that his books showed that of $39,000 receipts in the license year, the hotel, cigar store and billiard room brought in only $7,000. The court room was crowded all day. Some of the women had sewing and knitting with them.

The court already has refused two licenses, one for the Hotel John, Chambersburg, (which had no license last year) and one for the Orrstown hotel. Licenses for the Miller hotel and Indian Queen hotel, Chambersburg, were held over to February 24, for further evidence.

At the conclusion of the argument Judge Gillan said that in no county of the State has the law been administered more in keeping with both the spirit and letter of the law than in this county. He added:

"In Russia liquor has been abolished by imperial edict, the ruler being the Czar. He can do that, and no one can say him nay. This is what some people want us to do; but we are not a Czar. We live in democratic America, not in imperial Russia."

USE COCOANUT OIL FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

HIGHEST SUM IN TREASURY

Lemoyne Council Does Much Work and Breaks Previous Records

The highest record in the history of the Lemoyne treasury took place on January 1, when a sum of $512.27 was placed in the sinking fund to begin the new year.

When the Council recently met one move taken to save expenses was to ask permission of the Lemoyne High school to hold its meetings in the directors' room of the Lemoyne school building. The School Board gave consent, thus saving the borough $50 a year, the cost of rental at its present quarters.

The following expenses were paid by Council during the year: January payment on borough bonds, $482.50; $200 payment for water used in the fire plugs $600 for street lighting; $224.66 for salaries; $716 in the sinking fund; cost of labor used in repairing the streets, $355.74; cost of material used in street repairing, $141.32; July payment on borough bonds, $482.50, and other minor expenses were settled. After the settlement of all expenses, there remained $512.27 over in the Council treasury with which to start on another year.

HIS JAG WAS FORGIVEN

Man Who Gave Blood to Save Patient Excused for Getting Drunk

Washington, Feb. 17.—John J. Manley, a mechanic, was arraigned in the police court here yesterday on a charge of being drunk on the streets. He told Judge Pugh that he got drunk because he was nervous after having had his blood transfused to a woman patient at a hospital who was said to be dying.

"The loss of the blood made me very weak and nervous," he said, "and so I went out and drank. I suppose I took too much."

The hospital authorities confirmed Manley's jag excuse, adding that he had given up four ounces of blood, and that the woman patient had died. The Judge released him.

The principal address was made by Jesse E. B. Cunningham, first deputy attorney general of the State, who spoke on "The Influence of Organized Men's Bible Classes in the State." Other speakers of the evening were: H. L. Carl, teacher of the Men's Bible Class of the Derby Street United Brethren church; the Rev. Walter H. Dallman, pastor of the Market Street Baptist church, and John C. Nissley, superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday school department.

Oxygen Cakes

Solid oxygen in cakes like soap, easily turned to oxygen of the gas form, is a new substitute for the tanks of compressed oxygen used in breathing apparatus for coal mine rescues, in cases of extreme sickness and in a great many manufacturing processes. The cakes of oxygen rapidly turn into the gas when placed in contact with water, in much the same way that carbide is turned into acetylene gas. A pound cake of solid oxygen will make more than two cubic feet of the gas.—Saturday Evening Post.

THIRD BANK DEBTOR DIES A SUICIDE IN FINANCIAL MIX

Tobacco Grower, Since Schaefferstown Institution's Closing, Couldn't Face Demands of Settlement—Hinged on Cashier's Act Is Rumor

Schaefferstown, Pa., Feb. 17.—The fourth suicide in Lebanon county in eleven days was that yesterday afternoon of Frank Krumbine, a Heidelberg township farmer and tobacco grower, a mile northeast of this place. Returning home from assisting a neighbor in housecleaning, Mrs. Krumbine was first surprised to note the absence of her husband, then horrified to find his body lying on the floor of the tobacco shed in the rear of the farmhouse. He had shot himself in the absence of his wife and the three younger children, who are pupils in the township public schools.

Krumbine, who was 40 years old, was known to have financial troubles, and dreaded the approach of April, which is still observed in Lebanon county as annual settlement day. Knowing that he could not meet several obligations which would be due on that day, Krumbine acted on the impulse of the moment. He used a revolver, sending a bullet through his brain.

Krumbine was a customer of the First National bank of this place, the financial troubles of which have figured largely in the public eye since the suicide of its cashier, Alvin Binner, who blew out his brains on the morning of February 6, rather than face the consequences of his misapplication of bank funds.

Uriah B. Horst, president of the bank, is a near neighbor of Krumbine and was stunned by the news of the suicide. While admitting that Krumbine had been a customer of the bank, President Horst declared that he would rather not say anything concerning any transactions which Krumbine might have had with the bank.

The lid has been clamped down tight on all sources of information concerning the affairs of the bank, and it is said it is the plan of Examiner Logan, with the assistance of its officials, to conclude the examination without any further publicity.

In keeping with this plan, all information is withheld, and it is impossible to learn anything concerning further steps being taken regarding the reopening of the institution, which is looked for soon.

The announcement was made at Lebanon yesterday that United States District Attorney Roger T. Burnett had advised United States Commissioner H. J. Schools that in view of the fact that the Middle District Court sessions are held at Scranton next week, it will be impossible for either him or any of his assistants to be present next Tuesday at the hearing of Arthur J. Hoover, the young Lebanon life insurance agent. Hoover is in the county jail, charged with wilfully aiding and abetting the late Cashier Binner to misappropriate funds of the bank to the amount of $18,582.21. It is understood, however, that the bank officials will be represented at the hearing by private counsel.

SQUIRE WHIPS WIFE BEATER

Pennsylvania Justice Then Sends Him to Jail

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 17.—John Kotch, aged 40, who believed that American laws gave him the right to boss his wife by beating her, has a different knowledge of the law to-day, for Justice of the Peace Henry Miller of Swoopersville, treated Kotch to a dose of his own medicine.

Mrs. Kotch came to the justice with her eyes rimmed in mourning. She told Miller that she had been beaten and Squire Miller immediately sent a constable in search of her husband.

Kotch appeared before the squire, proud of his ability to beat his wife, and said "the laws of this country let me boss women."

Squire Miller told him to get his coat off and then began one of the stiffest fights Miller has ever fought. Kotch fought hard, but two blows on the nose caused the crimson to flow, which unnerved him. Miller battered his face badly.

Kotch was taken to the jail, and when he agrees to quit beating his wife Squire Miller will free him.

Florida Oranges and Grapefruit Ripened Under Nature's Smiles
Citrus fruits came first to Florida of all America—were the heritage of the State from its Spanish discoverers. In no part of the world have oranges and grapefruit attained the perfection they have reached in their adopted "Land of Flowers." The soil and sunshine—the ocean breezes and the summer showers—develop and ripen the fruit in Florida as nowhere else. Every Florida orange and grapefruit which ripens on the tree is filled with citric acid, which has been tempered, sweetened and enriched to a most delicious flavor.

Will "Billy" Sunday Come?

Will "Billy" Sunday come to Harrisburg and take the offer made him by Charles K. Champlin, who is appearing at the Majestic this week with his own company of players in one of the greatest repertoire of plays that have been seen in this city for many moons? Mr. Champlin has among his list of plays one which is called "The Reformer" and which will be the presentation at the Majestic to-night. This play is one that has a great moral in it and one that is voted the greatest drama on the stage to-day. It tells a story on the same line as many of the Sunday talks. Sunday some time ago referred to plays and players in a manner that Mr. Champlin did not like and he now offers to Mr. Sunday the sum of $500 if he will visit his company while he is playing the "Reformer" and after seeing same criticize the play. Knowing that Mr. Sunday does not need this sum of money it is suggested that he accept the offer and give the money to some local charity.—Adv.

Lecture on "Twilight Sleep"

What is "Twilight Sleep"? How does it affect the mother? How does it affect the baby? Is it safe? Has it any after-effects? These and many other questions are constantly being asked wherever women meet. In a few days, however, every one will have an opportunity of judging of the merits of the "Twilight Sleep" treatment for themselves for Monday afternoon, at 2.30

At the Orpheum

In glancing over the choice Keith plums supporting the Four Marx Brothers and company in their pretentious musical comedy at the Orpheum this week, one can't overlook Van and Schenck, the monarchs of song, who seem more popular this week than ever before. Van and Schenck are two young fellows, who have splendid voices and the happy faculty of infusing an originality into their work, that brands them quite unique from any act of the kind we have seen. Whether they are harmonizing in new hits or old favorites, Van and Schenck always score a hit rock solid on account of their fine melody and pleasing manner in the rendition of their songs. One of them is a piano-player of marked ability and his partner is a comedian. If the song is a comedy number, Gus Van makes the most of it and wins the laughs without any ridiculous makeup. Gus Van is a real comedian and he doesn't need 'em.

This duo is popular in every city where high class Keith vaudeville is to be found. And they are especially popular in Harrisburg. Despite the fact that the Orpheum's bill is unusually clever and therefore eliciting much applause, it can be truthfully admitted that Van and Schenck walk away with the bill's big noise. They are singing all the songs that goes with their new act and up to the present time Orpheum audiences have demanded all their encores at each performance. The Four Marx Brothers and Company in "Home Again" with a company of sixteen and four distinct stage settings, is their most pretentious act the Orpheum has seen. Incidentally, it is the most clever.

At the Colonial

The most popular trail in town is the one traversed by the many who have followed "The New Leader" to the Colonial. This act is guaranteed to counteract the worst grudge that anyone could muster. They laugh muchly at this serious comedy, because there's no option. To-night our laughter will be augmented by the presence of the Country Store feature. Some dandy comedy surprises are in store. A "nifty" posing act and a clever duo of comedians and a clever violinist complete the vaudeville roster. The Empire Comedy Trio and Frank Madlon and Company are two new Keith hits that come to the Colonial to-morrow.—Adv.

Regent

The Paramount Program presented so far this week has more than justified the prediction of the management of this theatre, namely, that "better things were yet to come." In the presentation of "Little Mary Pickford," in "Behind the Scenes," it seems that the height of refined and high-class film plays have been reached. This coupled with the best equipment for the o'clock, Mrs. Mary Sumner Boyd and Mrs. Francis X. Carmody will deliver lectures on this absorbing topic at the Majestic Theatre. This announcement has created unusual interest because of the fact that both these ladies are the mothers of "Twilight Sleep" babies born at Freiburg, Germany. The lecture will be for women only.—Adv.

Raymond Hitchcock

Who is the funniest man on the American stage? Why, Raymond Hitchcock, of course. That is the only answer. To see this prince of comedians is to laugh, no matter how much of a grouch you may have gathered unto yourself in the course of a hard day's grind. To begin with, Raymond Hitchcock has a funny personality. The actor himself says that people laugh at him because he has Napoleonic hair and a frog voice. This, and Hitchcock's ability to deliver funny lines with an unctuousness that is imitable, has made him one of the most popular stars of the times, probably the most popular on the American stage.

Hitchcock is going to pay us another visit and is to bring along a brand new musical comedy entitled "The Beauty Shop," book and lyrics by Channing Pollock and Rannold Wolf, music by Charles J. Gebest.

"The Beauty Shop" is a typical Hitchcock vehicle, full of good comedy lines, pretty girls, music and dancing, as well as much scenic splendor.

This is all that "Whisper" myrial friends need to be told about this show. They'll all be in front and a rare treat is in store for them.

"The Beauty Shop" comes to the Majestic next Tuesday evening.—Adv.

A Man and His Work

Without Interest in the Task Efficiency Is Never Attained

A man's luck is as hard as adamant if he is not in love with the work he does as with a maid he woos. It is a miserable thing to care for one's occupation merely because it shuts out the "thoughts that burn like irons if you think." Any trade or profession you could name is a poor affair if it is but a time killer, a snap gap, an opiate, the baldest of the druggable life. You hear a man start his work with a faint tap at a clock stroke, and you hear him drop it with a loud thud at another clock stroke, and you know his soul and his brain are not alive in the thing that he is doing. Why? A thousand men are a thousand reasons why.

Any man who can be accurately stigmatized as efficient (dreadful word!) brings all of himself to the task in hand. He brings not merely his sixth sense and his fourth dimension to bear on his concerning handiwork, but every bit of vital electricity in the storage batteries of his whole being. When he has done his level best he is, as we ironically say, "played out," and he is supposed to take a rest, which may assume the form of harrier labor than ever in a wholly different field of endeavor.

In fact, the man who has formed the habit of work is never happy to be idle. It is no use to extend to him the prospect of complete hiatus in the name of a vacation. The program of the null and void would assure him an acute uneasiness. There is a saying that nature abhors a vacuum. So does a real live man, the son of nature.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Matter of Trade

An American merchant in Guatemala had a rich customer who wanted two dozen ties exactly like the one he wore. The order was sent to a maker in the United States, who answered that those ties were out of date, and sent two dozen of the latest style. They were not wanted. The merchant then ordered two dozen in Germany, where they were made just as desired.—New York Post.
