OHIO HAS HAD HER SHARE. The President Will Not Take a Supreme Court Judge from That State.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—It is expected the President will send in a Supreme Court nomination very soon. During the past week a number of prominent lawyers from Northeastern Ohio have been here urging upon the President the appointment of General T. A. Sanderson, of Youngstown, to the vacancy on the Supreme Bench. Sanderson is unknown in Ohio politics, but has an extensive law practice. Senator Sherman was selected to present General Sanderson's name to the President, and according to Ex-State Senator Wolcott, who was present, the senator was somewhat shocked when told by the President "that all Ohio candidates for justice might as well know at once that he would not appoint an Ohio man."

The President is reported to have said: "Ohio has had more than her share of representation on the Supreme Bench, and it is time to pass the honors around. In twenty-five years she has had Chief Justices Chase and Waite, and Justices Swayne and Matthews, besides Judge Woods was practically an Ohio man, although appointed from Mississippi, to which state he went after the war."

Senator Sherman took advantage of the interview to mildly intimate that Ohio was being "left" with this Administration and that there was much feeling about it among his constituents. President Harrison did not agree with this statement. This alleged presidential utterance was food for much talk among Ohio men.

Clara Price of Bellefonte Murdered Nov. 27.

BELLEFONTE, Nov. 27.—One of the foulest murders that ever blotted this section of the State was perpetrated here this afternoon. The victim of the sickening tragedy is Clara Price, aged eighteen years, the lovely daughter of David Price a liveryman, residing at Karthaus. The terrible tragedy has cast a gloom over the entire community. The brutal murderer is still at large, but the authorities are making every effort to his arrest. The details of the terrible affair are substantially as follows: About ten o'clock this forenoon Clara Price left her father's house for the purpose of attending market. While passing along a lonely road she was pounced upon by a villainous tram. A terrible struggle ensued, but the unfortunate victim was overpowered and ravished. With a brutality and heartlessness almost unparalleled the scoundrel then drew a pistol and shot the girl four times. One bullet pierced her heart, another entered the back of her head, another her back, while the fourth passed through her neck. The girl died instantly, any one of the shots being sufficient to cause death.

The Slayer of Clara Price Captured.

BELLEFONTE, Dec. 1.—The murderer of Clara Price has at last been apprehended, and to-night he sleeps behind iron bars. The capture was effected by Captain Clarke, of the Coal and Iron Police, of Philipsburg. The prisoner is Alfred Andrews, of Brisbin, and there is scarcely an iota of doubt but that he is the guilty man. Great credit is due Captain Clarke, as well as the authorities, for running the scoundrel down, and now that he has been safely lodged in jail the community will breathe easier.

Andrews has been identified as the man who was seen following Miss Price along the lonely road on that fatal morning. He was a resident of Brisbin, and after the commission of the terrible crime repaired hastily to his home, where he has since remained in feigned security. The clues obtained by the officers have however, been closely followed, and the culmination of all, strangely, as well as strongly, pointed unitedly to the man now in the Centre County jail.

Our young people are planning a skate on Lake Mokoma, Saturday, providing the weather permits and the skating continues.

Secretary Tracy, in his report says that what this country needs is a fighting navy. There is more than a barrel of common sense in that remark. This thing of trying to sustain our national reputation with an ornamental navy has gone far enough.

The Railroad Survey.

From the Gazette and Bulletin. The Williamsport and North Branch Railroad Company has purchased the right of way for a line between this city and Hall's. The surveyors have been over the line and have it about located. The next few years will probably witness some lively railroad work in this section.

The charter issued from the State Department Tuesday of last week to the Wilkes-Barre and Williamsport Railroad Company, Capital, $1,600,000. The road will be 80 miles long, from Wilkes-Barre, through a portion of Luzerne, Columbia and Lycoming counties to Williamsport. The directors are W. P. Rayman, President; J. R. Bedford, Ira E. Hartwell, F. C. Sturgis, H. A. Fuller, F. W. Wheaton, E. Troxell and A. S. Orr of Wilkes-Barre; George F. Nesbitt of Kingston, and Gustav E. Kassel and Joseph W. Ogden of Morristown, N. J.

TO VISIT CHICAGO.

The President and a Large Party to See the Auditorium Opened.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—It is announced that the President and Mrs. Harrison will leave Washington on Friday or Saturday of this week for Chicago to attend the opening of the Chicago Auditorium next Monday night. It is understood that Vice-President Morton and Mrs. Morton, Assistant Postmaster Clarkson, and Mrs. Clarkson, Attorney General Miller and Mrs. Miller and one or two other members of the Cabinet, with their ladies, will make up the party that will accompany the President on the Western trip.

THE P. & E. BRIDGE.

The replacing of the wrecked trestling of the two unfinished spans of the new bridge at this place was completed shortly before six o'clock Monday evening. Several freight trains then crossed over and the Fast Line followed in safety. The replacing of these trestles was a difficult job on account of the high and swift water and the uneven bottom. The water averaged sixteen feet between the piers, and with the current and lodging drift to contend with, the successful completion of the work in six days is certainly a remarkable feat. The work of placing the iron spans will now be pushed to completion at once. It is expected that one span will be put in on Sunday next and the other following Sunday. Travelers as well as the Penny railroad officials will alike feel relieved of a great source of uneasiness when this bridge is finally completed.

Fearing that some of the piers were damaged by the last flood, a diver came here on Tuesday and examined them. They were found all right, and ready for the iron.

The Muncy bridge is not yet in condition to allow trains to cross, and the Reading continues to use the Penny's tracks to Williamsport. The Reading bridge at Milton remains as the flood left it, and it is not probable that it will receive any attention this winter.—Montgomery Mirror.

A MYSTERIOUS ASSAULT.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 29.—Jeff C. McKenney, one of the leading criminal lawyers of Milwaukee, and known all over Wisconsin, is lying at home with a face beaten to a pulp and suffering from other injuries that may result in his death at any time. The case is a mysterious one, and the entire police force of the city is at work trying to run down McKenney's brutal assailants. Mr. McKenney was found on Broadway near Michigan street at 5 o'clock Monday morning, and has not yet recovered consciousness. The place where McKenney was found is in the business centre of the city, but after dark it is deserted and unfrequented, being near the Chamber of Commerce, wholesale houses, and banks, which close at dusk. McKenney was last seen in a saloon in the Opera House building, where a performance was being given on the night in question. His wounds were made either by a bludgeon, by brass knuckles, or by the heavily shod feet of one or more assailants. McKenney, like any other criminal lawyer of his prominence, had made many enemies during his long practice, but the police are unable to find that there is any one among his known enemies whom they can suspect of having so brutally attacked him.

Cleveland's Bold Move.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 22.—W. E. Bacon, of Toledo, the brother-in-law of ex-President Cleveland, has been closeted all to-day, at Hamilton, with Governor-elect Campbell his object being to get the new Governor and his friends to support for 1892 Democratic national ticket Cleveland and Campbell, and to send Hon. Calvin S. Brice, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, to the United States Senate as Mr. Payne's successor, as a part of the scheme. Campbell's friends are said to favor this scheme. Governor Hill's friends here are up in arms at Cleveland's interference in Ohio politics and Brice's opponents for the senatorial nomination swear vengeance.

The Ex-President's bold move has made a panic in Ohio politics and it looks to-night as though the Cleveland-Brice-Campbell combination had cornered the political market and would pull their way out.

Two Cockneys Who Bet as to Which Would be Eaten First.

From the New York Star. About thirty miles off the port at Honolulu, as we were headed for San Francisco, a big shark suddenly appeared on the steamer's port quarter, and only a biscuit throw away, and for a time he was the observed of all observers. He was estimated to be fifteen feet long, and the sailors were agreed that they had never seen a larger one. He kept a baleful eye on the people crowding to the rail to see him, and although pork and other stuff were thrown over he paid no attention to the food. It looked as if he had lately gorged himself or was bound to have one of the passengers. He appeared at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and had not moved an inch when night came. Daylight found him still there, and when noon came and that wicked starboard eye of his continued to stare at us we went around the ship that some one was doomed. We had with us two English cockneys, who was making a tour of the world, and as the question turned upon who would fall a victim one of them drawled out: "I say, Fustus, but 'ere's your bloomin' chance to make or loose ten pun's if ye dares."

"Ou's that?" asked the other. "H'I wagers a ten that the fish gets you h'over I. If one of h'us h'is to be got h'its you."

"Done, Tommy," replied the other without looking up from his book.

Night came and the shark still hung on. Daylight came again, and he was still there. Some of the passengers pool-pooed, but I think all were somewhat affected by the monster's persistency. At about 10 o'clock we sighted a water-logged vessel and ran close to her. All the passengers had crowded to the port rail, when some movement precipitated both cockneys into the sea. They made a great splash as they fell, and disappeared for only three or four seconds. When they came to the surface the steamer was already checking speed, and as they began to tread water to keep afloat we heard one of them say:

"Fustus, old boy, I'm going to win that ten."

"Not hif I knows myself, Tommy," replied the other. "I'm a bloomin'—"

We had forgotten the shark in the excitement. All eyes were on the two men, who were taking matters very coolly, when the one called Fustus threw up his arms with a scream and disappeared. Next moment the other was picked up by a boat. He came aboard, changed his clothes, and as he came out to enjoy a promenade and a smoke he calmly remarked to us: "I told 'im I'd win hit, hand I 'ave, hand I'll leave hit to you gents hif I took have any unfair hadvantage to do hit."
