

MORNING STAR AND CATHOLIC MESSENGER. NEW ORLEANS, SUNDAY, AUGUST 15, 1890.

DOMESTIC CATHOLIC INTELLIGENCE.

DIOCESE OF NEW YORK.—On last Sunday, (first) before an immense congregation, his Grace Archbishop McCloskey preached his valedictory sermon, prior to his departure for Europe, which he sails on Saturday, for the purpose of being present at the Ecumenical Council in Rome.

Confirmation in St. Stephen's.—On Wednesday, July 25th, the ceremony of Confirmation was performed in a most impressive manner in St. Stephen's Church, by his Grace Archbishop McCloskey, assisted by a large number of the clergy. Over 400 persons received the Holy Sacrament. Among the number who received Confirmation were several adults and five colored women.

Confirmations.—The Sacrament of Confirmation was administered by the Most Rev. Archbishop, on the 25th, in the church of the Most Holy Redeemer, 31st street, to 125 persons. On July 26, in St. Mary's Church, Rondout, Ulster County, to 610 persons, of whom 200 belonged to St. Joseph's German Congregation, Rondout. On July 27, in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Yorkville, to 100 persons.

Dedication.—On Sunday, July 25, the Most Rev. Archbishop dedicated to the service of Almighty God, the Church of St. Joseph, Ulster County, and preached at High Mass. The pastor of the new church is Rev. J. J. Dougherty, formerly assistant pastor at Rondout.

DIOCESE OF HARTFORD.—Death of Rev. Father Tully.—Death has taken from our midst this time the Rev. Bernard Tully, the respected pastor of St. Bernard's Church, Rockville. The real cause of his death is unknown; but to those who knew him intimately, and often heard from his own lips the death he anticipated, it seemed to be no doubt but that death was claimed by him. The circumstances of the case bear out this view. On the afternoon of the 20th he took a ride in his carriage for recreation, not being in his usual health. About four hours afterwards he was found with his head resting on the dash board of his carriage.

DIOCESE OF HARRISBURG.—Danville.—Never before have the good people of Danville had an opportunity of witnessing the ceremonies and ritual of the Catholic Church carried out as they were on Sunday, the 25th ult. This was the occasion of the dedication of St. Joseph's Church. The ceremonies of dedication were performed by Right Rev. J. F. Shanahan, D. D., Bishop of Harrisburg.

DIOCESE OF NEWARK.—Dedication of a New Church in New Jersey.—On Sunday, the 25th ult., the new Church of Our Lady and St. Patrick, Montrossville, N. J., Rev. P. Byrne, of Camden, pastor, was blessed, and formally opened for divine service.

DIOCESE OF PITTSBURG.—A correspondent of the Pittsburg Catholic says: It was my privilege to be present at the imposing ceremony of dedicating the Church of St. Agnes, near McKeesport, on August 1st. A very large cavalcade was assembled at the steambath landing to escort the Right Rev. Bishop to the church. On reaching the church the Bishop began the solemn rite in the presence of an immense gathering from all sides. At the end of the dedicatory ceremonies, Rev. Father Smith, now pastor of the German congregation in Hollidaysburg, celebrated solemn High Mass. Confirmation was then administered to about fifty persons, of whom a number were adults and converts. At 2 o'clock P. M. the same day the Bishop visited St. Peter's Church, McKeesport. After the sermon came the administration of the Sacrament of Confirmation to about forty persons, among whom there were four adults and two converts.

DIOCESE OF ERIE.—Sunday, August 1 was a great day among the Catholics of Meadville. Right Rev. Bishop Mullen preached at St. Bride's Church at the High Mass at 11 o'clock, and administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to about 200 persons, all converts, at 2 o'clock P. M. The Bishop laid the corner-stone of a magnificent church, which the German congregation (St. Agatha's) are building.

FOREIGN CATHOLIC INTELLIGENCE.

ROME, July 17.—The press work before the congregations is such, that great exertions will be needed on the part of their members to enable them to complete the preparatory labors of the Council by the 8th of December. The questions to be discussed are of such a nature that some doubts are expressed as to the readiness of the congregations for the day of opening. As the chances of Europe seem to be more and more concentrated on the prevention or hampering of the Council, but to very little purpose, as all is going on most prosperously so far, and, save from Russia, no actual prohibition is likely to prevent the arrival of the bishops who are daily landing in France, especially from the foreign missions. Mamiani's pamphlet on the State and Church has received an admirable answer from Mgr. Nardi, whose discourse pronounced before the Accademia Pontificia on the 1st of July is now published in the form of a pamphlet, and has had an immense circulation in Italy, as it deserves to have in every other country. The Agencia Stefani remarks that in the new plan for the Council no place is reserved for the ambassadors of foreign powers. As yet their attitude is so uncertain that it would be prudent to make arrangements for them, and it is not, moreover, decided what place they will occupy if they come. Further, however desirable it may be that the Christian powers be represented, they are not a necessary but a secondary part of the assemblage, and it should be necessary, a place can be added in a day's notice, probably near the tribune for the use of spectators. As yet, no power has positively notified its intention of being represented, and when it does, it will be quite time enough to prepare a seat of honor for it—a task Roman carpenters and decorators are quite equal to at a very short notice.

The execution will take place to-morrow at 10 o'clock, by a notorious murderer, who is condemned for at least three assassinations. A letter from St. Petersburg states that the sect is daily gaining strength there. Komissarov, the peasant who saved the life of the Czar, has been found hanged in his own house, and several officers have been arrested as accomplices in the crime.

The death of Mgr. Lubinski and many Russians are, it is said, converted to Catholicism in consequence. The Pope received the Polish clergy and the students of the seminary with their rector, Padre Semenko, last week, and gave them his special benediction.

The Pope's other brother, Count Mastai Ferretti, is just dead at Sinigaglia, at the age of 87 years.

The Marchese Serlupi (nata Patrizi) died last week, and her obsequies were performed on Sunday at the Gen, in presence of nearly the whole Roman patriciate now in Rome. M. de Charette returned last night to resume his command. M. de Charette's secretary, the Marchese Rangoni, the heir of one of the great patrician families of Modena and Ferrara, who has served some time as a private in the Zouaves, is about to marry Donna Luisa Santa Croce, the heiress of the last Prince of Santa Croce. The Italian papers announce Mr. Odo Russell's death. Mr. Russell was named as a successor, Mr. Morier, Secretary of Legation at Darmstadt, but nothing is officially known here of the appointment. The Pope, in talking of a gentleman leaving Rome this morning, said: "Non avremo nulla quest'anno" (we shall have nothing this year) and appeared perfectly reassured since the change in France. The Czar has announced an Ecumenical Council of Popes!! for the 8th of December, O. S., according to the Nazione. The King of Prussia has conferred the order of the Red Eagle on Mgr. Paez and Mgr. Ricci, and other inferior decorations on various employees of the Pontifical Court. The execution at Rodes of Papa took place this morning with the addition of a fresh crime. The brother of the criminal, with the rest of the family, was, according to Roman usage, taken out of the village on the day of execution, to be out of the way. When the gendarmes came to conduct the household to the appointed place, he drew a revolver and dangerously wounded the officer who it is thought cannot recover. The Count Gabriel de St. Victor, and a host of influential proprietors in the Rhone and a host of services to the cause of religion, as a proverb in Lyons, has just gained the great prize of the central agricultural meeting of France. He will, it is believed, represent France at the Manchester agricultural congress. It is a good sign when the leading men among the Catholic party take an active part also in pursuits too long neglected in France. M. de St. Victor's four nephews served at Mentana as private Zouaves.

The Holy Father went, on Monday, to the Scala Santa, and performed the ascent on his knees without any apparent fatigue. He afterwards visited the Passionist fathers, to whom he had entrusted, four readers who may have ascended the Scala Santa will be the best judges of the Pope's state of health by his fitness for such a fatiguing and penitential devotion at his advanced age. It is said that when his attendant prelates attempted to dissuade him from the attempt, the Holy Father replied, "I have already, since I have been Pope, twice ascended these stairs of the Passion of our Saviour—once to pray for the repose of the soul of my father, another for the soul of my brother. It is right for me to ascend them a third time to pray for my elder brother, the head of our family, who is either dead at this very moment when I am speaking to you, or, if still lingering up his soul to God." In fact, this took place on the very day on which the Count Mastai died.—Tablet.

ST. PETERSBURG, RUSSIA, July 17.—Religious Affairs.—After having briefly announced the death of Mgr. Lubinski, at Nijni, as if his being there were merely accidental, the newspapers have had the audacity to turn the details of this horrible event into a burlesque, following the example of the Krenz Zeitung. Berlin's A. letter from Warsaw, evidently fabricated, at the police office, informs that journal that the saintly Bishop, whose holy and mortified life was universally known, died in consequence of gluttony! of too much fruit and Madeira! It is unpardonable to repeat and publish such villanies. To strangle a victim and then try to blacken his memory is the very height of ignominy. Even the pages did not condescend to that. The truth is that Mgr. Lubinski, whose health was always delicate, was seized with sickness, entirely owing to the barbarous manner in which his jailor, Gen. Moller, conducted the journey. Instead of allowing him the advice of a doctor, or the consolation of the sacraments, they traveled 12000 versts without stopping, till the prisoner was quite unable to proceed. It is a horrible drama—enough to draw tears from the most hard-hearted and insensible. It is said that the hereditary Grand Duke, for the sake of popularity with the Russian party, should have suffered himself to be compromised in this terrible affair. Marshal Gromychev demanded the banishment of the Bishop, but wished that Rome should be his destination. It was Count Tolstoy, procurator of the Synod, who, supported by the hereditary Grand Duke, insisted upon Perm. I am convinced that the Emperor has been much affected by this catastrophe, but has said nothing. Those who were bitter against Mgr. Lubinski might easily have poisoned him, as it is rumored that they did, as they feared this holy and intelligent Bishop more than others, because he at least was a "possible" man. Mgr. Zwolinsky, who had entered the diocese of the English in the night in secret, and where neither his property nor his faith is respected! It is a situation which it is impossible to maintain. After dreaming of hoping to see the speedy reformation of my poor country by means of Christianity and liberty, I must acknowledge the fear of seeing it rather the theatre of every conceivable calamity.

THE QUEEN'S CHAPLAIN'S SERMON ON THE BLESSED VIRGIN.—The following is taken from the Spectator's review of a book of "Sermons preached in St. James' Chapel, York street, London," by Stopford A. Brooke, M. A., honorary chaplain in ordinary to the Queen: "Nor is Mr. Brooke afraid to extol the character of one whom Protestantism has so steadily ignored. He comments to the English clergy on our day the example of the Virgin's career; recalling to their minds her life, 'whose tender womanhood as maiden and mother has so supremely influenced art, and so widely modified by its ideal the literature of Europe.' He traces in imagination her quiet existence on the grassy slope of Nazareth, and remarks upon the subsequent fitness with which the Roman Church has ever connected the Virgin with 'the unconscious loveliness, the freshness, delicacy and carelessness of ostentation which mark the life of flowers.' Her childhood is contrasted with the artificial childhood of the woman of London, and her unconscious simplicity with the now constant repetition of that question, 'What will people say of me?' He looks next at the Virgin's quiet acceptance of greatness, untouched by excitement, untouched by vanity. She was nothing—God was all. Her idea of fame was the idea of true woman—'all generations shall call me blessed.' Now, as then, the regeneration of society is in the power of the woman. All future generations might call her blessed—and say, 'Mr. Brooke—she prefers to be called fashionable.' Or if she do not care for fashions, is she not, we ask, bound in the velvet chains of personal comfort?"

ANGLICANS AT THE COUNCIL.—A late London Catholic periodical says: We learn from an authentic source that some seven or eight Anglican clergymen have determined to proceed to Rome, in December next, for the purpose of attending the General Council, and obtaining from the assembled Bishops an authoritative opinion respecting the validity or otherwise of their orders. Every endeavor will also be made to form a union between the Anglican and the Catholic Church. These gentlemen have already put themselves in communication with several of the authorities at Rome, and have met with every encouragement; they have determined to ask one of the English Catholic Bishops to be their spokesman before the Council.

SEWING MACHINES.

$40 WILL BUY A WILSON LOCK-STITCH FAMILY SEWING MACHINE. The stitch is alike on both sides of the fabric sewed, and will sew on any material. For simplicity, durability and beauty, it stands without a rival. Twenty-five Dollars cheaper than any other first-class Machine. Agents wanted throughout the South. Address, E. W. ENGLE, Agent, Glass Box 497, 107 1/2 Canal street, New Orleans.

DOUBLE LOCK ELASTIC STITCH. THE GOLD MEDAL SEWING MACHINE. FOR SIMPLICITY IT HAS NO RIVAL. Patented in America and Europe.

This Machine is all on the surface, and can be oiled without removal; the length of stitch can be changed while the machine is in motion; it feeds the fabric through the machine without assistance from the operator; the thread is taken directly from the original spool without rewinding—using silk, cotton or linen thread of finest lace to many thicknesses of heavy heavy cloth. Their range and capacity for work is even greater than the high priced machines, as with the proper attachments you can sew, fully stitched, band, cuffs, tuck, braid, gather, gauge, cord, plait, ruffle, and by merely inserting threads of suitable size and color, embroider in the most beautiful style, superior to anything attained by hand.

Among the many and undoubted advantages of this machine are: 1. They make the double lock elastic stitch, sewing from two spools. 2. They have a strong and handsome seam, better than can be made by hand or by any other machine. 3. They have an unusually large space under the arm and handle, and working with equal facility from the right or left hand. 4. Their work will stand the test of washing, ironing and wear, unequalled by other machines. 5. They are simple and easy to operate, and require no special, cheap and more simple than any machine now before the public. 6. They are almost noiseless in their operation; can be easily moved and kept in order. 7. They will save time, money, labor and patience. 8. They are applicable to the entire range of family sewing, and can be made to sew any quality or grade of work to another. 9. They are the result and combination of all that is practice in sewing machines, which, together with their cheapness, ought to make them the favorites. Finally, in these machines are combined all the necessary and most important, cheapness, second, simplicity and durability, strength, mechanical perfection.
