MORNING STAR AND CATHOLIC MESSENGER. NEW ORLEANS, SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1870,

MISCELLANEOUS IRISH NEWS.

Castlemartyr National Schools.—On Thursday the Countess of Shannon, accompanied by Lady J. Boyle, Courtmasherry, visited these schools. Lady Shannon, since her advent amongst us—now some twelve menths—has takeh every opportunity of doing good, and by her charitable acts and kindly disposition has endeared herself to all. The examination, which was searching and minute, was conducted by Father Walshe, and called forth the reasoning and reflective powers of the children, embraced a variety of subjects, including reading and explanation, grammar, geography, history, etc. The answering seemed to take the visitors by surprise. After the classes retired, Lady Shannon inspected their writing, and having expressed herself highly pleased at it, was the proof on the visitors' book, alike complimentary to both teachers and pupils. Having stated her surprise at finding the proficiency of the children so high, she took the occasion to praise the order, neatness and regularity of the pupils. At the close of the examination, songs were sung-first in unison, then in parts. The rendering of "0, Erin, my country," by the united voices of the children produced a very pleasing effect. Ladies Shannon and Boyle left with Father Walsh, expressing their gratification at the visit.

Indices of Threatening Letters.—The extent left threatening letters are sent betokens deplorable condition of the country, umberless instances have recently ocin which, either from reluctance to their families, or from believing that denother the senders through the agency of onstabulary is futile, no notice has been of their receipt to the authorities. In a letter to the Tipperary Free Press, Mr. Heron writes as follows: "I understand that a rumor has been circulated that it is not my intention to be a candidate for the representation of Tipperary. In the event of aveancy I shall again solicit the suffrages of the electors. I think it unnecessary to refer to the events of the last election. I rely on the support of my friends. I shall not abandon them. I believe many of my supporters on the last occasion were surprised, and did not consider it in the light of a real contest, and believed my ultimate return certain. But I have considered it the proper course not to petition for reasons which will occur to every independent mind. I gratefully thank the friends who supported me on the last occasion, and I respectfully ask for a renewal of their confidence."

Sergeant Douce, M. P., and the Solicitor General-ported me on the last occasion, and Trespofully ask for a renewal of their confidence."

Sergeant Doicse, M. P., and the Solicitor Generalskip.—It was runored in this city that Sergeant Dowse, M. P., will be the new Solicitor General.
The Dublin correspondent of the Belfast NewsLetter-repeats the rumor, and adds that it is a fact that Sergeant Dowse will be appointed.
If so, of course he will have to be re-elected for the city of Derry. In view of the expectof re-election of Sergeant Dowse, M. P., for this city, the Conservative party are besturing themselves to find a candidate to oppose him.
It appears that Alderman Rose, Governor of the Irish Society, is a Government contractor, and on that account ineligible. Others have been named, but as yet no man may be said to be properly adopted by the Conservative party.

Sergeant Dowse may have a "walk over."—

Waters and Major Knox commenced canvass in Mallow on the 19th ult, and orner gentleman is reported to have been favorably received. In the evening the bers of a Cork band, while parading the t, came into collision with some of the crowd and a sculle ensued, which for the caused some excitement and alarm, but no serious results.

Last week a lox containing eight handsomely finished rifles, with sword-bayonets, carridges, etc., bearing the "Tower" mark, were seized by the police at Ballyshannon, in Donegal. The box was addressed to "Mr. Gallagher, Donegal," and labeled, "pickles and sance."

CONCRETE PAYEMENT.—It may not be uninteresting to many of our readers, who contemplate adopting this new payement, now rapidly being accepted in our city and its environs, to learn something of its component cluded in the above description, and which is claimed to possess many advantages.

Economy in Dress.—Never throw any article of dress aside that is considered worn out, without examining to see if some portion of it may not be used again. Backs of vests will often outlast two new fronts, and the padding and stiffening will do to go in a number of times, as also those of coats. Pockets sometimes will do to use again, after they are washed and ironed. Facings and sleeve-linings can be cut over and ironed—if necessary, washed—to be used in repairs. Generally a number of buttons may be saved for future use. And of the outside material, if an overcont, a sack or a jacket may be cut; if a frock-coat, perhaps a boy's vest or small sack; if pants, a vest for a man. This should be all carefully ripped, the stitches and the lint that collects in the seams removed, the cloth brushed and sponged; if it is greatly faded, pressed on the right side, and when next used, made up wrong side out; if not, still keep the same side out. In a large family this second-hand stock is very valuable, and if not wanted for your own use there are always calls enough for it in the way of charity. Neckties and eravats, if of gingham or muslin, should be of fast colors, and henmed all around as narrowly as possible. If of silk, black Italian is the most common and the best. Beware of the glossy, shrill-rustling kinds—they are soon frayed and broken. When the corners of a cravat get worve, out off the ends to a good point, and hem anew. When too short for this, cut the cravat across the centre, and sew the two pieces together, so as to bring new points for front ends. Very good neckties and at the edge and around the ends being done with a long needle and slip stitch, which is only drawing the folded edges together with long stitches that are kept out of sight.

The Jesuits.—The London Telegraph, in a long article on Papal Infallibility and the influence of the Jesuits, thus refers to the Order:

'In either case—whether the Council agrees to the proclaumation of the supreme dogma, or avoids the subject—the event will possess the keenest interest even for engaged to the proclaumation of the supreme dogma, or avoids the subject—the event will possess the keenest interest even for engaged to the proclaumation of the supreme dogma, or avoids the subject—the event will possess the keenest interest even for engaged to the proclaumation of the supreme dogma, or avoids the subject—the event will possess the keenest interest even for engaged to the proclaumation of the supreme dogma, or avoids the subject—the event will possess the keenest interest even for engaged to the proclaumation of the supreme dogma, or avoids the subject—the event will possess the keenest interest even for engaged to the proclaumation of the supreme dogma, or avoids the subject—the event will possess the keenest interest even for engaged to the proclaumation of the subject —the event will possess the large that the proclaumation of the subject —the proclaumation of the subject —the event will possess the large that the proclaumation of the subject —the proclaumation of the subject —the proclaumation of the subject —the event will possess the large that the proclaumation of the subject —the event will possess the large that the proclaumation of the subject —the event will possess the proclaumation of the subject —the event will possess the proclaumation of the subject —the event will possess the proclaumation of the subject —the event will posses the proclaumation of the subject —the event will posses the proclaumation of the subject —the event will posses the proclaumation of the subject —the event will posses the proclaumation of the subject —the event will posses the proclaumation of the subject —the event will posses the proclaumation of the event will be proclaumation of the event will be the event
